ELEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT,
1914.

ELEVENTH ANNUAL GATHERING. May 30th to June 2nd, 1914.

ON the 29th day of the fifth month in the year 1914, and in the afternoon of the said day, there were several strange faces in the ancient town of Banbury. We do not for one moment desire or intend to cast any reflection on the personal appearance of the physiognomies of the persons referred to, for these faces belonged to the advance-guard of the Sibford Old Scholars. A portion of the invaders reached Sibford in pouring rain and good spirits early in the evening, and were soon at home.

At the hour of 10 p.m. in Burdrop most of the inhabitants had reason to know of the arrival of three more Old Scholars. The inhabitants of Sibford retire to rest at an early hour. By some slight misunderstanding the householder at the house where two Old Scholars were billeted had not recognized the fact that her two guests were arriving before the morrow. Moreover, she suffers somewhat from deafness. No admission could for a long time be obtained. The neighbours, aroused from slumber, gave good advice; the village policeman did his best in the interests of the belated ones. The driver of the conveyance which had brought these Old Scholars performed acrobatic feats in his vehicle and succeeded in beating a tattoo on the window of the householder. Rumour says the symposium caused the lady for whose benefit it was being given to believe the village boys were having a little harmless fun. Eventually, however, the continued racket had its effect, the door opened, and the intruders were received with a cordiality and kindness which, after the frenzied attack on her house, scarcely seemed possible.

Before twelve on Saturday the main body of Old Scholars arrived. No horse brakes being available, motors conveyed the party to the School. The London section (which had travelled from Paddington in a compartment labelled "Reserved for Sibford Old Scholars") came in a somewhat antiquated and ramshackle contrivance as far as Tadmarton, where, after many curious gasps and groans, it suddenly refused to proceed further. Hopes of a punctual dinner were vanishing, when a car of a more modern and reliable description, which had carried the Birmingham contingent safely Sibfordwards, came on the scene and quickly took most of the stranded travellers on board. A few, however, stayed with the perspiring driver, and soon had the satisfaction of finding themselves going again, and before long they and the piles of luggage were deposited on the Hall steps, where a hearty welcome awaited them. Everyone was in the highest of spirits, names were quickly pinned on, and it was found that a record number had come this year.

After a real Old Scholars' dinner (those who do not attend Sibford at Whitsuntide miss an excellent display of good food and equally good appetites), a team of eleven (alleged) cricketers was got together with considerable difficulty. None of them played cricket regularly, but they took the field with a calm confidence characteristic of all good teams. This confidence, unfortunately, soon went, for although the match was between Past and Present, the Present Scholars were seen little of, the masters bowling and batting nearly all the time. As in the labour world, it was a fight between masters and men. Bad luck pursued Old Scholars from the start, the first ball, bowled by C. E. Brady, damaging the face of the wicket-keeper, Will Roy, who had to retire. Runs came at a good pace, despite numerous bowling changes. Many chances were offered by the batsmen, but were not accepted, for the fielders evidently felt old age very keenly. After making the visitors run about for a long time, the masters declared, and soon began to bowl them out. Better bowling has never been seen at Past v. Present matches, the masters being almost unplayable on a sticky wicket. The one redeeming feature of the Old Scholars' innings was the distinct promise shown by several batsmen. C. E. Brady, for example, batted nearly half an hour for four runs, and might turn out quite a useful batsman.

As the Present Scholars had had so little cricket, they were entertained to tea, and seemed at peace with all the world. The Girls' eleven, which had defeated a scratch team of "Old Girls," also joined the happy party.

The Present Scholars' Concert commenced at 6.45 p.m. The Gym. was crowded, and after Mr. Harrod had welcomed Old Scholars, a capital entertainment was given. The choruses and folk-songs were greatly enjoyed, especially the latter, which were deservedly encored. The fairy play by the younger children was extremely pretty; and the sketch, "Aunt Jobson," was well acted and proved most amusing. The full programme is as follows:—

PROGRAMME.
1. PIANO DUET .. "Alla Siciliana" .. .. .	Weber
M. BENTLEY AND M. CHALKER.

At the close, Old Scholars expressed their appreciation of the excellent programme that had been so capably rendered.

After supper, the first re-union took place. A game, "Acting Proverbs," which had been arranged by Mrs. Harrod, caused great amusement, some of the impromptu charades being immensely funny. Songs by J. W. Dearden and Edna Quinton, a recitation by Dr. Hodgkin, and the usual favourite choruses followed.

Inspired, no doubt, by the singing of the children, a number of Old Scholars gathered at the Elm, and there, under the conductorship of one who strove to emulate the efforts of Mr. Gitsham, part-songs were practised.

Many were up early on Sunday morning enjoying the sunshine. The School garden was a picture with its profusion of roses, and many a dainty bud was begged, borrowed, or stolen. Meeting was at 11, and proved a time of real fellowship. The Committee met in Mr. Oddie's garden for their usual deliberations, which were ended rather abruptly by a slight shower.

