EDITORIAL

It is with much regret that we have to record the deaths of three people so well known to Sibfordians: they are, Arthur Johnstone, Howard Quinton, and G. W. Taylor, the Sibford taxi driver. Our deepest sympathy goes to their wives and families.

We would like to take this opportunity of wishing Miss Brigham every success in her new position at Kendall and Miss Prior many happy years of retirement at Bournemouth.

Our congratulations go to Fred and Alice Green who celebrated their Golden Wedding this year. May they have many more happy anniversaries.

We would like to thank the following people for writing to us: (owing to shortage of space this year their articles will have to be printed in next year's magazine) Heather McAdam, Anne Medlock, and Elizabeth Lavender for their interesting account of the Karlsruhe International Working Camp; Vivian and Hetty Lamb on their life in New Zealand, and the photograph of Vivian and Richard Lamb; Phillip Morris's "Reflections on the Norwegian Study-Work Camp", and last but not least the letter and photograph from Arthur Bisell.

Incidentally Arthur Bisell tells us his father and uncle, Arthur Henry, and Ernest Edwin, who are twins, are both 81, and wonders if they are possibly the oldest Old Scholars. If any of you can beat this record, perhaps you will let us know.

Thank you all for the many articles we have received this year, and hoping that you might receive this magazine in January, we will wish you all a Happy New Year.

Barbara Harrison (née Smith) writes to say: We are now living in Ottawa. My husband had a two-year fellowship at the National Research Council. Ottawa is a very lovely place in the spring and early summer with thousands of daffodils and tulips along the Federal District Commission's winding driveways which circle the city. The Gatineau Hills are very close, too, and good for ski-ing in winter or walking in summer.

ARTHUR JOHNSTONE—Headmaster, 1930-1956

Arthur Johnstone died suddenly on September 11th, in Banbury hospital, after an operation. He had expected to be home in two days' time.

His high and clear ideals, coupled with his complete devotion to the School, stimulated those who worked with him. He was keenly interested in the work which each member of Staff was doing, and ready always to give help, advice and encouragement. One of his Staff, writing of him, says, "One thing for which I, personally, am always grateful was his lively and continuing interest in one's work as a teacher—interest in the syllabus chosen, the text-books selected, the value of the work to the children—and for his encouragement." Many will endorse those words. He gave his best, and expected the same from the Staff and children.

He had an intense desire that nothing but the best should be put before the boys and girls. This was especially so in his teaching of music, for which he did so much at Sibford. The combined School and village Music Club concerts were highlights of the term. Some deemed him "highbrow" and felt unable to appreciate what he himself loved. But many have been grateful for the "stretch" which he demanded, and owe him their lifelong interest in good music.

He was anxious that the academic standard of the School should be good, and was proud of success. Yet, hearing recently of the fine work of an Old Scholar who could never pass examinations, he said, "Things like that ought to give us gladness and pride." To fit themselves for useful service was his wish for Sibford scholars.

His happiness lay in and with the children, and he took an unfailing interest in them as persons. He had a remarkable memory for Old Scholars. There were very few whose career he had not followed, and when he was asked he could at once supply any information. During his two years' retirement letters from, and news of, Old Scholars were a joy to him.

All Old Scholars will remember that he was a keen pacifist; he was imprisoned for his principles in the first World War. They will remember, too, his vitality and energy, his tremendous capacity for work, and his sense of humour.

Those who knew him best knew him as an unselfish, humble man, to whom appreciation and praise always seemed to come as a surprise. The kindness he received and the affection shown him during his illness made him happy. Many will remember him and his influence with thankfulness. He will be greatly missed.

G.M.B.

The deepest sympathy of all Old Scholars goes to Jessie Johnstone in her great loss. It seems such a short time ago, September, 1930, when Arthur Johnstone as our new Headmaster, called the School together in the old gym. to introduce us to his wife and himself, and to tell us of their joy in coming to Sibford, where they, who had no children, would now have a very large family to care for.

Naturally with the new school and a new Headmaster there were many changes in our way of life, many of which we did not like, but we soon settled into our new routine. Arthur Johnstone's love of music and his ability to impart his enthusiasm, therefore, to others was a great joy to many of us, and Sunday morning chorals will always be remembered for, whether we could sing or not, when Arthur Johnstone played the first few bars of the hymn tune we felt sure we could sing, and somehow he would bring harmony from a chaotic beginning.

Those of us who were fortunate enough to be at the reunion of 1957, when Arthur Johnstone was our President will always remember his amusing anecdotes which "could only then be told", but we saw something of his sense of fun at reunions whilst he was still Sibford's Headmaster. No one enjoyed more than Arthur Johnstone, Peter Yeoman's impersonation of him, in the duet with Peggy Yeoman as Miss Burgess.

We have known Arthur Johnstone as Sibford's Headmaster for 26 years and we were just getting to know him as one of ourselves—an Old Scholar whose love for the School took him back there as often as possible and who had chosen to live within a few miles of Sibford. We shall miss Arthur Johnstone's presence when we gather at Sibford, but we shall be surrounded by things which are so much a part of him that he will not be far from us.

LILIAN WARD.

To me—as to many, many old Sibford scholars—to think of Sibford is to think of Arthur Johnstone. I have a very vivid memory of that first day at school when as a very timid and tremulous little girl I was met on the doorstep by a kind and friendly headmaster. Little did I know that I was sharing with him the experience of the first day of term at a new school.

The happy years that followed brought thousands of memories and impressions of A.J. As a child at school you do not bother to analyse such things but looking back now there emerges a pattern of kindly, constant devotion to Sibford and its children.

Looking back it is amazing to think of the change in the academic standard of the school and the richness of its leisure hour activities that took place steadily under A.J.'s guidance—the successful attack on the School Certificate—the steady increase in academic successes achieved—the wide range of arts and crafts which reached excellent levels of achievement—the introduction of swimming and life-saving—and the consistent production of successful theatrical works, all come to mind. A.J.'s deep love of music inspired a very real response in the school—many of us have had our lives enriched as a result of the inspiration he gave us to understand and enjoy music in all its forms.

No Old Scholar could have asked for a better headmaster to revisit. A.J. took an interest in every one of us right from the moment he shook our hand on the doorstep on our first day at school. This interest never waned when we left school and disappeared into the world. His capacity for following our careers—births, marriages, deaths, appointments, disappointments, examination results and all, was fantastic. How many cheery post cards must he have sent and how much pleasure must they have brought to Old Scholars.

A. J. devoted his life and his heart to Sibford. His work was well done and the inspiration that he has given will go on working. When we as Old Scholars return to Sibford much will be the same—but for us who were at school with A. J. a part of the Sibford we have loved will have gone for ever. We shall miss him.

JEANNE COTTRELL.

PRESENTATION TO MISS PRIOR AND MISS BRIGHAM

Sunday, July 20th, marked an occasion which was both sad and happy, sad at losing two friends, but happy in the thought of their future and in gratitude for their contribution to the School. At the close of the midday meal present scholars remained in the dining-room while a group of Old Scholars gathered with them to say goodbye to Miss Brigham and Miss Prior.

