Election of Officers

In accordance with Rule 2 all officers of the Association are elected for a period of three years. Old Scholars are reminded that the next election will take place at the 1956 Annual General Meeting, when the present officers will have to be re-elected or new ones elected.

All nominations must be in writing and signed by the proposer, seconder and by the nominee. Nominations from Old Scholars unable to be present at the Annual General Meeting should be sent by post to the Secretary before the 1956 Reunion.

JOHN COXON.

EDITORIAL

Old Scholars who were unable to be present at the 1955 Reunion may be surprised to find that there are advertisements included in this issue of Sibford.

This idea has been raised at previous Annual General Meetings and has been the subject of quite a lot of controversy. The cost of producing the magazine has increased considerably in recent years and is likely to continue to do so. Old Scholars will know that it is essential to make a profit on the Reunion to subsidize the magazine expenses. Therefore the Committee carefully considered the proposal of including in Sibford advertisements similar to those in other OS magazines before bringing it forward at the Annual General Meeting.

The proposition was favourably received and Geoffrey Moore agreed to act as Advertising Manager until the next Reunion, when the election of officers is due.

It is hoped, that now this step has been taken, OS will, if possible, take advertisement space in the magazine and that they will be supported by OS in need of the goods or services which are advertised.

On page 24 there is an item Sibfordians Abroad. We like would this to become a regular feature in Sibford.

Unfortunately this year it is rather smaller than expected. Three OS of different age groups were written to, one in Canada, one in South Africa and one in Australia.

The letter to the OS in South Africa was returned "not at this address"; the Canadian OS, owing to the fact that he had moved, did not receive his letter until too late to reply for this year's magazine, so the letter from Emeline Viccars was the only one which could be printed.

The idea of this feature is that OS abroad should write to the Editor about themselves, their work, or the places in which they live and thus become more a part of the Association rather than just an OS who has gone abroad and only receives a magazine once a year.

The Editor hopes to have several letters to publish next year.

The line drawings illustrating the highlights of the Reunion are by Martin Dodsworth and the Editor acknowledges his, and other Old Scholars', co-operation in producing this issue of Sibford.

Just before going to press we received the information that Hugh W. Maw had been appointed to succeed Arthur Johnstone as Headmaster.

Hugh Maw is an Old Scholar of Leighton Park and went from that school to Bristol University, where he took a B.Sc. degree in Botany and Zoology.

He has a Diploma in Education and a Birmingham University Diploma in Child Psychology.

Among the schools where he has been a master are Sidcot, Ackworth, Doveleys (Abbotsholme), and finally Seaford College, Petworth, where he was Acting Housemaster.

Mrs. Maw is also a graduate and there are two sons whose ages are $4\frac{1}{2}$ and $1\frac{1}{2}$ years.

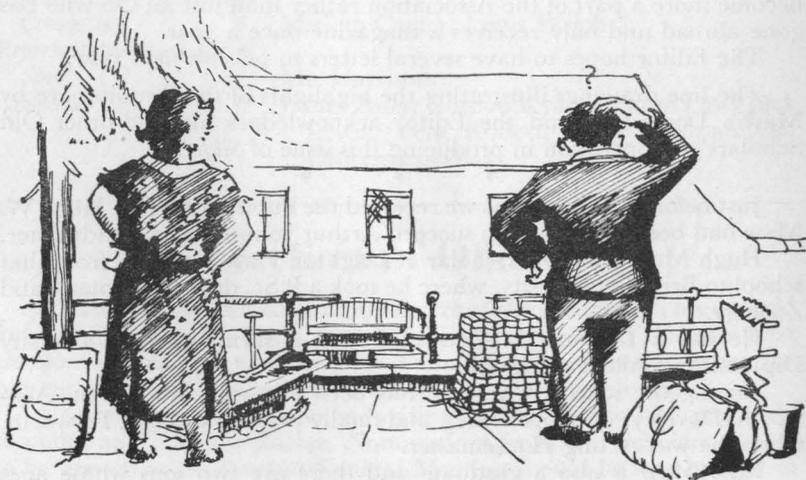

Beneath the Blue Firmament

"To one who has been long in city pent,
'Tis very sweet to look into the fair
And open face of heaven—to breathe a prayer
Full in the smile of the blue firmament." KEATS.

We thought we would not go to Sibford OS gathering this year; we were tired, we could do with a restful weekend, and, whatever might be said for Sibford, nobody could call it restful, besides there were jobs to be done in the garden. However, the pink programmes came and, of course, we went.

We had the most lovely weather, sunny and warm, a few drops fell during business meeting, just to show us that it could rain, but all was fresh and dry for us to go up to the Elm afterwards, disappointing maybe for the farmers, but not for us.

We arrived about nine o'clock on Friday evening; the magic had begun to work at about Aynho where, for the hundredth time, we made our time-honoured pun, and was well in evidence by the time we reached the old Elm. That decayed old shell of a tree again wore her green summer bonnet at an even more rakish angle than ever, refusing still to die of old age. We gave her, as usual, a rousing cheer. We felt momentarily deflated when we actually arrived, all was quiet, nobody about and a row of strange new windows faced us in the wall of the old gym. There were building materials all over the Prom, obviously big works were afoot and we guessed all the gathering must be up at the Hill; it was, and already a number of OS were there to greet us. There was our President ("Matron" to nearly everyone) and the gallant team of hard workers, George and Celia Law, the latter as always the personification of "Glamour-cum-Efficiency", Messrs. Coxon, Holland, Louis and Brian Wright, Jim Baily, all supported by their wives, and many others.

"Building materials all over the Prom."

BENEATH THE BLUE FIRMAMENT

The first evening we spent in greetings and chat with old friends over cups of tea or coffee, finding our billets, then, as of yore, walking up to the Elm about midnight, a few songs, very badly sung, numbering off (about sixty), and a few of our crazy rockets led by Arnold Kaye and so happily and hopefully back to bed in the very early hours of Saturday morning.

Saturday dawned bright and sunny and there were several early dippers in the swimming bath, indeed, we heard that there had been even earlier ones who had swum before retiring. Again, it seemed strange to us not to foregather on the Prom, which is scarcely surprising as this must have been the first OS gathering when the Prom and playground and the whole of the old school were not used at all.

"Shelling innumerable peas and beans"

After breakfast announcements of the day's activities were made, Don Ryan was in charge of the North v. South of Sibford cricket match, and Tom Long arranged a similar match for the tennis players, a start was also to be made in the knock-out tennis and table-tennis tournaments.

During the morning sports were arranged for the energetic; pick-a-back polo, Danish rounders, etc., admirably directed by the Manasseh brothers with the aid of a microphone. The weather was very warm and most of us chose to sit lazily renewing old friendships while admiring the energy of the players, and salving our consciences by shelling innumerable peas and beans from the school garden; and how good they tasted and how ready we were for them when dinner-time arrived. Every meal-time was a marvel to us and we felt very grateful to Celia Law and all her helpers. Paid help had been engaged for washing-up so that OS were spared this dreary task, but we were not as good as we should have been in the matter of stacking and clearing; we must try to do better next time.

Pip Manasseh was always going round at meal-times with a wooden bowl collecting payment from those who had dropped in for odd meals. There were also drinks and light refreshments available for clevenses and in the afternoon, for which we paid a few pence, and by this means OS funds were notably swelled.

The cricket match was one of the best we have ever had. North batted first and until A. Abercrombi (husband of Barbara née Seccombe) was out it looked as though a mammoth total might be reached. Ron

BENEATH THE BLUE FIRMAMENT

Quinton also had a happy innings, but in the end they were all out for 93, thanks to a sustained spell of very fast bowling by Dafydd Edwards and cunning stuff of a very good length by Don Ryan and Alfred Holland. After tea South batted, and at first it seemed as though it would be a walk-over for the North. Then some magnificent batting by Dafydd Edwards, ably supported by Peter Baily, and later a short and lively knock by Sibford's tallest Old Scholar, Michael Van Blankenstein, swelled the score. With one wicket to fall and three runs needed to win, excitement was intense and, in the end, to everyone's satisfaction, the match ended in a tie, 93 runs each.