At dinner we were honoured with the company of three Present Scholars who had recently won transference scholarships. Four scholarships had been offered, and sixteen competitors from four schools entered. The fact that Sibford secured three out of the four is one of which all Sibfordians are proud.

Fine, drizzling rain fell at intervals during the afternoon, and prevented any lengthy rambles. Some preferred to rest in the comfortable chairs in the rose-decked "drawing-room," talking over old times. The reception by Mr. and Mrs. Harrod took place at 5.30, many Friends from the village joining us at tea. The lawn was covered with merry groups, and Banbury cakes and other dainties from "Brown's" were soon in great demand. The rain kindly held up until the end of the meal, when a quick move had to be made to the Girls' shed.

At 7 o'clock the school service was held in the dining-room, when a most inspiring address was given by Dr. Henry T. Hodgkin, on the young man whose possessions hindered him from following Christ. Some of the points were as follows: Youth is conscious of its strength, and often relies too much upon it. We, like the young man, are rich; our possessions are health, homes, friends, habits, youth with all its possibilities. The man or woman who goes out into life trusting in these things is missing the best that life has in store. We need God as well, to lead us, to deliver us from the power of bad habits, to give strength to fight our battles and to help others.

One thing is lacking in many otherwise beautiful lives, the one fact more through the absence of which the whole may miss of being the very best.

We are called to a great sacrifice, a great venture, and a great devotion and friendship. All true life needs strength and sacrifice. To give the best is to gain eternal riches.

All Old Scholars present are under a great debt of gratitude to Dr. Hodgkin, both for his most helpful address and also for the delightful way in which he entered into the spirit of the gathering.

After the meeting, Mr. Boorne kindly gave selections on his pathéphone in the Lower Schoolroom to a small but appreciative audience. A magnificent golden sunset had attracted many out of doors. Nearly eighty sat down to supper. During the re-union which followed, songs were given by Miss Reynolds, Edna Quinton, Emma Roy, H. Dearden, A. Kaye, and F. Whitlock, and at the close "Abide with Me" was sung.

Monday was gloriously fine and Sibford looked its best. Directly after breakfast the Annual Business Meeting was held, which is reported elsewhere. At its close all adjourned to the Paddock for the great O.S. Tennis Tournament, in which the following pairs took part: Miss Snow and Mr. Snow, Gulie Oddie and Edgar Oddie, Edith Oddie and Frank Whitlock, Ethel Farrington and H. J. Randall, Mr. and Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Harrod and Arnold Kaye, Miss Wilkinson and Arnold Kaye, D. Jones and "Brother" Jones, Flossie Jones and H. Dearden, and Mrs. Brady and C. E. Brady. The tournament, which was very interesting, was on the "knock-out" principle. The last two couples left in "the final" were Edith Oddie and Frank Whitlock against Mrs. Brady and C. E. Brady. The latter pair just managed to win a hard fight. The whole tournament was very enjoyable, and there were quite a number of spectators.

A swimming race, Past v. Present, was again contested. The Old Scholars gave the School a length, and were beaten by half a length. Teams: Past—H. Calcraft, L. Calcraft, W. J. Roy, F. Elliott, P. Hodgetts. Present—W. Pullen, A. Gooday, E. Thomas, C. Read, E. Quinton.

A handsome silver tray which had been presented by Old Scholars to Dr. Routh on the occasion of his marriage, was on view in the Lower Schoolroom during the day. By dinner, more Old Scholars had come to swell the numbers of the "week-enders." The all-important photographs having been taken, the Old Scholars' choir held its first indoor practice in the Gym. Then came what is always the most popular item on the programme, the picnic. This year a field adjoining Swalcliffe Grange had been kindly lent by Mr. Taylor for the occasion. The delights of tea among the buttercups were enhanced by the permission that had been obtained for us to go into the woods belonging to Swalcliffe Park. Before the return walk to the School, lusty cheers were raised for Mr. and Mrs. Taylor.

The Old Scholars' Concert was preceded by Lucy S. Lamb's Presidential Address. J. S. K. Parsey then occupied the chair, and filled in one or two slight breaks in the programme, due to the fixing up of scenery and the losing of songs, with many entertaining anecdotes. Thanks to the kindness of one of the masters, each member of the audience was supplied with a programme. The solo singing was exceptionally good, and the choruses, given by a large choir conducted by H. J. Randall, although of a very impromptu nature (some of the choir having been seen learning the words at the picnic), went with a fine swing. The acting in the two sketches was very good, and both created considerable amusement. Following is the full programme:—

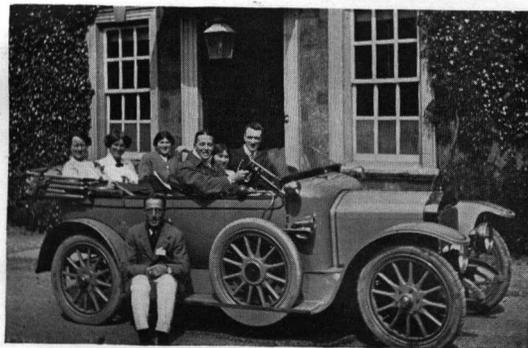

1. CHORUS .. "O, who will o'er the Downs" .. .. CHOR
2. BIRMINGHAM SKETCH, "The Hat with the bright green Feather"
Characters—"Priscilla" - - W. APPLETON.