Miss Prior was retiring and making her home in Bournemouth after thirty years as a teacher of piano and recorder at Sibford. On behalf of the Old Scholars, Celia Law, the President of the Old Scholars' Association made her a presentation of a comfortable armchair, and spoke warmly of the devoted service which Miss Prior had given to the School. Miss Prior at once tried the armchair, and thanking Old Scholars for such a welcome gift, pronounced it ideal for retirement. Miss Brigham was retiring after a similar length of service as History and Scripture mistress, to take up a post at Kendal, where she has a cottage four miles from the town. Celia Law spoke in appreciation of Miss Brigham's work for Sibford boys and girls, and of how much Old Scholars owed to the fine influence of the two who were leaving. Miss Brigham was given a garden seat on which she could enjoy her leisure in her cottage garden. She hoped that many Sibford Old Scholars would visit her and share their gift with her.

Those of us who were looking on felt keenly how much our two friends would be missed. With Old Scholars we joined in thanks and good wishes to them both.

G.M.B.

G. W. Taylor

G. W. TAYLOR died unexpectedly on July 22nd, while having a little sleep after his dinner. He was 65. For thirty years he was a friend of the School, of parents, and of Old Scholars, and has driven hundreds of School visitors to and from Banbury station in his car.

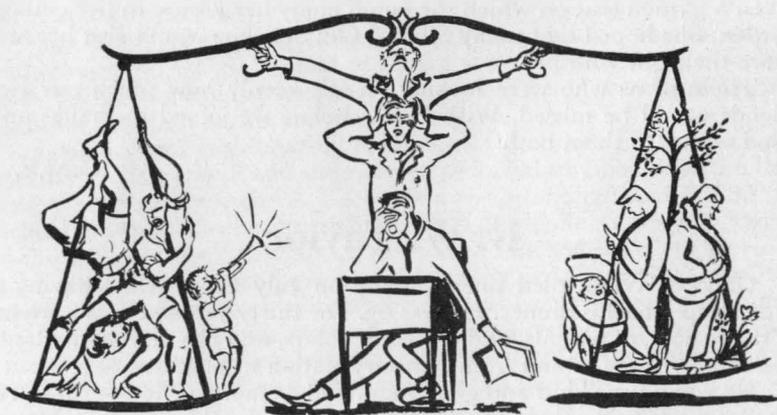

He was a very kind and good man, and a staunch Methodist, but a request was made that he should be buried in the Meeting House graveyard.

THE WHITSUNTIDE REUNION

The 1958 reunion was a critical occasion, for we were facing the possibility of fewer gatherings at Sibford itself: a balance had to be struck between thoughtless merrymaking and pompous sobriety since Sibford, a boarding school, sits public examinations which must be the true climax of the Summer Term and the very objects of the Association include not only opportunities for festive backslapping and wild rejuvenation, but also co-operation with the School, especially "the encouragement of a spirit of loyalty among present scholars" (see Constitution). Again, although gatherings depend in theory on our participation in organization and "chores", the degree of voluntary help given at a reunion makes the difference between a good "OS" and a superlative one. This, then, was a test year, the first test being the climate!

The week-end practically commenced with thunder and lightning and one traveller at least was temporarily lost in the midday downpour, somewhere maddeningly near Sibford, where signposts have to be coaxed to give up their secrets; however, the right post did reveal itself and the rain eased off. Caught up again in the delights of the reunion, one could ignore such tragedies as the postponement of the cricket match (an inch of rain had fallen in under 24 hours): Mr. Potter, our new caterer, and his student assistants, had within two hours of their arrival at the Domestic Science room provided a tasty and substantial meal, setting high gastronomic standards which were maintained over the week-end despite an enormous influx of casual OS.

We were welcomed by Celia Law, the most charming and persuasive of Presidents, Hugh Maw was also there to start the gathering off, and the indefatigable John Coxon flickered here and there, in this writer's opinion working far too hard . . . rumour has it that he plans to abdicate, but he must obviously be cajoled to continue. Additional and invaluable liaison was provided by Sibford's substantial new Bursar. Meanwhile

A balance had to be kept.

THE WHITSUNTIDE REUNION

OS spent this first, damp afternoon chatting and drinking tea, there being apparently endless numbers of ex-presidents present, including the late "A.J.", Kathleen Rice, Lionel Geering and the ageless Arnold Kaye, whilst the committee plotted and planned upstairs.

After supper came the President's address and, despite her professed nervousness, Celia delivered a short, eloquent, but simple message of friendship, stressing the need for closer understanding with the School. The remainder of the evening was spent in the broad vicinity of the Gower, where we gathered for a dance and social in the recently completed Village Hall. OS usually ask eagerly "What changes did you notice at Sibford?": the new hall and the purchase of a Land Rover to replace Selina (retired) are emphatically the major changes of 1957-58. The Hall has mushroomed since Martin Dodsworth's party helped in the pioneering last August: the exterior presents a striking balance between clean contemporary style and the traditional snugness of Cotswold architecture, and the building lies opposite the church, raised a few feet above the road and having its own car park. This simplicity is maintained internally and the Hall is easily adaptable for dramatics, socials or games. Frank Phillips, an energetic and versatile M.C., was well supported by Renata Litteck and by a scratch band of fruity timbre (including Roger Pattison at the piano, Reg Rowntree and son on trombone and drums, and, of course, Ron Quinton on the saxophone). Ladies and gentlemen exchanged articles of clothing, they fought over funny hats and there were also old-time and country dances. The night being warm and dry, a well-attended expedition exploded traditionally at the Elm.

Musical Lots.

By Sunday morning we were happy to have the weather completely on our side: Sibford medley of greens and rich browns, the trees rearing and spreading comfortably above the paddock like massive clumps of parsley, and even the sick monkey puzzle tree bristled healthily. After breakfast, the traditional programme commenced with "Choral" attended by the School and many OS. With the School in session, Meeting for Worship involved numerous gatherings according to age and temperament at the Hill and in the Gower, and meanwhile the kind hospitality of Hugh Maw, Mr. and Mrs. Flinn and Leslie Bailey ensured that we could relax in comfort, play table tennis and sip tea as we felt disposed.

The picnic, which was to have taken place at Swalcliff Lea, was cancelled, as the ground has been saturated by Saturday's rain: this fixture was replaced by impromptu games and a gigantic tea party on the veranda at the Hill, at which some four hundred persons scabbled and queued for tea (are these annual Sibfordian queues really necessary or just a hangover from the days of shortages?) Amongst the four hundred it was interesting to note around forty babies and toddlers surely the nucleus of the Association in the 1970's and '80's!