Meanwhile, down in the Paddock, North had won the tennis match, but not without players borrowed from the South, and we were all, players and spectators alike, quite ready for our high tea, which was there, ready for us as ever, with lovely green salad sparkling crisply on our plates. Some, at our table, didn't care for spring onions, and when Louis Wright arrived for his tea, a little late from his multifarious duties, he found a mountain of snowy onions on his plate, masking everything else. Well, how could we know he didn't like them either!

At seven-thirty we gathered in the new gymnasium-hall to hear Matron's presidential address. The hall is a very fine room with a splendid floor (apropos of which, why don't we provide our gathering with ash-trays). The apron-stage with its white back-cloths and rich blue curtains, matching those at the windows, looked really beautiful and all OS must have felt pleased to see their contributions so happily transformed into these lovely and useful additions to the school.

Matron's address was excellent, though brief; a sincere and sensitive talk on the family, which, as it is printed in full elsewhere in this magazine, it would be superfluous to enlarge upon. Suffice to say that it could scarcely have been given to a more fitting audience, packed with parents-in-being, and parents-to-be.

We much enjoyed during the whole weekend the friendly presence of our guests George and Irene Edwardes; George Edwardes has been a member of the School Committee for many years and after the President's address he opened a discussion on "Education", a wide title, but for us, naturally, it was at once linked with Sibford. The discussion was very lively and ranged far and wide. Some moving tributes were paid to the part Sibford had played in forming the ideals of some of the speakers.

After the discussion we had an entertainment by the London group, they curdled our blood and made us laugh by turns, but mostly we laughed. The mood of the show was epitomized in a short item by Michael Van Blankenstein who, with his face made up horribly in readiness for the part of a gruesome character he was to play in the next sketch, told us a funny story about a man who lost his false teeth and was fitted with some new ones by the undertaker. This involved much mouthing and facial contortion, and his mobile face, framed in curtains seemed poised in mid-air, and reduced us to helpless laughter.

"The match ended in a tie."

After a cup of soup about midnight, when the night was still young we wandered again up to the Elm. The singing was a bit better, though not nearly good enough, but we let off three excellent Sibfordian rockets, followed by a silent one for luck, and a few late travellers who happened that way in their cars must have thought us all crazy. Quite a lot of us were in bed by two a.m.

Sunday was a quieter day. Mr. Johnstone took choral as usual, then Sally Clayton (née Law) looked after a large group of small children while their parents went to Meeting. The familiar presence of Mr.

"Must have thought us all crazy."

Harrod was sadly missed and he was in our thoughts many times during the weekend, especially at Meeting for Worship. At Sunday dinner our numbers seemed to have increased considerably and getting everybody seated was quite a task; we had a number of visits from OS during the whole weekend, but most of all on Sunday. The picnic in the afternoon was held at the Ridge in a shady field owned by Justin Poulton, an Old Scholar, who also boiled our water for us, as it was thought to be unwise to light a fire owing to the danger to crops in the very dry weather. The weather was hot, and we stretched out lazily on Jim Baily's enormous flags and engaged once more in reminiscences of youth, whether recent or long ago. Mr. and Mrs. Johnstone were with us, in fact they nobly attended most of our activities. Poor Mrs. Johnstone seemed ever to be chasing round searching for some Old Scholar for whom she had tracked down a conductor's hat, or some other theatrical "prop", only to find she had an even longer search for the one who was so urgently needing it, while he, probably, was engaging in an equally frantic hunt for her.

We strolled home across the fields on this perfect summer day to rest and clean up ready for evening meeting, when we had an interesting and stimulating talk from George Edwardes.

After supper we held our business meeting and stood for a minute in silence remembering Mr. Harrod together. Alfred Holland's place on the platform as Treasurer was taken by his successor, John Taylor. Gratitude was expressed to Alfred for his invaluable service and this seemed to set the ball rolling for acknowledging services to the school and to our Association given by a number of others also; as Miriam Carter truly remarked, it seems a pity to leave all the nice things to be said about people until after they are dead.

Once again when business was done we strolled up to the Elm; the air was fresh after a very little rain and the moon shone brightly. There seemed, however, a little falling off in numbers, perhaps OS missed the gathering on the Prom before the nightly trek.

After breakfast on Monday we all took part in a splendid motor-car rally which had been prepared with the utmost skill and care by Louis Wright. Twenty-two cars, all filled with passengers, took part, and started at short intervals from the games field. After a condensed driving test we started off on the route for which we were given detailed type-written instructions. We had to find the answers to lots of questions, and in the search we learned a good deal about Sibford countryside which we never knew before, and in addition we now know the names of the licensees of several pubs, the denomination of various chapels, where to keep clear of high voltage, the names of various farms and all sorts of other interesting items including the measurements of a certain fire hydrant, which Frank Rollett was observed measuring with his pocket rule whilst kneeling by the roadside. The vicar of Tysoe and his charming wife must have thought the countryside had gone mad, they had to rise so often from their wayside seat so that competitors might read the inscription thereon; after a time they co-operated by calling it out, thus saving us the trouble of reading it and allowing them to rest in comfort. After about two hours the cars began to return to base, and their times and mileage were most officially checked; marks were lost for incorrect answers to questions and failures in various tests, there were marshals at check points on the route as well as patrolling marshals, and the whole thing was great fun and everybody enjoyed it immensely. Don Ryan was the last home at 1.20, his tyre trouble being the only mishap of the rally. The winners were: 1, Jim Baily, 2, Frank Phillips and 3, Pip Manasseh.

"The vicar of Tysoe and his charming wife."

After dinner the afternoon was spent in various ways, some went to the village flower show, some were occupied in playing off tennis and table-tennis matches and at five o'clock on the dot the final of the mixed doubles tennis tournament was played between John Coxon partnered by Ena Lamb (née Herbert) and Norman Hargreaves who had Edith Bolton (née Williamson) as his partner. This was a terrific match and was won by Coxon and Lamb 7—5, 6—4.

After high tea, table-tennis finals were played off and again the Lambs predominated. Ena Lamb beat Heather Long (wife of Tom Long) in two straight games, and Arnold Lamb did likewise to Stephen Lonsdale.

At eight o'clock the Sherwood group entertained us. There were only eight of them altogether, but they made us laugh till we cried, and the whole show was so full of talented items that we could hardly believe there were only eight people in the party. There was good singing and a delightful puppet show presented by Margaret Carter, a former mistress of Sibford.

Gordon Biggs again generously gave a pedigree pup to be sold for our funds, and again it was bought by Celia Law, who obviously cannot resist the charms of a puppy.

After some dancing and a cup of soup we had a giant bonfire on the games field. Jim Baily had come prepared with his huge rockets, but we were not to have fireworks this time, again because of the danger of setting fire to crops, or even to the Wickham Arms. As the flames of the bonfire died away we set off once more to the Elm for our final Sibfordian rockets, where Arnold Kaye, who seemed quite tireless, was again grand rocket-master.

Tuesday dawned fine and bright again and nothing was left but farewells. A restful weekend? Not on your life! Nevertheless it possesses a unique quality of refreshment and rejuvenation quite impossible to explain. It all belongs to the countryside, to friendship, to youth, to joy, and is just the spirit of Sibford.

Our President, 1955-56

To many of the younger OS Reginald Barber will not be so well known, possibly, as some of the OS who have in recent years had the distinction of being President of SOSA.

To the older ones, however, he will not only be remembered as a member of the School Committee but also for his service to the SOSA as secretary in the early '30s.

His life began in 1906 at Coleshill, Warwickshire, the family later moving to Bournville.