After a hearty vote of thanks had been proposed and seconded by the top boy and top girl, Mr. Harrod gave a short address to Old Scholars. The last re-union was held after supper; games were played, songs were given by H. Dearden, Miss Reynolds, Mr. Gitsham, and Edna Quinton. The singing of "Auld Lang Syne" brought another delightful week-end to a close. The time seemed to have literally flown.

At breakfast on Tuesday morning, C. E. Brady voiced the appreciation of all for the splendid way in which all arrangements for our convenience and comfort had been planned and carried out by Miss Wilkinson. All Old Scholars are deeply grateful to her for her efforts on their behalf, and also to Miss Shotter and others who have so ably ministered to their needs. The cordiality of the welcome given by Mr. and Mrs. Harrod to all who come to these annual gatherings, does much to make them so successful.

By 10 o'clock the majority of the invaders had reluctantly departed, but about twenty postponed their departure until the afternoon. They spent the morning in a ramble to Traitors' Ford, and had dinner in the village. By two o'clock the familiar brakes were once more standing waiting by the hall-door, and soon the echo of the last cheer had died away.

THE BUSINESS MEETING.

The Annual Business Meeting of the S.O.S.A. commenced in the Lower Schoolroom at 9.40 on Monday morning. There was a good attendance.

Min. 1. Dr. Routh was elected Chairman.

Min. 2. It was proposed by C. E. Brady and seconded by H.

Lawrance that the minutes of last meeting, as printed in the Annual Report, be taken as read. This was agreed to.

Min. 3. Extracts from letters from many Old Scholars, conveying heartiest wishes for the success of the gathering, were read. Among the number were letters from E. Percy Kaye, Alfred Goode, Ethel M. Harrison, Sidney Oddie, Richard L. Cleaver, Elsie Rose, Charles Absalom, Horace Brown, Mary A. Abbatt, Percy O. Whitlock, Mary Nainby, Mary Moscrip.

Min. 4. An expression of deep sympathy with our retiring President, Lucy S. Lamb, in her recent bereavement having been voiced, Robert B. Oddie, in a neat speech, proposed the name of James T. Harrod as President for the coming year. J. S. K. Parsey, who seconded, accused the proposer of composing his perorations months ahead of the Business Meeting, and of practising them in secluded parts of Sibford. He regretted that the manufacturing town in which he lived afforded him no such opportunity for private open-air oratory. J. T. Harrod was unanimously elected, the meeting showing its approval of the interest taken by him in the affairs of the S.O.S.A.

Min. 5. It was proposed by Hy. Dearden, and seconded by H. Lawrance, that Nellie Millard be re-elected Secretary. This was carried.

Min. 6. On the proposition of C. E. Brady, seconded by H. J. Randall, Percy Hodgetts was re-elected Treasurer.

Min. 7. The Local Secretaries, L. E. Wilkinson and Dr. Routh, were unanimously re-elected, and appreciation of their work was shown. Ethel Farrington proposed the name of Jane Sabin as Assistant Local Secretary; this was seconded by Elizabeth F. Brown, and carried unanimously.

Min. 8. On the motion of S. E. Lee, seconded by Lucy S. Lamb, Arthur B. Oddie was re-elected Auditor of Accounts.

Min. 9. It was proposed by C. E. Brady, seconded by Dr. Routh and carried unanimously, that G. W. Austin be re-elected Foreign Correspondent.

Min. 10. The following letter which had been received by the Secretary was read :—

April 8th, 1914.

SIBFORD SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

As Whitsuntide is now almost within sight, I am writing to you to convey the usual invitation from the above Committee to the Sibford Old Scholars' Associatio Gathering at the School.

The Committee is glad to hear from time to time of the progress of your Association, and hopes that the meeting this year may be in every way as successful as those on previous occasions.—I am, yours truly,

WILFRED E. LITTLEBOY, Secretary.

On the motion of J. W. Dearden, seconded by H. Lawrance, Charles E. Brady was unanimously re-elected to serve as Representative of the S.O.S.A. on the School Committee. C. E. Brady expressed his regrets that he had been unable to attend all the meetings held during the past year, and spoke of the hearty welcome he had always received from the other members.