At evening meeting, Hugh Maw enlarged on the theme of friendship, stressed so strongly during the week-end. The Business Meeting, which followed supper, commenced with the inauguration of a new custom: thus the "old Fuddy-Duddies" (i.e. the Committee) ascended in a mass to the platform, where they will, in future, sit in state. The usual disappointing attendance at the A.G.M. was emphasized by the alarming gaps produced on the "floor" by the Committee's ascension, despite the presence of some interested fifth formers. Proceedings were somewhat hurried as we had to vacate the Hill by the School bedtime and the usual weighty reports by officers were regrettably hurried. However, full and timely tributes were paid to Dorothy Brigham and Dorothy Prior, whose impending departure will sadden OS everywhere: this news seems almost unreal after their collective sixty odd years of service to the School. (I am happy to report that the Committee made a presentation to these old friends at the School on July 20th.) Greetings were read from many OS, including Ethel Harrisson (President 1911-12), Marjorie Simmons, Lilian Russell, Gulie Grimes, Mavis Stiles, Margaret Smith, Ian Ball and A. P. Lower; and additional greetings from the President of Sidcot OSA and his wife (George and Hilda Hutchinson) marked the 150th birthday of that sister school and a congratulatory telegram was dispatched by our Association. Lastly, Philip Morris gave a penetrating account of Russian religious life and thought, as he observed it during the World Youth Festival of 1957, but this had unfortunately to be curtailed because of the clock: one would welcome more opportunities for adventurous OS to relate their experience. We made miraculously silent exeunt from the Hill in time for a fresh round of strenuous games under Frank Phillips' direction in Holly House commonroom, and until midnight groups chatted, drank tea and played ping-pong at points in the village; rumour has it that an excursion to Temple Mill occupied one party until 2 a.m.

Mystery Barbecue.

After Monday breakfast, in bright sunlight, Roger Pattison and Don Ryan cajoled somewhat sedentary OS and far livelier present pupils to sports on the playground where Soft Ball in particular was exceedingly popular. The cricket match took place in the afternoon, although, as will be related, the hours between dinner and high tea were packed with competing diversions of bewildering variety. The match itself was notable for the stylish and aggressive batting of Madders and the excellent bowling of Abercrombie.

Meanwhile, the Village Hall was the scene of the Sibford and District Villages Arts and Crafts Exhibition. Demonstrations of basket and silver-work were given, and fine craftsmanship in needlework, woodwork, paintings, rugs, photography and handicrafts from Sibford and local schools were admired by the numerous visitors. The versatility of Hugh Maw is displayed outstandingly in sport and music making, but he is also amazingly adept with the crochet hook, as witnessed by his intricate contributions to the exhibition. Back at School came the "Lord Mayor's Show", an assembly the like of which almost defies description. A dozen cars of all ages and sizes paraded from Holly House drive, past the Manor House, via Hook Norton Road to the games field, bedecked with such items as rolls of turf, rags, sacking, masts and foc'sle, the paraphernalia of newly weds and relics of travel in outer space. A bewildered President awarded first prize to Andrew Fairnington for his uncanny impersonation of the late Theodore Lamb, this striking figure needing little facial adornment beyond that which nature has so generously bestowed upon him! Beryl and Louis Wright's artistic representation of "Rockets" at the Elm was a close second and Norman Stratton's funeral cortège, mounted on his 1926 Rolls, complete with canned Chopin, topped Mute, female mourners and lengthy corpse, took third prize. The Tennis Tournament, unfortunately never took place and the new challenge cup, given to the SOSA by Celia Law's magnanimous uncle, A. B. (Archie) Hannay, remains in the custody of John Coxon (who no doubt would have won it anyway).

London OS gave the entertainment: modesty here necessitates brevity, but the School appeared to relish the programme, particularly the revived trio lauding the virtues of the Misses B., B. and P. (restored, as it turned out, only just in time), Louis Wright's ingenious games, the parody on Widdicombe Fair recounting the sad tale of Jessie Tanner's deceased bus ("... the ghost of the bus can be heard grinding its gears") and the "broadcast" of the Sibford car rally.

The last official event was a mystery barbecue at one of the Stewart family's quarries, just past Temple Mill. Here, in the leaping firelight (they appeared to be burning an enormous medieval farm cart!) Alfred Holland and helpers served hot tomato soup and a hamburger a piece and rival singers provided racy folk numbers, with banjo versus the old fashioned favourites, unaccompanied. "Auld Lang Syne" and Rockets, mysteriously minus Arnold Kaye, closed the festivities for most people, but a few fanatics held additional midnight rockets at the Elm.

Tuesday morning is always tinged with melancholy, but an astoundingly speedy group cheerfully cleared up the Hill before the commencement of Lessons at 9 a.m. and bunks were dismantled with aid of the magnificent Land Rover, the morning being rounded off by a simply gargantuan luncheon party (including pancakes tossed by Sue Holland).

It is said to have been the most harmonious Whitsun reunion for many years and in spite of gloomy rumours to the contrary we are sure it cannot be the last.

Our President, 1958-59

Lewis W. Poulton lives at Sibford Gower and is a farmer. He attended Sibford School 1920-25—"only an average scholar", he says, but many will remember his skill at games both at School (football captain 1925) and later when he and his brother Henry (also an OS) did much to make the Sibford village cricket team the finest for miles around.

On leaving school Lewis spent 12 years with Lionel Geering in Sussex, learning building, returning to the family farm in 1938. Always interested in local affairs, he was elected as Sibford Gower councillor on Banbury Rural District Council in 1946 and has been top of the poll at every election since. Those who take part in local politics must expect hard blows at times, but Councillor Poulton has always brought to bear his invincible good humour, and the ability to crack a joke which we have enjoyed at OS Gatherings has been used to good effect in other places. He has been chairman of every standing committee of the Council, and was Vice-chairman for 2 years before becoming Chairman of the R.D.C. itself in 1952—the only councillor from Sibford Gower ever to hold that office. He was awarded the Coronation Medal.

In Sibford village affairs he plays an equally active part—a member of the Gower Parish Council for the past 10 years, chairman of the managers of the village school, and a lively member of the committee which has built and runs the new Village Hall. In recent times he has exchanged the cricket field for the bowling green (and alas, the village cricket team has gone into a decline), and last winter saw his debut as an actor in the local drama club. He brought the house down by forgetting his lines in the middle of a scene and saying, to the astonishment of those on the stage and to the delight of the audience: "Oh, I've got that wrong."

During and after the war he was one of the resident officers of the SOSA who found digs for upwards of 120 OS in the village at Whitsun Gatherings. He married the District Nurse, Jean Walters, in 1956, and has a daughter, Fiona Mary.

"I am always pleased to receive a call from any OS visiting Sibford," he says, "and I hope August, 1959, will be a record Gathering." With Lewis Poulton in the presidential chair it will certainly be a lively one.

Television viewers may have seen him some time ago in a Chris Chataway programme on village life. A film shot was taken of Lewis driving his milk float at a smart trot round the corner at Sibford Gower cross and down towards the Meeting House. This is libellously said in Sibford to be the only time in history that the Poulton pony has proceeded at above a walking pace in a direction away from home.