He writes that "I was fortunate enough to win a scholarship to Sibford in 1918 and my chief memories of my three years there were: celebrating the end of World War I a week in advance of the Armistice; queuing for dry bread; being in constant fear of J. W. Thorpe; hero-worshipping Roland Herbert and sharing the Two Room at Paradise with Leslie Baily which proved the beginning of a lasting friendship."

Living at Bournville it seems natural that he should commence his working life at Cadburys ("mainly", he says, "because I liked chocolate"), entering the offices there in 1921.

In 1927 he obtained a scholarship to the College of Technology, a faculty of Manchester University, and in 1931 became a representative for Cadburys in the Tunbridge Wells area.

In 1934, taking over the East Kent area, he went to live at Canterbury, where he met the young lady who was to become his wife in 1936.

There are two sons, Graham and Christopher, the former also being a Sibford OS.

During the Second World War Reg. served for five years in the RAF, most of the time being spent working on radar.

About four years ago he was transferred to the exportside of Cadbury-Fry, and has recently been appointed to the position of London Export Manager. This necessitates quite a lot of travel on the Continent, organizing and developing new business.

Annual General Meeting

Minutes of the Annual General Meeting held at Sibford on Sunday, July 31st, 1955.

Present: E. Marjorie Simmons, President; John Coxon, Secretary; John Taylor, Treasurer; and approximately 100 Old Scholars.

1. The President reported the death, during the year, of James T. Harrod. The meeting stood in silence in his memory.

2. At the request of the President, Louis Wright took the Chair.

3. The minutes of the last meeting, which had been printed in the Magazine, were taken as read, agreed and signed.

4. Louis Wright explained that during the year the Treasurer, Alfred Holland, had resigned owing to pressure of business. The Committee, in accordance with Rule 2, had appointed John Taylor as the new Treasurer of the Association.

It was proposed by Herbert Lucas, seconded by F. A. Carlton-Smith, and carried that:

The Association records its gratitude to Alfred Holland for his service as Treasurer.

5. John Taylor presented the Accounts for the year ended December 31st, 1954, which showed a surplus for the year of £45. He said that the detailed accounts for the 1954 Reunion had been displayed and showed a profit of £68. Henry Lawrance said he thought it wrong to use part of the Life Membership Account as security for a temporary Bank overdraft. Alfred Holland explained that the committee was not exceeding its powers in using the Life Membership Account in this way. The overdraft, which would never be fully used, was to enable us to pay for the stage, curtains, lighting, etc., before the maturing of the seven-year covenants which provide the necessary money.

It was proposed by Frank Phillips, seconded by F. A. Carlton-Smith, and carried that:

This Association in Annual General Meeting approves the action taken by the Executive Committee in using part of the Life Membership Account as security for a temporary bank overdraft.

It was proposed by Tom Long, seconded by Herbert Lucas, and carried that:

The Accounts for the year ended December 31st, 1954, be accepted.

6. The Treasurer said that at present the investments of the Association were held in the names of two trustees, i.e., John Coxon and Alfred Holland. It had been thought that this was unsatisfactory and a Sub-Committee had studied the problem of how our investments should be held. It was proposed that they should be transferred to Lloyds Bank Nominees Ltd., who would hold them on our behalf for a nominal charge.

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

7. John Taylor proposed and John Coxon seconded a Committee resolution that:

The Life Membership subscription be increased to £7 7s. from January 1st, 1956.

John Taylor explained that the present Life Subscription of £5 5s. did not produce sufficient income to meet the cost of the magazine and made a large profit on the Reunion essential. Louis Wright said that at the last Annual General Meeting the necessary two-thirds majority in favour of the resolution had not been obtained, but the Committee were of the opinion that now members had had more time to study the matter the resolution would be accepted.

An amendment was proposed by Kingsley Lawrance and seconded by Patric Flinn that:

The figure of £7 7s. in the resolution before the meeting be amended to £6 6s.

This amendment was put to the meeting and lost by 5 votes for to 30 votes against.

The original resolution was now put to the meeting and was carried by the necessary two-thirds majority, i. e., 51 votes for to 3 votes against.

8. Geoffrey Long said how much we were all missing James T. Harrod. He recalled how James Harrod had been a great friend of Sibford and of all Old Scholars. We had raised a fund in memory of Mabel Harrod and the Committee felt that Old Scholars would wish there to be some memorial to James Harrod. It was suggested that this should be simple in nature and of practical benefit to the School and Old Scholars. The Committee thought that there should be a limited appeal in the Magazine and in the Friend, closing before the next Reunion, at which the exact form of the memorial could be decided.

It was proposed by Geoffrey Long, seconded by Roy Turner, and carried that:

The Committee be authorized to organize an appeal for a memorial to James Harrod.

Geoffrey Long reported that certain Birmingham Old Scholars had had a recent photograph of James Harrod enlarged and framed. Amid applause he handed the photograph to Arthur Johnstone, who accepted it on behalf of the School. The photograph bearing a suitable plaque would hang in the SOSA room.

9. Louis Wright, as Membership Secretary, presented a brief report. He said that although the COD method involved an appreciable amount of work it was proving satisfactory. He was making efforts to interest the younger Old Scholars in the Association and he appealed to all Old Scholars to notify him of changes of address.

10. The Headmaster, Arthur Johnstone, gave a report on the School year. Amongst many interesting items he mentioned: a record number of pupils in the school—211; good successes in the General Certificate Examination; a fine record in the swimming Life Saving exams, improved cricket, continued interest in Arts and Crafts, a fine

AUDITOR'S REPORT.

I have audited the Books and Accounts of the Association for the year ended 31st December, 1954, and have obtained all the information and explanations I have required.

In my opinion the annexed Balance Sheet and Income and Expenditure Account are properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and fair view of the state of the Association's affairs as at 31st December, 1954, and of the surplus for the year ended on that date.

health record, the continuing of old favourites such as Whichford picnics and blackberry picking and the good use made of the SOSA room.

11. E. Marjorie Simmons read greeting letters and telegrams from Jack and Edith Lewis, Hugh and Julia Gibson, Marjorie Purner, Wilfrid and Dorothy Angerson, Louisa Gitsham, Margaret Rundle, Phyllis Southall, Basil Franey, Nancy and Ivan Bottoms, Lilian and John Ward, Eric and Gulie Grimes.

12. The President read a report on the Mabel Harrod fund received from Dorothy Brigham. Martin Davidson described the six weeks he had spent in France with help from the fund. Arnold Kaye said the fund now stood at about £820.

It was suggested that more publicity should be given to the Mabel Harrod Fund and that grants from the fund should be presented in front of the school children by the SOSA President.

It was proposed by Leslie Baily, seconded and carried that:

The Secretary write to the Secretary of the Mabel Harrod Fund requesting that greater publicity be given to the handing over of grants from the Fund.

13. Miriam Carter, one of our representatives on the School Committee, reported on the meetings held during the past year. She mentioned how grateful the School Committee were for the work of an Old Scholar—Lionel Geering—this was greeted with applause.

14. Brian Wright reported that the Committee had considered including advertisements in the Magazine. This would be in line with other Old Scholars' Magazines and would help to reduce the cost and/or increase the contents of the Magazine. He reported that the blocks for the 1954 Magazine had been given by an Old Scholar who wished to remain anonymous. This generous gift had reduced the cost of the Magazine by approximately £30. The meeting applauded the Old Scholar for his gift.

It was proposed by Brian Wright, seconded by Reg Barber, and carried that:

The Magazine of the Association should include a limited number of advertisements.

15. The Chairman reported that Celia Law had resigned as Catering Secretary. The meeting expressed great regret at hearing this and recorded its gratitude to Celia Law for her work in catering at Reunions.

The Committee were trying to fill the appointment of Catering Secretary but had not yet succeeded.