Min. 11. Godfrey H. Pool and Emma Roy were elected Committee members in place of the retiring members, H. J. R. Edna Roy.

Min. 12. The Secretary read the following report :—

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The total number of members now on the list is 385, as against 361 last year at this time. Three members have gone abroad during

Min. 14. The Secretary of the Birmingham Branch (Arthur Bishop) gave an account of the gathering held in Birmingham on January 15th. He reported that an enjoyable re-union was held, at which twenty were present, and caused great amusement by saying that as the members had started a "catch-my-pal" crusade, he hoped next year to get forty out of a possible thirty-eight there.

Min. 15. The Secretary of the London Branch (H. J. Randall) reported that a most successful inaugural gathering took place on January 10th, over forty attending. He further announced that the probable date of next year's re-union would be January 9th, and also that, if possible, a summer outing would be arranged.

Min. 16. It was decided to present the School with a picture, and C. E. Brady suggested that Dr. Routh be asked to allow one of his paintings to be secured for that purpose. This suggestion received the entire support of the meeting, and the matter was left in the hands of Lucy S. Lamb and J. T. Harrod.

Min. 17. The Head Master, J. T. Harrød, gave a brief sketch of the work of the School during the past year, at the close of which he expressed his pleasure at seeing such a large number of Old Scholars and extended a most hearty welcome to them.

Min. 18. N. Millard and P. Hodgetts were appointed to form a Sports and Entertainments Committee for next year.

Min. 19. A letter was read from J. Foster Stackhouse, who is shortly commanding an Antarctic Expedition, asking for a donation towards the cost of the equipment. It was decided to leave the letter on the table.

Min. 20. E. Foster Brown reported that W. H. and H. Alexander, during their recent visit to New Zealand, had, at her request, tried to get in touch with any Old Scholars resident there. Thanks to their efforts she was able to give information to the meeting about several Old Scholars. E. F. Brown was asked to convey to H. Alexander a message of thanks.

Min. 21. A telegram of greeting was sent to Saffron Walden Old Scholars. (A similar message from Saffron Walden should have been received earlier in the meeting, but as the local telegraph boy had gone on an errand to Sibford Gowce, it reached the School later on in the morning.)

Min. 22. H. J. Randall brought forward a suggestion for admitting into the S.O.S.A., under the designation of Associate members, regular attenders of Whitsuntide gatherings who are closely connected with Old Scholars. A further proposal that some kind of badge should be decided upon and adopted by the members of the S.O.S.A. having been unanimously approved of, the following committee was appointed to consider both questions: L. E. Wilkinson, E. Foster Brown, A. B. Oddie, H. J. Randall, J. W. Dearden, and H. Lawrance.

Min. 23. A hearty vote of thanks to the Chairman terminated the proceedings.

LUCY S. LAMB (PRESIDENT FOR THE YEAR) AND HER HUSBAND.

FIRST of all let me thank you for the honour conferred upon me a year ago in electing me as your President. Although I cannot claim the privilege of being the first mother-in-law President, I believe I have the distinction of being your first grandmother President, also of carrying the last President up the School stairs for the first time.

I have cogitated a good deal as to what to say to you to-night. Had I discovered earlier that this is the fiftieth year since the building of our Sibford Meeting House, I might have been tempted to write something about "Meeting Houses: Ancient and Modern," but instead I am going to say a little about the School in its earlier days and about a few of the happenings while I was living under its roof.

Just over a year ago, while on a visit to Ireland, my husband chanced to notice, at the house of a relative, an old bound volume of the Irish Friend, and in looking through it he discovered the following letter relating to the foundation of the School, and which I think you will agree should be preserved :—

SCHOOL AT SIBFORD.

To the Editor of the Irish Friend.

Respected Friend,

I think perhaps it may be interesting to many of thy readers to be informed that progress is making towards the establishment of the School in this neighbourhood (on the plan of that at Penketh) by the united Quarterly Meetings of Berks and Oxon, Bucks and