LATEST NEWS FROM HERBERT CALCROFT

Have just finished the sitting-room floor and hope very shortly to have some place where we can sit in some degree of comfort, after which comes a floor and paper, etc., in the dining-room, then we shall be able to more or less relax.

I did have help with the main part of the building but am doing all the interior finishing myself. We have a beautiful location here—on the seashore with a magnificent view of the mountains on the mainland across the water.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Fred and Alice Green celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Tuesday, August 19th, 1958.

Alice has been Sibford's postmistress for over 41 years. Both have worked hard for many of the village and district organizations. Alice did a tremendous amount of work for the local hospitals and blind, organizing collections and other events to raise money.

Both have been on the B.B.C., in Leslie Baily's scrapbook and Alice appeared on T.V. in Chris Chataway's "Away from it all", taking her part like an experienced film star.

Alice's main hobby is making smocks, and she has made many for the former Sibford sculptor and pageant master Lascelles, making a special smock for him when he went to Buckingham Palace to do a bust of the Prince of Wales, now the Duke of Windsor. Many of her smocks appear in Lascelles' book, The Modern Orpheus.

Fred has sung for the Sibford Choral Society and also played in the Sibford Brass Band.

They have three children and eight grandchildren.

Of their Golden Wedding they said, "We had a wonderful day and were delighted with the many congratulations, Telegrams and Cards, we received from Old Scholars. Fifty years sounds a long time, but you know it doesn't seem like it to us."

Annual General Meeting

Minutes of the Annual General Meeting held at Sibford on Sunday, May 25th, 1958.

Present: The President, Celia Law in the Chair. John Coxon, Secretary; John Taylor, Treasurer; Lilian Ward, Assistant Secretary; and approximately 75 Old Scholars.

1. The minutes of the last meeting which had been printed in the Magazine, were taken as read, agreed and signed.

2. Leslie Baily suggested that all Committee members should be on the platform at Annual General Meetings.

It was proposed, seconded and carried that:

All officers and the committee of the Association should be on the platform at all Annual General Meetings of the Association.

3. John Taylor presented the Accounts for the year ended December 31st, 1957. These showed a deficit of £22 3s. 9d. for the year. A profit of £19 3s. 2d. had been made on the August, 1957, Reunion.

It was proposed by Alfred Holland, seconded by Don Ryan, and carried that:

The Accounts for the year ended December 31st, 1957, be accepted.

4. Louis Wright presented a report from the Committee on the James Harrod Memorial Fund. The committee were proposing to close the Appeal although any additional gifts and donations would be very welcome. The fund stood at £650 and it was proposed to use this money to put up the shell of a Sports Pavilion. Work would be started as soon as plans and site had been agreed with the Local Authority and the School Committee. It was hoped to reduce the cost of the pavilion by having the foundations built by a S.O.S.A. working party. A list of volunteers for this was made at the meeting.

It was proposed, seconded, and carried that:

The Association approves the action of the Committee in closing the James Harrod Memorial Fund and in proposing to use the funds available to erect the shell of a sports pavilion. It was agreed the design of the pavilion, negotiations about the site, method of building, etc., be left to the Committee.

5. The President reported that her uncle, Mr. A. Hannay, had given the Association a new tennis cup. This was shown to the meeting amidst applause.

It was proposed, seconded, and carried that:

A vote of thanks be made to Mr. A. Hannay for his generous gift of a tennis cup.

6. Dorothy Brigham spoke on the Mabel Harrod Fund. The Fund now stood at £657. A grant had been made to an Austrian to help with his expenses at the school. Anne and Elizabeth Lavender and Heather McAdam were going to visit the Karlsruhe International Working Camp, and Phillip Morris had visited Russia.

The Mabel Harrod Fund Committee reported that Dorothy

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

Brigham was leaving the school in July and would have to resign as Secretary and Treasurer of the Committee. Approval of the appointment of Alfred Holland as Secretary and Treasurer of the Mabel Harrod Fund Committee was asked. This was agreed to by the meeting and gratitude was expressed for the work of Dorothy Brigham on the Committee.

7. Phillip Morris gave an interesting account of his visit to Russia to the Youth Festival as observer with some other Friends.

8. Celia Law presented an S.O.S.A. badge to the Head Girl Miriam Thomas.

9. The President read greetings received from absent Old Scholars.

10. It was reported that the Golden Wedding of Fred and Alice Green would be on August 19th.

11. Louis Wright reported as Membership Secretary. He stressed the need for Old Scholars to keep him informed of changes of address; 10 to 15 magazines had been returned "address unknown".

12. The Headmaster, Hugh Maw, gave a report on the activities of the school during the past year.

13. The President reported that Miss Prior and Miss Brigham were leaving in July after some 30 years at Sibford. The Committee were arranging to present on behalf of the Association a fireside chair to Miss Prior and a garden seat to Miss Brigham.

Appreciation of their work for the school was expressed by Jessie and Arthur Johnstone and many other Old Scholars.

14. Miriam Carter, one of our representatives on the School Committee, reported current developments including the building of School Houses for the boys and extensions to the swimming bath.

15. The President proposed, John Coxon seconded, and it was carried amidst applause, that:

Arthur and Jessie Johnstone be made Honorary Life Members of the Association.

16. John Coxon said that subject to the agreement of the School and the School Committee the 1959 Reunion would be in August.

17. The Secretary said that Celia Law and Vera Rollet retire from the Committee at the end of their term of office. Gordon Ryan and Susan Smith were elected to the Committee for three years.

18. The President, Celia Law, proposed Lewis Poulton as President for 1958-59. This was carried with applause.

19. The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Chairman.

The School Year

In a great effort to keep fees down amid rising costs; the changes that are necessary to keep up with modern standards; the great amount of maintenance, redecoration, alteration and building that is needed, and the provision of a really good staff, the numbers in the School are gradually increasing and we are having to squeeze in still more children.