16. On his appointment as Treasurer, John Taylor had resigned as Auditor. The Committee had appointed George Bunney as Auditor for the remaining year of the present triennial period.

17. The Secretary said that Frank Rollett and Phillip Manasseh retire from the Committee at the end of their term of office. Celia Law and Vera Rollett were elected to the Committee for three years.

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

18. The President, E. Marjorie Simmons, proposed Reginald Barber as President for 1955-56. This was seconded by Henry Lawrance and carried unanimously.

19. John Coxon reported that it was impossible to announce the date of the next Reunion. It was hoped that it would be at Whitsuntide, 1956, but the School Committee had not yet agreed to this.

A notice of the date would be in the 1955 Magazine.

20. It was reported that the Sibford Old Scholars had formed a new local Branch. The meeting welcomed this and agreed it should be treated as an official branch of the Association. Patric Flinn and Jean Stewart would be acting as the secretaries.

21. Philip Morris said that, at this and the 1954 Reunion, there had been some evidence of hooliganism and lack of good behaviour and he hoped that action would be taken to prevent a recurrence. This view was supported by other Old Scholars. John Coxon said the Committee already knew of this and would take all possible steps to prevent anything similar happening in future. It was particularly important that all Old Scholars consider the people in the village and the school children during Reunions.

22. The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Chairman.

SIBFORD VILLAGE HALL

Roland Herbert and Frank Parkin were prominently associated with promoting a scheme for a village hall at Sibford, and Old Scholars will be glad to know that their work is now approaching fruition. The village is engaged in raising the final money needed. The Village Hall Fund had reached £2,600 by Christmas and it is hoped to raise a further £500 by the summer. A government grant added to this will, it is expected, enable work to begin on a site opposite the church quite soon.

The School and Old Scholars have many friends in the village and it is hoped that arrangements will be made for some joint activities during the next Gathering, to add to the festivities and to aid the Village Hall Fund at the same time. Several Old Scholars are members of the Village Hall Committee—Lewis Poulton, Ambrose Sabin, and Leslie Baily—while a member of the School staff, Reginald Rowntree, is its chairman.

COLOURS AND BADGES

Colours and Badges are obtainable from Tony Manasseh, 8 Six Bells Lane, Sevenoaks, Kent, and the prices are as follows:

Presidential Address

Before saying anything else, I want to thank Old Scholars for the great honour they have paid me in making me their President. It is the crowning glory of my years at Sibford.

My heart failed me at the prospect of an address, and I cannot attempt anything to compare with your former Presidents, either in originality or range of ideas, so I hope you will bear with a subject that has always given me much food for thought.

There is a saying that "Old Maids make the best Mothers". This may or may not be true, but I hope Old Scholars will view my address in the light of someone who has had a little experience with children, since its main theme is directed to those who are parents, or who hope to marry and bring up a family.

As you know, since leaving Sibford I have been working at Bethlem Royal Hospital, on a ward for Disturbed Children, and have come across some very sad and pathetic patients, in many instances, children whose parents would be classed as in "comfortable circumstances". In most cases the cause is home conditions—not necessarily the truly broken home, as you would expect, but rather homes where there is too lenient or too strict an atmosphere, and more particularly, uncertainty in the home. Father and mother pull in opposite directions, causing a feeling of insecurity in the children. On reading the case paper and enquiring into the circumstances, I often feel it is not the children who should be in hospital for treatment, but the parents. People talk glibly of the Welfare State; less often do they consider that the real welfare of that State depends to a large extent on the stability of the families that form it. I appeal to all of you to make your home-life—by example as well as precept—as normal and happy as you can. By "Happy Families" I do not mean angelic set-ups where there is nothing but endearments, slavish unselfishness and Hollywood romance. That only happens in fairy tales. I mean homes where ordinary human beings—with all their faults—exchange love, loyalty, understanding and trust, and in spite of squabbles and disappointments, would not exchange each other for all the tea in China.

Routine and discipline are essential in the home. All the same, rules should not be so rigid that exceptions can never be made, but do be as consistent as possible. Give children plenty of love and security, but do not gratify every desire—leave some excitements for them to look forward to and enjoy when they grow up; and do not expect all your geese to become swans. This warning applies to mothers particularly. While the children are young, I beg you not to be tempted merely by a slightly higher standard of living to take a job outside the home. For children to come home regularly from school to an empty house may lay the foundation of juvenile delinquency. An empty house may soon mean undesirable companions and adventures which are equally undesirable. When mother does return, she is often too tired, or too anxious to cope with the daily chores, to have time or patience to listen and enjoy the glowing accounts of the day's events; and if the children's confidence is lost in the early years, when the difficult adolescent age is reached there is little hope of regaining it.

If you decide to send your children to boarding school, do not send them too early. I feel very strongly on this matter, though many people will not agree with me. Where there is a normal home background, twelve, or preferably thirteen, is quite early enough for children to go away from home.

On the subject of schools, I must tread carefully. If you have any choice, do not assume that a Grammar School is necessarily the best and only form of education; so many children would benefit from a less academic schooling. I was at a Grammar School myself; there was no 11-plus examination in those days, but it was considered one of the best schools in the district. How often I have wished that the opportunity had been mine to come to a school such as Sibford, with its bias towards crafts rather than the purely academic. Trigonometry always was, and always will be, a complete mystery to me!

"Trouthe and Honour, Freedom and Courteisie" is our Sibford School badge. May I add, "Manners make the Man"? It may be a modern fashion to scoff at good manners, but they count for so much. Good manners learnt in the home in the process of growing up will help a boy or girl immensely in later life. Some of you are employers and I am sure, all other things being equal, when making an appointment the boy or girl with natural good manners has a definite advantage.

This sounds rather like a sermon! Far be it from me to preach to any one of you; you no doubt have made, or are making, a great success of your home life. Proverbs 22, verse 6, says "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it." This may not invariably be the case, but a loving, secure and happy home is undoubtedly the soundest foundation for life.

E. MARJORIE SIMMONS.

1956 REUNION

We are grateful to the School Committee and Staff for agreeing to our 1956 Reunion being at Whitsuntide.

The programme, which will be sent to you in due course, will include most of your favourite items. If you have any bright suggestions please send them to the Secretary. The people in the village will be making efforts to raise money for their Village Hall Fund. We hope to join with them some time during the week-end.

As is usual, at Whitsuntide, accommodation for children is limited, so it may be a case of first come, first served, but do not book your own accommodation. This upsets our arrangements.

DON'T FORGET! MAY 19th-22nd 1956

James Harrod Memorial Fund

Since the death of James T. Harrod in October, 1954, the life work of Sibford's former headmaster has been much in the thought of Old Scholars and other friends of the School.

The Sibford Old Scholars Association decided to open a memorial fund and at the next gathering at Sibford (Whitsuntide, 1956) a decision will be made concerning the purpose to which the fund will be applied: something which will appropriately commemorate J.T.H.'s service to the School from 1906 to 1930.

Many tributes have been paid to that service by Old Scholars, who, as one wrote, "will always remember him as a fine headmaster and a friend, and as one whose Quaker faith was the inspiration of his life's work".

"His breadth of vision, his dignity and sportsmanship, his masculinity and courage, his practical Christianity, all influenced us more than we realized," said another former pupil of J.T.H. His courage and vision have been remarked upon by those who remember the bold educational revolution carried out at Sibford in the early years of his headmastership, and the keen spirit of internationalism that he and Mabel Harrod cultivated in later years. "All Old Scholars felt the warmth of his affection but his friendly influence was felt over a much wider field", wrote one of them. All such tributes are summed up in the simplest of them: "We shall remember him with love and gratitude".

It is right that such remembrance should take some tangible form of value to future generations at Sibford School.

Contributions to the James Harrod Memorial Fund should be sent to JOHN TAYLOR, 98 THE SUNNY ROAD, ENFIELD, MIDDLESEX, before April 30th, 1956.