Northampton, which has been on the tapis for the last two years. I have now the satisfaction of informing thee that the Committee have purchased premises at Sibford in this county (about seven miles from this place) for the sum of £1,200, consisting of a large, substantial house and premises with about seven acres of land adjoining, and they are now erecting a building contiguous thereto which is intended for the schoolrooms for both boys and girls (with rooms over them) upon a place recommended by the intelligent Master of Penketh School (William Thistlethwaite), who has recently paid a visit to Sibford, and seems to approve of the spot chosen by the Committee, which he thinks very suitable for the purpose. The amount of donations from various friends throughout the Society, for the purchase property, new building, furnishing the house, etc. (and which will require upwards of £2,000), now reaches £1,700, and the annual subscriptions promised for the support of the institution amount to about £150. The Committee have also engaged a Master and Mistress. The former is a young man, named Richard Routh, of Wensley Dale, in Yorkshire, who has formerly been engaged in teaching but latterly has been (jointly with a brother) occupying a small farm, and is thought adapted for the situation. The Mistress is a Friend of the name of Rebecca Thompson, of Lancashire, of whom, as well as the Master, high testimonials have been received. She has been staying at Penketh for several weeks, to see the mode in which that establishment is conducted, and is expected here in a few days to superintend the filling up of the house, etc., and it is arranged for Richard Routh to go to Penketh intuition he can there before entering upon his duties at Sibford, as it is not likely the School will open before the turn of the year. It is probable about fifty children of both sexes may be comfortably accommodated. The greater portion of the donations have been already paid, but any of those friends at a distance who have kindly sent in their names as subscribers, and have not remitted the amounts, may do so at their convenience, to the Treasurer, Joseph Ashby Gillett, Banker, Banbury.—I remain, thine respectfully,

E. G.

Banbury, 11th mo., 24th, 1841.

Dr. Routh, in his presidential address, gave a graphic account of the founding of the School in 1842, and of the premises as they were then ; and things were little altered when I, a child of a Friend disowned for marrying a non-member, and therefore one of those for whom the School was founded, came to School in the summer of 1866, with no dread in my young heart but that of wearing a Quaker bonnet !

The hall-door and steps were much as they are now ; but meals were taken in what is now the library instead of the hall in my time.

Instead of the beautiful tessellated pavement of to-day, the hall floor was of stone with cracks between the stones, which the girls were enjoined by "Governess" to clean and dry well when scrubbing the hall.

Then instead of the noble pine staircase of the present time, the old stairs were shut in by double doors, painted ; and I remember seeing my first teacher, Fanny Milward, go with a small tin bucket of warm water on a Friday morning and carefully clean off these doors the finger-marks of the previous week.

The bath was just walled round in those days, and the only heating of the water came from the sun.

The mid-week meeting was held at eleven o'clock on Friday morning. It was no uncommon thing, in those days, to have a "silent" meeting, and so the visits of Friends (either American or those from a less distance) were exceedingly welcome. I remember one of these Friends appearing at the School in rather an irregular way. The day, a Saturday, was very wet, with a high wind blowing. At the time appointed the School "sociable" was despatched to fetch the worthy Friend from the station, and all went well on the return journey till the hill-top on the other side of Swalcliffe was reached, when a tremendous gust of wind came and blew the top of the "sociable" off, and the horse came back to the school galloping with the shafts. Some kind-hearted horseman came on quickly to assure those at the School that no one was hurt, and the travellers, after climbing out of their big band-box contraption, came the rest of the way on foot and got wet through. It was rumoured that some of the clothes worn by the Friend while preaching next day were borrowed ones, and that the lender of them ever afterwards regarded these garments as having somewhat more sanctity about them than the rest of his apparel.

Excursion day each year was a great time. We went to Heythrop Park year after year until the charm of the lovely, old, ivy-covered ruins was improved away, by having the fine modern mansion erected on their site. The boys and girls had their excursion on separate days, but "Master" generally accompanied the girls as well as the boys. How we enjoyed those long rides in the farm waggons, especially when we might sing on the way. One day, while we were in the Park, some of our party espied some boys playing ball with some little unfledged starlings. Our good teacher, Margaret Clarke (who was a born member of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals), was soon on their track. The birds were secured and taken to the School, where a roomy, old-fashioned lantern was used as a cage, and one of the girls (the late Blanche Patching) undertook to find suitable food for them, and they were successfully reared, and, when fledged, were taken down towards the spinney and allowed to fly.

Another excursion day we were delayed for about two hours by one of the small girls straying away, and getting lost, and after a long hunt she at last appeared in the care of a labourer, and glad we were to see her, glad, too, to get into our waggons and jog homewards. and on reaching the School we sang a ditty to the boys before dismounting to the tune of "God bless the Prince of Wales."

Though late from our excursion
And you were early home,
We hope you will forgive us
Altho' we thus did roam.
We'll ply our threads and needles,
And darn your stockings well,
If you only will excuse us
And ring the supper bell!

One year, by the kindness of Friends, the children and staff spent a day at the Leighton Buzzard Exhibition, instead of the usual excursion to Heythrop. The late Theodore Harris was very kind and helpful to us that day, and I think it was he who presented each of the party with a medal to commemorate the Exhibition.

We jogged to and from Banbury station in waggons in the good old way, stopping at night under the trees at Broughton to listen for the nightingale's song; but I think the nightingales had stopped singing to listen to us.

I can endorse every word Dr. Routh said in his address as to his late father and mother, and their good helper Margaret Clarke, who was afterwards superintendent. I esteem them all very highly for their works' sake, work which is bearing fruit to-day in the lives of those whom they influenced by their lives and words. And how particular "Governess" was about our words! No slang was allowed. If she happened to overhear a girl exclaim "My goodness!" she would say to her, "My dear, hast thou any goodness to boast of?"