In common with other Friends Schools it can really no longer be said that the children coming in are a "select" group or specially "privileged"—which seems to worry a number of people, especially Friends, nowadays. We take in children from families with incomes under £400 and over £2,000; those without any form of transport, those with a horse and cart, a "Bubble" car, a Rolls Royce or Jaguar. Manual labourers' children, local tradesmen's children, the children of M.P.'s and candidates, doctors, teachers, bankers, those in industry, publicans and psychologists all come to Sibford and you cannot distinguish between them. We have a Catholic, Jews, Protestants, Non-conformists, Agnostics and Atheists among our parents. The number of Quaker children and children of Old Scholars is increasing I am glad to say. We have some local authority children, about two thirds from State schools and one third from private or independent schools and from any part of Britain. Some come from broken homes, some from sadly disturbed homes, some from foster homes, but mostly they are from normal, happy well-adjusted families. They are children of the "bulge"—from the end of the war or immediate post-war period. My impression is that not only has there been a swing away from many of the old Victorian taboos and the strict Father discipline, but that sometimes a loving firmness—what Lyward calls "stern love" has been lacking altogether during their formative years. The modern tempo and the tensions of our national life; the fact that the parents are often both working; a general physical mental and moral fatigue have meant that it was often easier to give in, to let the growing child develop in its own unguided, uninhibited way, to have what it wanted for the sake of peace, or yet another opportunity to "get away with it". The big family, each member with its specific tasks, duties and responsibilities; courtesy and good manners; respect for elders and betters; good taste; an attitude towards orderliness and tidiness, litter and dirt are probably less a natural part of home and family life than they used to be. Little children not only insist on being seen nowadays, but also heard! In how many families nowadays is there time for a family reading of the Bible after breakfast on Sundays, or even for grace before meals? With so much uncertainty, violence and brutality in the world there is a tendency to prolong the child's innate instinct to grab while it can; to take because "I want", and therefore, "must have", because it "might be useful later on". There is inevitably a tendency amongst adolescents, who are becoming maturer earlier, to "enjoy life while you can", to seek mechanical amusements, to watch and gape rather than being able to provide their own entertainment or to become absorbed in their own practical pursuits. In many schools there is a general lack of respect for other people's property—"someone else will always pay"—a tendency towards grasping for easy money, the I.T.V. prize for answering a few stupid questions, a tendency for shorter working hours and an aimless aping of modern heroes of the Elvis Presley type, the hundreds-of-pounds-a-week "pop" singer—His music, His clothes, His hair style. Much blame is put on Psychology and psychologists who are said to declare: "Be careful not to harm his mind, to hurt his ego or hinder his development. It is all a question of environment." And parents reply: "We'll send him to a boarding school. They will put him right and do what we failed to do in those vital formative years from nought to five." Parents, too, get much blame nowadays. The cynic, over-worked, under-paid teacher declares in despair: "The last people on earth who ought to have children are parents!" or, "Heaven help him with those parents!" Primary schools are also blamed—there are so many "bright" children who are "backward" for a hundred good reasons or are "slow" or "late developers" who become misfits in the State education system. Incidentally the State pays far more per head for pupils in its special schools than parents sending children to private schools. Yet I think the pendulum is beginning to swing the other way. Psychologists, parents and teachers are beginning to co-operate and plan for the future by saying: "What he deserves, and what he gets now, is a jolly good spanking!" The human frame is remarkably adaptive and love is a wonderful thing—firmly administered it is the greatest moral, therapeutic and corrective power in the world. Some of the old standards weren't so bad after all. But there is also no doubt that modern youth appreciates discipline, being made to work, and firm guidance in the long run. They have powers of leadership and adaptability, resilience, good ideas, enthusiasm, and energy given the right opportunities and the right people to live with.

What do parents want from Sibford who form such a fine cross section of the whole community and changing life of this country? Very few, I'm thankful to say want to buy us because they could not possibly send Johnny to the local Secondary Modern. No, they are after not only a good balanced education for their children, but an atmosphere where the accent is on an education for the whole of life and not just for a living; where the emphasis is on a Christian and Quaker education and the maintenance of long-tried and sound values, and not specifically for examinations and paper qualifications, a polished accent or prowess in games. All these parents look upon this as the best investment for their children.

Well, what of the results? These cannot be measured only in terms of G.C.E. results, which by State standards aren't bad anyway, but by what our girls and boys turn out to be and to do. One parent wrote to me recently: "The examinations do not worry me, they do not matter a 'hoot' in comparison with learning to live together in harmony and showing consideration to others, even to people we do not like, and that is just where . . . has failed most, and it probably shows, too, where I have failed." Examination results these days we know are important, and considering the number who come to us having failed the eleven plus, but who nevertheless go on and get a good G.C.E. The teaching deserves high praise. It got it, too, from the recent visit and inspection by Her Majesty's Inspectorate. But the visiting Youth Employment

Officers said to me: "What impresses us about Sibford is the great number of your pupils who go into some sort of public service and welfare, or at least further training with some constructive end in view. And so they do—to nursing and other special hospital work, teaching and child care, food production and farming, domestic science, catering and hotels, art and craft, home-making, secretarial work, building and so on. This surely justifies our existence and emphasizes the need for Sibford more than ever at the present time in the world to-day—where craftsmanship, full value for money, going the extra mile, and willing cheerful simple service are still sound Christian and Quaker principles.

So far, I'm afraid, this has developed into a thesis and has wandered from being a report on the School year, but I feel that it is the task of a Headmaster to try and sum up the situation, to be able to stand back and see the wider implications and to give a lead. In looking over and summing up the short term events he must not lose sight of the long term view. In any case the purely factual reports can be seen in the Annual Report, from time to time in The Friend, and at OS gatherings.

In common with other boarding schools we have had our ups and downs with health—an influenza epidemic (which incidentally brought out the best in children and staff), mumps, sore throats and an increase in mild virus infections. The new wing or barn at Holly House has now been converted into the new Ark or San., and the old Ark is being adapted to provide more accommodation for girls and staff. Modern children are like pincushions. They have been pricked for T.B. and Polio, and mass X-rayed, I'm sure to advantage. Fortunately few epidemics have serious results these days.

The various staff changes will be referred to elsewhere, but I must say a word about the departure of Dorothy Brigham and Dorothy Prior. The type of Friend teacher who is willing through thick and thin to devote thirty years—a life time of service to one Friends School is now so rare as to be almost a thing of the past. This breaks up "the Big Three" whom so many generations of scholars and Old Scholars have come back to and relied on as always being here whatever else changes or happens. No one person can fully appreciate or realize what these two gracious ladies have done for Sibford. It is my sincere hope that Sibford will continue to provide the central place for Summit meetings. It must be near the centre of England.

Other changes to be seen by the many hundreds of Old Scholars who visit us each year or who drop in on their way through are the alterations and redecorations at the old school, and of two classrooms at the Hill. The boys have levelled (voluntarily) a piece of ground in one quad for a new room which will be used for recreation, to relieve the art room of "collects", and the corridors of "break" cocoa. Building has begun. The sites for the new boys' dormitory houses are being chosen, and we are anxious to purchase the piece of ground right opposite the School, at the Hill which has been developed as a Council Housing Estate.

Some old customs continue—visits to Stratford and local places of historic and cultural interest, Hallowe'en parties, socials and dances, Bonfire night, blackberrying, and "choral". For two years now the Wychford picnic has unfortunately proved impossible. There has been an effort on the part of Leslie Baily and myself to revive Sunday afternoon walks for at least the Juniors we hope leading to a greater appreciation of the countryside and country pursuits, and the point of view of the farmer.

Besides Alfred Holland who is helping enormously with the progress of the School we welcome another Old Scholar, Rosamond Flinn, on the staff as catering supervisor, and from the Autumn Term Jill Sheppard to teach French in place of Michael Harrison the Senior Master who leaves to take up a Headship in Bristol. Old Scholars have been most helpful in coming forward to offer their services to the School whenever there has been a need, and I should be particularly glad to hear from others who would like to serve even for short periods in any particular capacity.