Mabel Harrod Fund

During the year grants have been made to two Old Scholars, Helen Eavis and Martin Davidson, and from each of these an interesting report has been received. Helen Eavis spent a strenuous month in an agricultural community run by Quakers in a primitive chateau about ninety miles south of Paris. She worked there with people from nine different countries. Martin Davidson visited a French family and brought back a French boy to stay with him. The latter enjoyed a day in Sibford during his visit.

Grants were also made to ten senior pupils of the school to enable them, during the summer holidays, to make exchange visits with French boys and girls. All found the experience helpful and stimulating.

The amount remaining in the fund is £790 18s. 11d.

DOROTHY BRIGHAM, Secretary-Treasurer.

The Future of Sibford School

George Edwardes, as a member of the School Committee, introduced a discussion on Quaker School education, with particular reference to the future of Sibford. After tracing the long tradition of Quaker responsibility for education, dating from the time of George Fox and William Penn, and giving an interesting account of the foundation of the various Friends' Schools of today, George Edwardes said that under the present State system every child was labelled as a grammar school, secondary modern, or technical school "type". Sibford had preferred not to label itself. In the State system there was a tendency, owing to the present inadequacies of many secondary modern schools, to regard as a crime a child's failure to pass the grammar school entry examination at 11 years of age; but he thought there was a good deal of snobbishness in this. It was wrong to force a child into the wrong kind of education, and it was wrong to give the less academic type of child a sense of being inferior.

In recent years all Friends' Schools had tended towards a grammar school curriculum, but Sibford had had a special interest in practical subjects. Fees at Sibford were lower than at the other schools because there was no sixth form, and Sibford was giving splendid value for money, but he thought that fees should have nothing to do with providing for a child's needs. Whether he was a grammar or secondary modern type was really nothing to do with his parent's pocket; he should go to the school best suited to his ability and temperament.

"What kind of school do you think Sibford should be?" he asked Old Scholars. Sibford was now at the parting of the ways. It could follow most other Quaker schools and leave the non-academic child unprovided, or it could eschew "the glamour of grammar" and help to develop the child of non-academic ability.

In the discussion that followed, Leslie Baily said he had recently visited an independent boarding school which decided some years ago to go fully over to secondary modern education, with a sixth form. The cost of education there had proved to be high, and the Head Mistress had told him that it was higher than at most equally well-run and equipped grammar schools (luckily the school has a wealthy foundation). The lesson of this experiment was that really first-rate secondary modern education could not be got on the cheap. It was, said Leslie Baily, wrong to regard it as either cheap or inferior. The time was rapidly coming when Friends would have to face up to some equalization of fees as between Quaker Schools, for both moral and educational reasons. It was wrong that some schools should be regarded as for the "more affluent", and should be better equipped or staffed than others. He hoped the day would soon come when a child could truly be sent to whichever Quaker School was most suited to him, regardless of his parent's means; but this would probably mean coming to terms with the State, nationally and through local educational authorities, for financial aid.

THE FUTURE OF SIBFORD SCHOOL

Frank Phillips, speaking from his experience of living for several years in Russia, said that it was an eye-opener to him of how "set", and often how wrong, people in Britain could be about conditions abroad. At Sibford he had acquired a broader outlook; the essential thing in education was the quality of judgment that it gave to a boy or girl. He believed we were living in an age when the theoretician was counting less and the practical man more. Each helped the other, but the practical man could often tell the theoretician "That will work, and this won't!"

Alice Long protested against directing children at 11 into grammar or secondary modern schools. She didn't like labels and she hoped Sibford would not be tempted to adopt one.

This view was supported by several other speakers. Herbert Lucas went further and said it was bad for a child to be moved at 12 or 13 from one school to another, if it had been found to be a misfit in the particular type of school to which it was drafted at 11; a year or two later was quite the wrong age for another upheaval. The comprehensive school was the right method.

Lilla Phillips said that as a teacher she hated the terms "academic" and "practical". Some children were slow developers. Some who had fairly low IQs had more interest in their work than the child with a high IQ who found the work easy to do and so did not really exert himself. Children were of all types, and changed as they grew; she hoped that Sibford would accept and cater for all types, and would not change.

Alfred Holland thought that the most important factor was not whether a school was "academic" or "non-academic" or "comprehensive", but whether it gave the child an opportunity for character-building, surrounded by a staff who were people the child could admire, who would show him how to get the best out of life. A child thus educated would not drift aimlessly through life as so many did today; and he believed this was Sibford's best contribution to education.

Michael van Blankenstein described his experiences teaching in a State secondary modern school with classes of over 40 children: an impossible job to do effectively. At Sibford the children and staff were not exposed to that kind of evil. He himself believed the answer was the comprehensive school. In principle he was not in favour of independent schools, but he recognized that some religious bodies such as the Roman Catholics and the Quakers sincerely believed in the rightness of having their own schools; such schools could be a success if the number of children in classes was as low as it was at Sibford, and if the parents really wanted the children to have a full education in every sense. Often the parents of children at State schools were only too eager to get their boys and girls away from school, and earning. He hoped that in years to come Sibford would open its doors to more children from the general public in the area round about. By thus avoiding exclusiveness it could at the same time spread the Quaker outlook among people generally.

Jean Moore said that Sibford taught people not just how to think, or make a living, but how to use their leisure. Louis Wright said that Sibford had taught him good craftsmanship which was more important in his opinion than passing any exams. He believed Sibford produced the "right attitude to Life".

Arthur Johnstone said how gratified he had been to hear so many of his old boys and girls speaking with approval of what Sibford had given them. He assured the meeting that Sibford was not at any crossroad. It would go on and would not attach to itself any particular labels. It was concerned not with labels but with ideals. In these days when ideals were being thrown to the wind, if Sibford did not teach its boys and girls to be of good Christian character, then it would fail indeed. "Don't imagine that there is any parting of the ways", he said, "the chief point is that the school should produce good men and women."

The above discussion is of particular interest, coming as it does shortly before the appointment of a new Headmaster to succeed Arthur Johnstone in the autumn of 1956. The School Committee has for some time been considering questions of policy, in preparation for this change, and at this juncture it is of value to remind ourselves of the chief developments of Sibford policy in the past. A résumé is given below.

Founded in 1842 for the children of Friends disowned for "marrying out" of the Society, Sibford soon dropped this qualification. In early days it taught the basic subjects and had some agricultural bias, due to the fact that there was a school farm on which the boys worked. The curriculum was widened and music and games were introduced during the régime of Robert Oddie, but when this ended in 1906 the Committee felt that a new definition of Sibford education was necessary, and it boldly decided on "the crafts bias". This was developed under James Harrod's headship, not only through the emphasis given to such subjects as woodwork, metalwork, clay-modelling, art, and domestic science, but by a practical approach to other subjects such as the teaching of geography by local surveys. In fact, this was very much what the State now calls secondary modern education.

At the end of James Harrod's régime the increasing value placed by parents, employers, and (to some extent) teachers, on the university examinations, led to consideration of whether Sibford should take such external exams. It is an interesting parallel of events that a discussion on education took place at the last Old Scholars' gathering during the Harrod headmastership, the chief question being whither Sibford should turn at the crossroads—exams or no exams? At that meeting in 1930 Harry Randall led the case for external examination and James Harrod led the opposition. After a lively discussion a vote was taken, and a minute was sent to the School Committee stating that a majority of OS present supported the taking of "School Cert." but that it should not be compulsory at Sibford: any child unsuited to it should be permitted to opt out and to take an alternative course.

THE FUTURE OF SIBFORD SCHOOL

The Committee of the School decided to make the change to exams, and the consequent changing of the curriculum and advancement of standards, particularly of the academic teaching, fell upon the shoulders of Arthur Johnstone, the new Head.