Her training in thoroughness, too, was excellent. Yet I think some of us felt to "Governess" much as Whittier's "minister's daughter" felt to God—love struggled with awe, and the latter sometimes prevailed.

But to "Master" we had no such feeling; he was like a father to us all, and his interest in our welfare went much beyond the routine of school life. He did not omit to tell us of our faults either; he used to say "those were our best friends who told us of our faults and helped us to mend them."

He was a champion in the temperance cause, and encouraged us to make up our minds to be abstainers. He was one of the early workers in the great cause, and he used to tell us about the strong feeling there was at first against total abstinence, and how he had been in a temperance meeting when shots were fired through the windows. But the opposition he had met with only made him more keen.

How much easier things are made for us in these days! People are permitted now to drink to the health of the King in water, and we see the wisdom of the King, too, in not allowing any public-house on his Norfolk estate. He knows, and we know, how much less there is in places without drink shops. We have an object lesson of this in Bournville, with its 4,000 inhabitants and no public-house, and its policeman, who retired recently, said "that during his fifteen years' duty there he had never had occasion to report a resident for drunkenness, or for any serious offence."

With our drink bill of £161,000,000, and realizing that nine-tenths of all the crime among civilized nations is caused by intemperance, surely there is a mighty work yet to be done. Doctors tell us that alcohol is a poison, not a food, and that the taste for it can be transmitted to our children. The wise old Romans knew this in their day, and they made a law that all nursing mothers should be abstainers while nursing their children. They knew that if their young manhood and young womanhood were to be free from the taint, they must begin with the mothers. And is it not so now? If we have already acquired a liking for intoxicants, then for our own sake we shall be wise to do without them; if, on the other hand, drink has no charm for us, then for the sake of our tempted fellows let us banish it; and if we have children of our own, above all let us think of our influence one way or the other on their lives. I remember reading a story of an old woman who, while walking along a road, stooped and picked something up. She looked so pleased and smiling when she raised herself again, that a man who was passing jumped to the conclusion that she had found a purse, and he asked her how much it contained, but she opened her hand and showed him a piece of broken glass, saying, "It's nowt but a bit o' glass that might cut some poor bairnie's foot." Surely for our own children we cannot do less than that old woman did for "somebody's bairn."

"Will you teach your children's voices
To utter the Saviour's prayer,
Lead us not into temptation,
And then lead and leave them there?"

The path is slippery and treacherous
Which they see you safely pursue;
But they may follow and perish,
And is this nothing to you

Before I began this address, and after looking over the good advice given by former Presidents, I came to the conclusion that if we read, marked, learned, and inwardly digested the same, there would be little need for much from me; but I want you so sometimes to think of your grandmother's little white ribbon badge, and if you hear anyone inquiring the meaning of it, tell them, as Agnes Slack (a prominent member of the British Women's Temperance Association) tells inquirers, it means "Why aren't you a teetotaller?"

DEATHS.

On Nov. 24th, 1913, at Sibford, Richard Walker, aged 58 years.

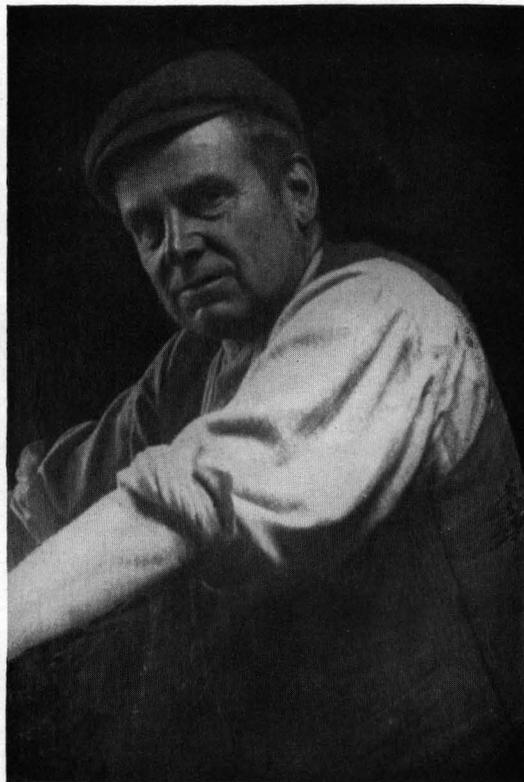

On Jan. 12th, 1914, Lucy Ann, youngest daughter of Joshua and Lucy Sophia Lamb, of Sibford Ferris, aged 19 years.