We gratefully acknowledge this year's President of the Old Scholars Celia Law's gift to the School of a magnificent mixer for the Domestic Science room. This year's OS gathering at Whitsun was in many ways a tremendous success in spite of the unfortunate weather. It was the spirit of the gathering and the genuine concern to co-operate with the School in session which was so much appreciated. There is always a tremendous lot on in the Summer Term and many interruptions, and while the staff continue to work and carry out their responsibilities it can be seen that a firmness and discipline need not necessarily interfere with or spoil the enjoyment of what for many of you is a time of relaxation or holiday. At other times when Old Scholars come back to the School a postcard or a little warning beforehand is a courteous and much appreciated gesture which avoids embarrassment. I don't want to sound stuffy about this, but I do not think it is right that it should be taken for granted the School grounds, buildings and facilities can be used at any time of day or night in term time or holidays. I have been told by the OS Committee that the Old Scholars Room was given by Old Scholars for whatever purpose the School thought best. In the changing life of the School we are so short of rooms that at present it has to be used like others for a variety of different purposes and it is not therefore, for the sole use or convenience of Old Scholar visitors.

Now that so many of the Staff will be strangers to you, I hope you will introduce yourselves and tell us a little of what you are doing, or have done since leaving School. Your letters have been greatly appreciated, and there are so many of you continuing to do little things for Sibford from all over the world.

H.M.

Those who have revisited Sibford in the last few years will have noticed the enormous changes that have taken place in the school buildings, the Hall, Library, 2 classrooms, Old Scholars' room, the enlarged swimming bath, kitchen and dining room, the paved quadrangle and new games room at the Hill, all this, and still more to come. Thanks to a very generous gift of £20,000 and other donations amounting in all to £33,000, the school committee have decided to build three dormitory houses and take over the old dormitories as classrooms. To do this a further £25,000 is needed. CAN YOU HELP? If so, write to Alfred Holland, Sibford School.

School Committee

In several ways the work of the Committee this year has been of special interest. During the Spring Term H.M. Inspectors spent the best part of a week in the School, and two of them met us in an informal way afterwards. The official report will be produced later. Their views and comments were most helpful. (Their first comment was on the wonderfully healthy situation of the School!) Important decisions have been made possible through a generous gift, and as soon as plans are completed and sufficient money available, we hope to build three Houses (though only two will be possible at first), each to accommodate about forty boys in the charge of a resident married master and a junior master. This will leave dormitories available for further craft-rooms and other long-felt needs. Another gift has been made specially for improving the swimming-bath. All these alterations will provide better facilities than ever for the children who are fortunate enough to come to Sibford for their education—using the word in its widest sense.

The splendid contribution of work and service which Dorothy Prior and Dorothy Brigham have made to the School over the last thirty years will no doubt be mentioned elsewhere, but the Committee recorded its deep appreciation in its Minutes.

The keen interest which Old Scholars continue to take in the School is always acknowledged by the Committee, and they are specially grateful for the proposed new Pavilion which is to be a memorial to the late James T. Harrod.

Presidential Address

Old Scholars I am deeply aware of the honour you have paid me in making me your President this year, for which I can only thank you. 1957-58 is a memorable year for me. Last August I became your President, which filled me with pride. In December, I became a grandmother, which is a most exciting position—all the joy and pleasure without the worry and responsibilities, and this coming year my dear husband and I celebrate our Silver Wedding anniversary. In 11 years' time I hope to be visiting the third generation of my family at Sibford. It would be untrue for me to say it was giving me great pleasure to stand on this platform and address you all, as I feel as nervous as when, as a young girl I followed in the footsteps of the Headmaster, which was usually into his study to be reprimanded. Being President is a serious business, as well as being fun, it makes one the centre of attraction, and being truly feminine I like being the centre of attraction, if only for one week-end. During a recent visit to the School I accidentally overheard two girls talking, one said—"I know what I am going to get out of life when I leave school"—to which the other replied—"You don't know what you're going to get out of life until you have finished school and decided what you are going to be." This set me thinking. People so often talk of getting things out of life and so rarely of what they could put into life. Also of what they can get out of people without giving anything in return. While driving back to London my thoughts turned to my association with Sibford—it is just 20 years since my husband and I were enjoying a holiday in Switzerland. On noticing that George looked far away, I enquired the reason and was told it was Sibford's Old Scholars' Reunion. After explaining to me what an enjoyable occasion it could be, we started off for the coast, crossed the Channel, picked up our old Ford in London and arrived in Sibford Sunday evening. All was quiet and deserted, looking back I can only assume you were all listening to the Presidential address or eating. We returned to Banbury, and not being able to find a room that suited our pockets, we spent a most uncomfortable night in the car. Next morning after a wash and brush up, breakfast at a "pull-in for lorries" on the Oxford Road, we returned to the School. It was then I saw Sibford at its very best. Last August we were once again in Switzerland—this time we both had the reunion in mind. Once again we started for the coast, this time by car, travelling 546 miles in 18 hours, crossed the Channel, and on arriving in London found that 19 years had taken its toll and we felt a rest was called for. George departed to bed and I to rest on a divan in the sitting-room. On waking I told Mr. Hannay, who many of you know, of a funny dream from which I had just wakened. I had had a telephone conversation with John Coxon who had invited me to be President and I had accepted. He then informed me that it was not a dream—I had answered the telephone which was at the side of the divan on which I was resting. On Monday we arrived once again in Sibford, to find that it was certainly no dream. The overheard conversation having reminded me of my first and my latest reunion, I then began to assess what I had got from Sibford and what I had given during the 20 years' association. The answer in both cases was something which to me is very important—"friendship". I would like to say a little more about friendship. As many of you know, for about nine years I was working with the London County Council providing meals for school children. Very often I would speak to children who had only recently started school and ask them how they liked being there. Almost invariably they would say they liked being at school, then would add—"I have a friend." It was amusing and interesting to see some of these friends. Often they were coloured or of a different social class. It is obvious that at an early age friendship is considered to be important. I well remember my first parent teachers week-end here. Our daughter Sally proudly presented her best friend. It appeared this particular friend was well known for the friendliness she showed to all the lonely new boys and girls. We members of Old Scholars are indeed fortunate, as should we on our travels arrive in a strange town we have only to look down the list of members in the Magazine and very often find we have a friend to call upon. We read and hear so much these days of loneliness amongst elderly people, perhaps our younger members could make a point of calling upon elderly members to let them see they have friends who have the common bond of Sibford. Many Old Scholars this week-end will be thinking of our old friend James Harrod. He was a man of simple taste and whatever Memorial may be raised to his memory it will be his gift of friendship by which he will be most sincerely remembered. I myself did not have the opportunity of being at a Boarding School—the cost of sending nine daughters would have been prohibitive, even with school fees as they were in my youth, but I can see that one of the main results of such an education is the number of friendships it is possible to make, friendships not only between children, but between School staff and children. It is, I am sure, because of these friendships and happy memories that Old Scholars feel drawn back to the School and feel anxious to give to the School in service and in money. In this connection I feel I must say that it appears to me there has been a sad falling off in friendly feeling and understanding between School and the Old Scholars. I have heard it said that Old Scholars attending reunions interfere with the way of life of the School and do not realise that the School is the home of School staff. I would like to point out that for many Old Scholars, especially those from broken homes, the School was their home for a number of years, and most Old Scholars would consider it a second home. It would be kind and friendly if the staff would bear in mind that showing off and flaunting newly found independence is part of the process of growing up. I should also like to remind young Old Scholars that they are guests of the School and should behave accordingly. May I take advantage of my privileged position to make a plea for continued friendly relations between Staff and Old Scholars.