In 1951, a special Commission appointed by Yearly Meeting to examine Quaker education reported that "With all their differences of emphasis, all the Friends' schools without exception at present conceive their curricula as chiefly academic rather than practical." The Commission thought that "this must result in an inadequate training for a considerable proportion of Friends' children" and urged Sibford School Committee "to search for a curriculum more truly suited to children whose interests are not primarily academic . . . We do not believe it to be sufficient to arrange a curriculum that is mildly academic with some practical subjects added."

This is the question to which the Committee has been chiefly addressing its policy considerations.

LESLIE BAILY.

Sibfordians Abroad

FROM EMELINE VICCARS:

Sibford was my home from 1913-16.

I married at Godalming, Surrey, in 1925 and sailed for Australia in December that year.

After a short period at a training farm we bought a smallholding for ourselves which we worked (or slaved!) at until 1934. We then came to Sale district, where we went in for dairy farming properly, handling up to 50 cows at times. The work was somewhat different to the first farm, just as hard, but with better returns. Yes "I can milk and sow, reap and hoe" just like a farmer's boy. Sun tan, blistered hands and all the minor discomforts of a hard-working couple were ours.

Just when life seemed to be smoother came the war and a great shortage of labour.

Late in 1949, owing to illness, we sold the farm and bought a 100-year-old house, converted it into three flats and we are still here, with enough background finance to bring me, if not both of us, home in a year or so, if health permits.

Briefly that is our life since leaving England.

We have met here Annie Bunt (née Hunt), since deceased. Received visits from Fred Seefeld, who is happy and doing well with a Finance Company. Renee Mayo-Smith, now Renee Berry, who is running a tea shop in Melbourne.

We also nominated Ena M. Martin and family (which is now increased to three). Ena's husband has built them a house and is working with an electrical goods manufacturer.

ANNIE WILSON

Annie Wilson, of Bath Road, Banbury, passed away on March 23rd, 1955, and was interred in Sibford Friends' burial ground on the 28th. She was in her 90th year, and one of the oldest members of the SOSA. She attended the first gathering in 1905, and hardly missed a gathering of the Association for the rest of her life, though of late years she only came out from Banbury for an hour or two.

A scholar from 1876 to 1878, her interest in Sibford never wavered. She was appointed agent for the School by her Monthly Meeting, and for many years encouraged parents to send their children to Sibford, and if necessary she used all her influence to make it financially possible.

Some sixty friends were present at the interment, when high tributes were paid to a long life of useful service in many causes.

FREDERICK SHELDON

In the early hours of November 26th a very dear and wonderful Old Scholar passed from our midst in Fred Sheldon. He was only 45 years of age.

For about 20 years he had suffered an affliction which imprisoned him within doors, on a bed from which he moved only rarely. His flesh may have been weak but his spirit was strong. "Doomed to go in company with pain, he turned his necessity to glorious gain"; gain in the enduring and abiding things.

To visit him was a benediction and an inspiration. Before he was laid aside he showed great ability as a craftsman and some of his work remains with his aged mother in the old home.

A rich and infectious humour was another of his endowments. In his friendships Fred was blessed with a wide range, and many who were devoted to him and his mother and sister. Fred's love for Sibford was great and enduring and Old Scholars cannot but be proud to have known him.

Jottings from Headmaster's Notebook

- RUTH RICKETS (née Parsons) had her first little boy on October 5th, 1954.
- ANN HEMSLEY (née Sweatman) had her second little boy on July 24th, this year.
- JOHN SAUNDERSON has a sturdy lad born in July. John is an engineer working at Blyadon-on-Tyne, County Durham.
- MERLE BEECH has her B.Sc. in Economics and has been appointed Meetings' Secretary to the Council for Education in World Citizenship.
- MARGARET SAMUEL and RACHEL EDWARDS are at Aberystwyth University, one reading English and Geography, the other Law.
- JOHN WALLIS and NAOMI (née Carter) are now living in Nigeria. John is working with the United Africa Company in Lagos.
- NANCY BOTTOMS and her husband are living in the Persian Gulf.
- MARGARET SMITH has a 1st Class Certificate in Russian and hopes soon to be working abroad.
- SANDRA ROBERTS has been swotting Spanish and expects to go to Spain for some months to continue her studies.
- ALUN EDWARDS and MARIGOLD PARSONS, both medical students, have been to Holland on a clinical course. They happened to meet by accident as Alun is at London, and Marigold at Birmingham University.
- ANTHONY EDDINGTON has now been appointed principal lecturer at his Agricultural College near Norwich.
- STANLEY MAPP (left 1934) called at the end of May. He is in insurance work in Birmingham.
- W. WINIFRED THICKS, now Mrs. Mann, called in August. She said she was at Sibford about 1906 and remembered being a patient under Dr. Routh. She wanted to know what had happened to the master of her day, who was called "Treachle trousers".
- ERIC BIBBY and his father called in August. Both still live at Ulverston. Eric left in 1942, his father about 1901.
- GILLIAN BULLOCK is now Mrs. K. Diamond and was married in June. Gillian is now a fully qualified doctor.
- TERRY and SHIRLEY CEMM had their first little boy on May 19th.
- PAUL EDDINGTON is an actor at the Ipswich Theatre. He has been married three years and has a little son called Toby. Paul recently made a speech at a meeting of Equity urging a protest at the way things were going in Africa.
- SHEILA WARREN has finished her three years' training at Bristol Children's Hospital and is now a qualified nurse. One of her patients was the little daughter of an old Sibford girl, JOHNEEN BENFIELD. Sheila tells us that ALICE MORRISH is married and lives at Keynsham, near Bristol. Sheila joined the school staff in September as nurse in charge of the Ark.
- NOEL POWELL has been at Cornell University, where he held a scholarship for a year, to study the American techniques of commercial flower growing. While in America he spent some time in Florida and San Francisco. He is now back in Somerset and is horticultural advisory officer to the Ministry of Agriculture.
- DOREEN HYDE (née Bishop) sends a card from Alberta with a photograph of herself and her five children (ages one to twelve).
- ENA MARTIN (née HOSKINS) writes a most interesting letter from Kilsyth, Victoria, Australia, where she and her husband now are. She says her boys at Meeting are known as the boys with Atomic energy. One boy escaped down the road, stood in the middle of the street, put his hand up and stopped a car and then found it was being driven by the Chief Constable of Victoria. She has met JACK and EMILINE VICCARS at Sale, who most kindly entertained Ena and her husband until he found work.
- MARY LONGFORD is now Mrs. Batten. She married a doctor and she and her husband are living in India.
- RAINER GUILLERY is now married, and his sister RIA is now back in this country with her baby.
- HELEN LONGFORD was married in January of last year to COLIN BEXON.
- FRANCES NUTTALL has trained as a nurse at Birmingham Children's Hospital and St. Thomas's, London, and she is now SRN, RSCN and CMB.

JOTTINGS FROM HEADMASTER'S NOTEBOOK

- BARBARA SMITH has greatly enjoyed her year as a lecturer at Hamilton College, Ontario. She met LORNA PRICE and her husband, who was working at the University.
- TONY MANASSEH, who is now living in Sevenoaks, working as an Estate Agent and Auctioneer, says that he met JOAN URE (née Oystan), who with her husband and two children also live near Sevenoaks.
- MERIEL MANASSEH (Mrs. Hunt) has a daughter.
- TERENCE BEER has a son.
- BILL EVANS and his wife spent a weekend of their honeymoon at Sibford last November.
- LIBBY HOLDEN, now Mrs. Thompson, has a small boy who, says his mother, should make his way in Opera if lung power is the only qualification.
- MARGARET HOLDEN has taken an appointment of Senior Scientific Officer on the Gold Coast doing research into the cacao virus.
- ALISON HARGREAVES has completed her training at Great Ormond Street and is now at the Middlesex Hospital taking her general training.
- PETER HARGREAVES is now married and has a flat in Kensington. He is a journalist and contributes regularly to the Kemsley press. He writes songs, too, under the name of Peter Hart.
- KATHLEEN MURPHY is Mrs. Adams and she and her husband are teachers in the South Australian bush. They have two sons. A.J.