Lucy Lamb was one of the most enthusiastic members of the S. O. S. A., and was always ready to do all in her power for it. As Assistant Local Secretary she worked devotedly for the success of Whitsuntide Gatherings. Her sunny smile and gentle nature won her friends everywhere, and she will be greatly missed by all. The deepest sympathy is extended by all Old Scholars to her parents.

By the death of Richard Walker, Sibford has lost one of its best-known inhabitants. He took the keenest interest in the affairs of the School, and was a general favourite with all Past and Present Scholars, with whom he would always enjoy a chat. He was ever ready to lend a helping hand to anyone, and was liked and respected by all who knew him. The photograph reproduced here was taken in his grave by an Old Scholar during a recent Gathering.

THE SCHOOL YEAR: August 1913 to June 1914.

Many of the most delightful features of school life are repeated year after year; we must choose for a place in the Old Scholars' Report such as have some newness or variety. One of these is the appointment of a Library Committee, consisting of two teachers, two girls, and two boys; these have done excellent work in looking after the books; as a result of their efforts new doors have been supplied to the bookcases, and the Central Library has been available for the Upper Fourth Form. A special grant of £10 made by the School Committee, and a gift of £5 from Joseph Rowntree, helped in the cost of new books; a good many storybooks and some volumes of general interest have been added to the shelves.

The Nature Room next to the Archway entrance has proved of more benefit than usual under the care of Miss Wilkinson and Mr. Thorpe. Among the favourite pets have been a snake, an owl, newts, tadpoles, and wild rabbits. Diary keeping has been encouraged among the boys, partly for the sake of Natural History notes, and partly for cultivating an elementary sense of History.

During the winter, Sibford village has been keenly interested in Morris and Country Dancing, Miss Wilkinson acting as Instructress. Miss James and Miss Girdlestone each came for a week from Oxford to give special tuition; they were entertained at the School, and kindly gave lessons to the boys and girls. At the General Meeting the girls executed a suite of eight dances with great success. The value of "Drill" in this form is very evident.

A visit to Oxford was paid by fourteen of the elder boys and girls to see the "Arts and Crafts" Exhibition. Many hints were obtained for hobbies or class-work, and much interest was aroused by the variety of articles on show. An hour was spent in viewing Christ Church Cathedral and a few of the more famous Colleges. The visit had been kindly arranged by two members of the School Committee.

In May, "The Pilgrims" cricket team, somewhat weaker than last year, gave us our first victory of the season; it was a great pleasure to have their company for the week-end. In cricket we have won four matches out of seven; the boys were more successful in football than for some years past, and the girls did well in hockey, though few matches could be arranged. For the first time for, at any rate, many years, the girls took part in a Tennis Tournament. They were challenged by the girls of Banbury Municipal School; going away to play against opponents older than themselves, they succeeded in making a very creditable win by 20 games to 18.

During the winter we had an unusually good programme of interesting lectures. Among these we may specially mention three delivered by boys in the School and illustrated by lantern slides: "Life among the Darkies," by Guy Gostling; "The North-Western Railway," by Harry Harvey; "South Wales," by Edward Angel.

The girls spent a great deal of leisure time during the year in making garments of various kinds for distribution at the Bedford Institute. As a result of their efforts a large quantity of useful and well-made articles was exhibited at the General Meeting.

A significant item in the scholastic events of the year is the winning of three of the four Transference Scholarships by Sibford Scholars : Eric Quinton, Bedford Deane, and Marjorie Harrod. We shall follow their careers at Sidcot and Saffron Waldron with much interest.

Most important of all, however, was the visit of four Government Inspectors last spring. They spent two days at the School inquiring into its history, ownership, organization and management ; they attended many classes, with resulting critical and appreciative comment ; they also suggested certain useful alterations in the premises. The Inspection, which was felt by the teachers to be very helpful and encouraging, closed with a Conference in Banbury between the Inspectors and the School Committee.

REPORT OF THE LONDON BRANCH REUNION.

The first reunion of Sibford Old Scholars in London was such a success that the function seems likely to develop into a permanent institution. It took place at the Eustace Miles Restaurant, on Saturday, January 10th last, in a room that was admirably suited for a meeting of this kind. Chinese lanterns, flowers and a punching ball provided the decorations, and these, with easy chairs and small tables gave the room quite a homely appearance.

After some trouble in finding cloakrooms and climbing stairs, everyone adjourned to tea on the balcony. As the affair was being held in a vegetarian restaurant, many were anxious about the viands, expecting haricot fritters, or other indescribable concoctions ; but their fears were quickly dispelled by a tea which laid a good foundation for the evening's enjoyment. Tea was followed by a Name-guessing game, which put everyone on the best of terms with each other, and a ceaseless flow of conversation, interspersed with songs by May Russell, Arnold Kaye, and G. N. Higginson, a recitation by Henry Dearden, and a few remarks from the Headmaster of Sibford. Several games, which were greatly enjoyed, occupied the time till 9 o'clock, when, after some light refreshment, choruses were sung with considerable enthusiasm. A topical song, composed by a weighty member of the gathering, was sung by G. N. Higginson, who described it as "scurrilous nonsense." However, it was loudly applauded, for it appealed to the noble instincts of Old Sibfordians, and contained many humorous allusions to the events of the evening.