To the two scholars whom I overheard talking, may I offer the advice given to me by my dear father when I first left home, a very young girl of 16. He told me to go out into the world, and be honest, friendly, tolerant of others views, and never to do anything of which I would be ashamed to tell my parents.

CELIA LAW.

Mabel Harrod Fund

At the SOSA business meeting in August, 1957, Old Scholars expressed a wish to hear more about the visits made by beneficiaries of the fund. Reports, therefore, from Philip Morris and Michael Holt were inserted in the last issue of the Sibford magazine and at the SOSA business meeting at Whitsuntide, 1958, a report was read from three Old Scholars, Heather McAdam, Anne Medlock and Elizabeth Lavender, who shared in an international work camp in Germany last August.

One grant this year has been made to an Austrian boy, Heinz Thomasick of Vienna, to help with his expenses in the School for the Summer Term. Heinz is the son of a World War I famine orphan who was befriended by J. Frederick Braithwaite in 1919. His friendliness and keenness have made him a very acceptable visitor and he has returned to Vienna with the good wishes and affection of the whole school.

An Old Scholar, Susan Gee, has been helped by the Fund to attend a Summer School at Geneva on the work of the United Nations. She writes to say that the first lecture on the work of the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations was by Ralph Townley, also a Sibford Old Scholar!

Seven senior pupils are going abroad during August with help from the fund. One is helping in a work camp in Germany, five are making exchange visits in France and one is planning a camping holiday in France.

In view of Dorothy Brigham's resignation Alfred Holland has been appointed Secretary-Treasurer of the Mabel Harrod fund and all future applications should be made to him.

D. BRIGHAM.

Appeal Secretary's Report

You will all, I am sure, be very pleased to know that the Pavilion in memory of James Harrod is at last going to be something more than an appeal. Plans are now being drawn up and work will start as soon as the plans are passed. We have not, unfortunately, got as much cash as we would have liked, but nevertheless we propose to go ahead. We understand from our Architect that we can put up a very good shell for the money we have available and your committee decided to put a proposition before the last A.G.M. which I am glad to say was unanimously agreed to, that we should raise a working party to do a lot of the unskilled work and so save a lot of money in this way. We hope we shall be able to go some way towards equipping it. Arthur Harrison has very kindly agreed to be the local expert in charge of operations and any OS who feels or is able to help would they please write to me. We particularly want some good labourers and also skilled tradesmen, men who are willing to give up a long week-end to help in this work. We are thinking in terms of next Easter when the School are on holiday and a number of OS can get four full days at Sibford, will you help? You may not have been able to financially, but now is your chance.

L.W.

Membership Secretary's Report

At the A.G.M. this year out of a suggestion that we should raise a working party to help build the Pavilion came an idea that we should put by the side of your name and address in the membership list, what your job or profession was. It was thought that many OS would like to know what their contemporaries were doing and also to whom they might turn if they were seeking advice on some problem.

Do you think this is a good idea? If so write and let me know what you do so that it can be included in next year's magazine.

L.W.

Arts and Crafts Exhibition

Many Old Scholars visited the Arts and Crafts Exhibition at the Village Hall during the week-end; several OS had exhibits on view—marquetry, woodwork, sculpture, and a most ingenious mobile; and several OS were connected in various ways with the organization of the exhibition. It proved to be a greater success than anyone anticipated. It was open for several hours every day for a week, and after Old Scholars had departed visitors continued to arrive from miles around to see the Sibford show, so that during the week nearly 1,100 people attended. A substantial profit was made for Village Hall funds, and, more important, the quality of the craft and art shown was remarkably high.

Most important of all, this exhibition drew together work (both amateur and professional) from residents in the village and in adjoining villages, from Old Scholars, and from the three local schools (Sibford Gower Primary, Hook Norton Secondary Modern, and Sibford Friends School), each of which had a stand displaying a splendid variety of work. From time to time demonstrations were given by professional potters, rug-makers, and basket-makers; crowds collected on Monday round Philip Morris's demonstration of silver-smithing; and boys from the Friends School gave several woodwork demonstrations.

It was, in short, a remarkable coming-together of people from many different walks of life, all interested—whether as exhibitors or visitors—in that creativeness of hand and eye, and those qualities of good workmanship and beauty, which are the antidote to the mechanization of modern society.

How Roland Herbert would have rejoiced in it! This thought must have been in the minds of many Old Scholars. When he was crafts master at Sibford R.H. carried out his work with a deep belief in all the values that were exemplified in this Exhibition. Further, he and Frank Parkin were among the originators of the plan for a Sibford Village Hall, believing that every community needs a centre and that Sibford especially needed one to bring together the various sections of School and village life in harmony. Neither of them lived to see the Hall, but it has already fulfilled all that they dreamed of.

The last words I ever exchanged with Howard Quinton were in this exhibition. He was delighted with it, and was evidently thinking along the lines I have expressed above. As a former Sibford art master he, too, was very conscious of the standards we imply when we talk of good craftsmanship. The ironwork shown by the Shutford blacksmith, the rush-stools made by a Sibford farmer, the well-made woodwork and the imaginative art from the Friends School—such things came together in Sibford's delightful new hall, and, as one visitor said, they "had no idea so many people were so good at so many skills."

CAREERS IN INSURANCE

In this modern age no prudent individual or business organization can afford to ignore the consequences of misfortune or disaster. The whole world has become increasingly conscious of the need for the protection which Insurance provides, and this large and prosperous industry is expanding rapidly.

OPPORTUNITY FOR A CAREER: High in the ranks of the leading Offices stands the FRIENDS' PROVIDENT & CENTURY INSURANCE OFFICES who, in recent years, have met an increasing share of this growing demand for Insurance. The organization continues to develop throughout the world, and there is ample opportunity for ambitious young men to find profitable and worth-while careers on the Staff of the Offices, at home and overseas.

TRAINING: Adequate training facilities are provided to assist in ultimate qualification for the most senior positions. Each man on entry is placed with regard to his particular ability and inclinations, and individual training is given either in London or at Branches in the main provincial cities.