The School Year

Among many interesting building alterations this year was the adaptation of Holly House barn. Under the skilful direction of Lionel Geering it has been made into additional dormitories and staff rooms and so once again the school numbers are a record (186 boarders and 25 day pupils). Alterations have been made also to the Domestic Subjects room. The old library has been made into a Needlework room and the Cookery room has been refurnished with small tables having green formica tops.

As the years pass and the school progresses the organization of the work becomes even more complicated and fascinating. Many hours are spent in planning the separate time tables of the forty pupils now in form V. This year a girl has taken successfully the Advanced GCE examination, and in the new subject Human Biology and Hygiene every pupil who entered passed.

We have now a tape recorder, and this has been very useful in recording wireless programmes given at a time inconvenient for us, in the dancing classes, language lessons and so on.

Handwriting lessons have proved surprisingly popular, and a writing competition brought in 115 entries. Competitors had to adopt a nom de plume and when the winners were announced we found that we had in our midst, unknown to us, Winston Churchill, Sherlock Holmes, William Shakespeare, Victoria Plum and Mrs. Malaprop. At the Banbury Arts and Crafts Exhibition a silver cup was won by a boy who made the beautiful table which stands on the hall platform. The girl guides have now been formed into a separate company. As usual, we have been to Stratford-on-Avon and we have seen Twelfth Night and the Sadlers Wells Ballet. Our own school plays have been greatly enhanced by the fine stage, curtains, and lighting provided by Old Scholars.

THE SCHOOL YEAR

The lectures and concerts at school have been of an excellent standard. A mere list is no indication of their interest, but here is a selection: The Eskimos of Alaska by Mary Buchanan (one of the founders of the Pestalozzi Children's Village Community), Pemba by Howard Diamond, China by Professor Forster, Camping by W. M. Whiteman; recitals by Edward Armstrong (violin), Valerie Tryon (pianoforte), Eric Shilling (song), June Mills and James Maddocks (oboe, violin and viola d'amore), and the Cheltenham Madrigal Singers.

Besides all the above, we have not forgotten old favourites such as Frank Butler the magician, the Halloween party, blackberrying expeditions and Whichford picnics—these are immortal. A.J.

Under the Two Elms

Birmingham Branch. During 1955 we held only three gatherings but they were all well supported. The New Year party was very enjoyable and thanks to help in doing our own catering and gifts of food we made a profit of about £2.

A group of twenty visited the Repertory theatre to see a Christmas play, the "Silver Curlew".

In June, four carloads visited Shrewsbury Meeting at the invitation of Jean Mills, who had also invited local OS to be present. After meeting we had a picnic lunch and chat with local OS and Friends at the Woodlands, where Norman and Marjorie Coxon made us very welcome. This was followed by a tour of Shrewsbury, then tea and home. A most enjoyable day.—JOHN OSBOURNE.

London Branch. On March 12th, the London OS visited Sibford to play the School a mixed hockey match. The outing seemed ill-fated from the outset, because one of the cars refused to start, which meant that lunch in Banbury was a very hasty meal.

The pitch was more like a mud bath than a field at the end of the match, which the School won in convincing fashion.

On Sunday, July 10th, we visited Jordans to play the Annual Cricket Match, which ended in a victory for the OS.

Jordans, who batted first, were all out for 97. The OS then took to the field and scored 30 before tea, after which runs came steadily until the last man was finally dismissed with the score at 117.

Sunday, September 18th, was the date of the last reunion before Christmas. A river picnic was arranged, starting from Bond's boatyard at Maidenhead. A sandwich lunch was eaten sitting in the boats moored between Cookham and Maidenhead, after which we rowed on up to Bourne End.

After watching yachts racing in Bourne End Reach, we had tea at a riverside cafe, returning to Maidenhead at about 6.30, the girls doing the rowing this time.

In spite of it being so late in the year it was a very enjoyable day.—JOHN CANHAM.

UNDER THE TWO ELMS

Sherwood Branch. Several local reunions were held before Christmas last year, but unfortunately, owing to very bad weather, the Christmas Party had to be cancelled.

In the New Year meetings were arranged for every month, but were rather poorly attended. However, those who were unable to come sent in some very helpful suggestions for the entertainment at the August Reunion.—GRACE BECKERLEGGÉ.

Sibford Branch. At an inaugural meeting held in the Spring some thirty local OS decided to form a Sibford branch of the OS, the membership of which was to be fairly wide, so as to include as many people interested in OS and the school as possible. Lewis Poulton was elected Chairman, Leslie Baily Treasurer, and Jean Stewart and Pat Flinn Joint Secretaries.

The officers were asked to draw up a programme of monthly meetings to start on the second Thursday in October and to run initially until March. This has been done and we now have an attractive choice of events including a debate, a New Year Party, talks by well-known personalities like Godfrey Baseley and Leslie Thomas, a social evening and, we hope, a theatre party.

Any other OS in an area limited only by their ability to attend are cordially welcomed, and if they write to me they will be given any information they require.—PAT FLINN.

Francis P. Thomson was Director of the British Export Publicity Cinema, British National Pavilion, St. Eriks International Trade Fair, Stockholm, 1954, and has now been appointed Director of the British National Pavilion's Publicity Centre, and is conducting a special study of applied, magnetically recorded, 16mm. sound film in the service of overseas export promotion.

Brian R. Rose (1939-41) is now working at Cadburys as a Research Engineer.

E. Rosemary Baker (née Hill) writes to tell us that she was married at the Friends' Meeting House, Long Sutton, Somerset, in August, 1952.

News has been received that Richard Lamb has married a Canadian girl and is now living in Canada. They have a baby son, David, who was born on May 30th, 1955.

Vivian Lamb, working as a herd recorder in New Zealand and having two months' holiday, flew home via Singapore and Rome, arriving at Sibford on June 4th. After spending part of the time in Ireland, he left London Airport on July 18th for Canada, where he spent four days with Richard before continuing his flight via Vancouver, San Francisco. Honolulu and Fiji to Auckland, thus flying round the world.

School Committee

Readers will recall that in the last report mention was made of proposed alterations to the buildings, especially down at the old school. These are now almost completed, and are in use. Part of the old cycle shed has been converted into much-needed additional cloak room accommodation for the girls. The old gym is now a two-storey building, the lower floor of which is to be a girls' common-room, while the upper floor now contains four pleasant bed-sitting rooms which will be used by staff members. These have good windows overlooking Holly House and its adjoining field, and the outside appearance is certainly more attractive than the high blank wall of former days. At the other end of the property, the covered shed of the girls' playground has been incorporated into the kitchens, and the delightfully light, well-equipped department is a joy to the staff who use it and to the Committee who have, for so many years, had this long-overdue improvement in their minds. The re-facing of the school at the Hill is now complete, and most people think it adds more dignity to the building than the former white plaster. Lionel Geering, keeps a keen watch on all these building operations, and we owe him (and others behind the scenes) our warm thanks for all the time and thought so willingly given to this side of the school life.

As is usual in so large a community, the year has meant for the Committee continual thought and work for the welfare of the School in every facet of its life, and this is of absorbing interest.

MIRIAM J. CARTER.

Doodler's Daydream

During the August weekend Philip Morris both amused and interested groups of OS with the series of drawings which are reproduced on this page. They were drawn in chalk on the blackboards in one of the classrooms.

"A man eating lion on small desert island"

"A lion eating man"

"Both Eton of course!"

The "man eating lion" and the "lion eating man" blocks were made from photographs taken, at the suggestion of an OS, by Russell Ward, with the idea that they should be printed in this issue of Sibford.

The reproductions are, of course, very much reduced but give a good idea of the excellence of the drawings and the photography.