Throughout the gathering messages from well-wishers in the country were received, and naturally gave pleasure to the forty Old Scholars who were present. The singing of "Auld Lang Syne" brought about a most enthusiastic termination of the first reunion, and wishes were freely expressed that this would not be the last of its kind.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

William Reason has been appointed a Justice of the Peace for the County of Oxfordshire.

John Wells, of Sibford, celebrated his eightieth birthday on Good Friday this year.

As Dr. Hodgkin left Sibford while the Business Meeting was on, and very few had chance to bid him farewell, a letter, which bore the signatures of all the Gatherers, was sent to him. The following message from Dr. Hodgkin was received by Mr. Harrod :—

“ I was very much surprised and pleased to receive the note from the Old Scholars, and I shall keep this as a reminder of a most happy piece of work. I do not know how to acknowledge this kind thought when it is the work of so many, but I hope that some at any rate may know how much it was valued.”

At the University of Manchester, Godfrey H. Pool has gained a B.Sc. Hons. Degree (2nd Class in Mathematics).

Horace F. Castle has another of his pictures in the Royal Academy this year.

Edith R. Oddie has been awarded a First Class Combined Teaching Diploma (Cookery, Laundry, and Housewifery), with First Class Chemistry, Hygiene and Theory of Education, by the Board of Education.

Harry Stevens has been granted a Flounders' Trust Grant, for further education, of £90 for one year, subject to renewal. He is entering Reading College to train as an Art Master.

The “ Eliza Barclay ” Scholarship for Women Teachers has been awarded to Lucy T. Salter, who is going abroad for study.

The Women Teachers' Training Association Grant of £50 was made to Elsie M. Rose, who is going for further training to Polam Hall, Darlington.

Theodora Hodgkiss has passed the Intermediate B.Sc. Examination of Bristol University.

Kingsley Rutter has passed the Solicitors' Intermediate Examination.

Harry S. Lingford has passed the Minor Examination of the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain.

At the Central Hall, Birmingham, this spring, Edna Quinton was first in the Open Solo Competition, and first in the Open Duet Competition. At the Birmingham Musical Festival she gained fourth place out of sixty-four competitors for the Open Soprano Solo, and has had the offer of three years' free scholarship at Birmingham University.

Lucy Robbins writes from Johannesburg : “ Life here is very enjoyable, the principal asset of Johannesburg being, of course, the sun, which shines all day and every day. We have just a few dull days during the rainy season, but we always see the sun for some part of the day even then. The winter mornings and evenings are bitterly cold. This is a very gay city and also a very smart one. Everything is extreme.”

Another of our Foreign Members, Dorothy Newall, writing last autumn from Edmonton, Canada, says : " It is always a great pleasure to receive the Old Scholars' Report. We like this neighbourhood very much, only it is a good deal colder in the winter than in Oregon ; the temperature goes down to 50 or 60 degrees below zero sometimes. My brother Edgar is training for a Civil Engineer, and is now with a party of engineers away out in Lassen County, in the wilds of California. They are fifty miles from any post office, and all their equipment has to be carried on the backs of pack mules."

Mrs. W. H. Alexander who so kindly looked up our New Zealand Members, says that they are all men to be proud of, and are doing good work in their district. They would all very much appreciate a letter or a postcard from some Old Scholar they were at Sibford with. Egerton Gill is the much appreciated Secretary of the New Zealand Freedom League, and labours hard to get the Compulsory Clause repealed.

Alfred Quertier, who was at Sibford in Richard Routh's time, is now 72 years old, and has celebrated his Golden Wedding. He introduced Jersey Cattle into the Dominion, and now acts as judge at the Shows in the South Island.

Albert Muggeridge is Road Surveyor for his district, and also has land which his sons work.

Will all Old Scholars who may move into the London or Birmingham district communicate with the Branch Secretary for that place, in order that they may keep in touch with the Local Association.

Old Scholars who have not yet paid their subscriptions for the year are asked to send the same to the Treasurer as soon as possible. In the future, no Report can be sent to those who have allowed their payments to fall too far into arrears.

The London Branch of the S. O. S. A. hope to have a picnic at Jordans on Sept. 19th, particulars of which will be announced later.

The New Year Gathering will probably be held on January 9th, at the Eustace Miles Restaurant, W.C.

The Birmingham Branch of the S.O.S.A. will probably hold their Re-union on January 16th. All Old Scholars are cordially invited, and if those from a distance will let the Branch Secretary know, they will receive a notice in due course.