It seemed a pity to only print part of the story and I wrote to Philip Morris to ask him if he could make a drawing of the final act and write a few details as to why he had done them originally.

He very kindly sent the third drawing and the following is an extract from his letter:

"As to why I did them I can only say that the products of a doodler's mind are entirely unpredictable. This particular series of doodles, in fact, began on the blackboard of Lydney Secondary School as an end of term flourish to amuse the children. When I discovered so superb a drawing surface as the new ground glass blackboards at Sibford I was inspired to complete the story. Starting with 'A man eating lion on a small desert island', the 'lion eating man' one seemed a natural thing to follow. Finally, both victims in their after life find themselves to be my fellow-students in an art school (somewhere near Eton) so that they attend both schools for the sake of argument."

New Building at The Hill

Old Scholars who have not been back to their old school for several years would find, when they do return, a new look about the school which would surprise, and we believe, please them. Two years ago it was found that the plaster on the front of The Hill was cracked; rain and frost had also badly damaged the bricks behind. It was essential, therefore, to reface the building with new bricks. These were carefully selected by Lionel Geering and in appearance they are not unlike some Cotswold stone. They give a new look to the school which is dignified and harmonious and we are very pleased with the result.

Many will no doubt remember that when The Hill was built in 1930 the middle of the quadrangle was not completed, for, of course, it was uncertain that the number of pupils would increase. It was not long, however, before there were about 200 boys and girls and it was then essential to enlarge the building. The first stage was to erect two new classrooms and a dormitory. This meant, too, that the old gym was quite inadequate as either gym or assembly hall, so about three years ago fresh building was undertaken. An appeal was issued and Old Scholars subscribed generously. This new block consists of a gym-hall, a library and "the Old Scholars' Room". The hall is about 60 feet long and 30 wide. It is equipped with the modern "Cave-Southampton" gymnastic apparatus and the hall will seat about 250 people. Old Scholars have given a stage extension, wing and back curtains, and deep blue velvet curtains for all the windows and the stage front. The library has been furnished by the J. B. Braithwaite Trust in light Jugoslav oak, shelves, tables and the chairs, which have blue leather seats, being made by Louis Wright. Margaret Emmott has presented a beautiful clock in memory of her mother. It is a simple, dignified and beautiful room right away from the traffic of the corridors.

The Old Scholars' Room next door has an oak board with the list of past Presidents of their Association and a pleasingly designed scroll in oak (by Philip Morris) incorporating the Old Scholars' shield.

These rooms have proved invaluable. Every morning and on Sunday evenings our Meetings for Worship are held in the hall in a quiet and helpful atmosphere. Lectures and concerts take place here, too, and many village people join us for these.

Old Scholars' Room, too, is of the greatest use when lectures suited only to the older boys and girls take place. We can seat 120 in this room. The windows can be quickly shuttered and the film strip projector is ready in a few minutes. Here, too, are the gramophone and wireless, and desks for the recorder consort.

It should be added that we are deeply indebted to Lionel Geering and Louis Wright for their care and skill in supervising both building and furnishing. The additional rooms have greatly increased not only our comfort, but also the efficiency of our work. We are rightly proud of them and are grateful for all the help given by Old Scholars and other generous friends of the school.

To the Editor

Sir—Are Old Scholars ashamed of the past glories of their School? Since leaving Sibford, my efforts to trace the printed word of the School's history in the shape of a companionable volume have resulted in a couple of printed pamphlets, reminiscences from the pages of our Magazine, and reports of an history attempted (so far untraced and believed unfinished!) by Old Scholars during the late "twenties"!

Really, if this material represents the annals of over twelve decades of change and fluctuating fortune; under the sway of four eventful headmasterships, then it is altogether a very poor show on the part of our budding historians!

Other Friends' Schools are far in the lead in consolidating the events of their schools, over periods of a century or more. Leighton Park produced such a history some two or three years ago, whilst Wigton School last year published its third.

Come along OS, let those amongst us with the necessary literary leanings and historic interests, get together and produce "The Sibford Story" (what better title!), a book of real meaning, to adorn our bookshelves.—JOHN STEWART FINCH.

CONSTITUTION OF THE SOSA

The Association shall have for its objects :

- (a) The continuance of the interest of former scholars in Sibford School and its work.
- (b) The cementing of schoolday friendships.
- (c) The provision of assistance to the school whenever possible, and
- (d) The encouragement of a spirit of loyalty among present scholars.

Subject to the rules of the Association membership of the Association shall be open to the following :

- (1) Old Scholars of Sibford School, (2) past and present members of the staff, (3) husbands and wives of Old Scholars, (4) members of the School Committee, (5) other relatives of Old Scholars interested in the school, and (6) honorary members.

RULES OF THE SOSA

(1) There shall be an annual reunion of members held at Sibford at Whitsuntide, or at such other time and place as may be found convenient. During this reunion the Annual General Meeting of the Association shall be held, and the decisions of this meeting shall be duly recorded.

(2) The executive of the Association shall consist of the President, secretary, treasurer, and other necessary officers. The President shall be elected annually at the Annual General Meeting. The secretary, treasurer, and other officers, shall be elected for a three year period at an Annual General Meeting. Should a vacancy occur in any office during that period, the committee shall have power to fill the vacancy, and the person appointed shall hold office until the next triennial election. All nominations for secretary, treasurer and other officers shall be in writing, signed by the proposer, seconder, and by the nominee, and shall be handed to the secretary twelve hours before the Annual General Meeting.

(3) The committee of the Association shall consist of all the officers ex-officio, and six members who shall be elected for three years, with power to co-opt up to six others. Two of the elected members shall retire each year, and shall not be eligible for re-election for the ensuing year. Ten shall form a quorum.

(4) Notice of the annual reunions shall be sent to all members resident in the United Kingdom. The committee shall have full control of all arrangements at these reunions, with power to make such regulations as they may deem to be expedient. For the purpose of arranging accommodation at Sibford for annual reunions, one or more Resident Officers may be appointed.

(5) Wherever the number of members resident in any one locality warrants the course, a local branch may be formed. A Branch Secretary shall be elected at the Annual General Meeting or by a representative meeting of the local group, and shall have power to arrange local reunions, and other events.

(6) A printed magazine entitled Sibford shall be published annually by the Association and sent to all members whose addresses are known. Members with two years' subscriptions in arrears shall have their Magazines despatched COD, and in addition to the charge for the two years' subscriptions in arrears there shall be added such a sum, as in the opinion of the committee, will cover the additional cost of sending the magazine COD. Members whose subscriptions are three years in arrears shall not receive a Magazine until their subscriptions are paid. The Membership Secretary shall send to each such member a notice reminding them of the provisions of this Rule and of Rule 9.

(7) Subscriptions to the Association shall be as follows :

- (a) Scholars leaving school, for the year in which they leave and the following year, no subscription.
- (b) Life membership, £5 5s.
- (c) All other members, a minimum of 5s. per year.

(8) The annual subscription is due on January 1st for the ensuing year. The accounts of the Association shall be made up to December 31st of each year.

(9) Any member whose subscriptions are in arrear for three years, and who after due reminder of the fact shall not make the necessary payment, may have his or her name removed from the list of members. The committee shall also have the power to remove the name of any member whose address is not known, or for any reason which the committee may decide to be good and sufficient, and such membership shall thereupon cease.

(10) When the services of any person to the school or Association have been of material assistance or of any exceptional character, the Annual General Meeting shall have power to appoint such person an honorary life member of the Association.

(11) Notice of any alteration or addition to be proposed in the constitution or rules of the Association shall be given to the secretary at least 14 days before the Annual General Meeting. Nevertheless, the Annual General Meeting shall have full power to deal with any proposition, alteration or suggestion affecting the Association without such notice, or any notice, if the Meeting so decides by a two-thirds majority.