EDUCATIONAL REQUIREMENTS: The minimum standard is at least four passes in G.C.E. (O) or the Scottish Leaving Certificate (English Language, Mathematics and two other subjects), and trainees are recruited from men up to the age of 25 from Grammar and Public Schools and Universities.

PROSPECTS: Trainees receive full remuneration throughout the period of training. There are many fine opportunities for advancement with the Offices, and those who make satisfactory progress can look forward to earning substantial salaries in responsible positions while still comparatively young.

Under the Two Elms

London Branch. January 4th. The London Branch met at Campbell Hall Taviton Street for the A.G.M. and reunion. Tea and cakes were provided on arrival, after which Roger Pattison organized games for those who felt energetic enough to join in, needless to say the number of players diminished after a very acceptable supper. "Rockets" at 10.30 brought the gathering 32 OS to a close. Please note 177 notices were sent out for this reunion, and very few OS replied. Please show your interest in OS by answering any notices of gatherings, etc., sent to you. March 29th was to have been a day for a coach trip to Sibford to play hockey, but this unfortunately had to be cancelled through an outbreak of mumps at the School, needless to say the pupils were sent home early for Easter.

July 6th was the annual Cricket Match at Jordans. The team was captained by John Coxon from Birmingham, who together with his wife and family, Frank Rollet, Jeanne and Allan Little and daughter, joined the London Branch in a very pleasant day. The OS won by 15 runs.—JOHN CANHAM.

Sibford Branch. The Sibford Branch activities have followed much the same pattern as the previous year. Six evening meetings were held during the winter months, most of which were well attended. We had a considerable variety of entertainment from the ever successful New Years Eve Party, to a lecture by Leslie Thomas on Press and Public and a debate on women's careers.

This year will find us once more meeting on the second Thursday of the month from October to March and any Old Scholars who are in the district will be very welcome.—P. B. FLINN.

Birmingham Branch. This year we have only had two gatherings. The New Year Party held on January 4th, at the Wesley Hill Village Hall, was disappointing from the attendance point of view, only 24 turning up. We all joined in games arranged by Stan Ewan and enjoyed ourselves, but with such small numbers it was impossible to break even financially.

The second activity was a theatre party at the Repertory Theatre on February 8th, where we filled eighteen seats in the stalls and enjoyed a Christmas play in greater comfort than in previous years.—J. OSBOURNE.

* * *

Greetings were received from Margaret Rundle and Doreen Hyde (née Bishop) who were enjoying a reunion after 22 years, Doreen who is living with her husband and family in Raymond, welcomed Margaret, who was travelling back to Britain after a year's exchange teaching in British Columbia.

* * *

Vivian and Hetty Lamb have a son, John Millard.

Martin Dodsworth was married on January 25th, 1958, to Dorothy Worsdell at Manchester.

* * *

Margaret Green (née Kissack) was married on February 1st, 1958, to Andrew Fairnington.

* * *

Anne Gilmour has passed her S.R.N. examination, and Patricia is still at Bedford College of Physical Education.

* * *

Clair Southwell was married on December 28th, 1957, to John F. Smith.

HOWARD QUINTON

It is with the deepest regret that we have to record the untimely passing of one of the most popular, talented, and unassuming of Old Scholars; one who has done much vital and devoted work for our Association, of which he was an Honorary Life Member.

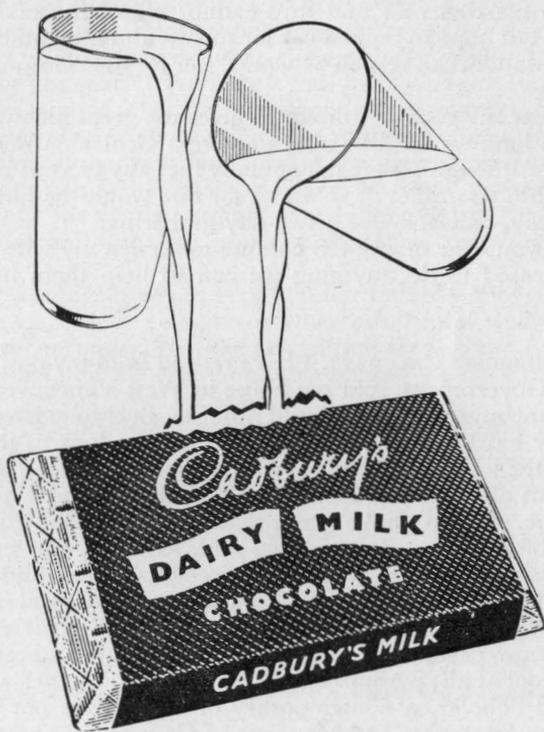

Born in 1902, Howard Quinton, after a short illness, died on June 26th, 1958. And so is broken the almost legendary band of five Quinton brothers.

His versatility was such as to make a brief notice difficult—from being a fine violin, saxophone and string bass player (he possessed one of the world's best basses given him in recognition of talent by a Hallé musician), to an outstanding footballer, hockey and tennis player and golfer: from a F.R.S.A., M.Coll.H., Honours degree handicraft teacher, to being Windsor's first Labour Councillor. He was the age-long illustrator of Sibford Magazine and designer of the SOSA badge; was known in Windsor as "Say It With Flowers Quinton" for he was instrumental in getting permanent floral adornments on the Borough's traffic islands and lamp posts. And then, believe it or not, he was the prime instigator in the move to make Windsor, of all places, a Royal Borough. (Incidentally, he was known personally by the Queen Mother.) He was the longest serving President of SOSA (through war-time restriction on Reunions), and a very live Secretary from 1934 to 1938, ably helped by his wife Doris as Assistant Secretary.

In 1925 Howard was appointed Art Master at Sibford, remaining for three and a half years, during which time he wooed and married the charming Music Mistress, Doris Horton. This happy marriage produced daughters Loraine and June. Many years at Rotherham Grammar School preceded his final appointment in like capacity at Windsor G.S. Came the onerous war years and the long illness and death of Doris in 1947. The following year Howard married the P.T. mistress of his school, Margaret Turner, and this devoted couple had one daughter, Linda.

Our Association has lost one of its greatest servants, and many of us a very dear friend.

Old Scholars Abroad

From CHRIS LITTLE. I have lived in Kenya for just over ten years and have no inclination or intention to return to England except on holiday. I have been able to indulge in my hobby of motor racing and in 1956 was champion driver winning all my championship races, both speed, hill climbs and finishing fourth in our "Coronation Safari" rally which is a 3,000 mile affair, over some terrible roads with average speeds overall of about 42 m.p.h. I also managed fourth in my class again this year. I am married now and thus cannot afford the luxury of a real racing car, but hope to build a car for sprints and hill climbs, and now I have a reputation, can rely on a "works" car for the "Coronation Safari" each year.

Each year my copy of "Sibford" gives me great pleasure and I feel that before long we shall be able to have a Central African branch of the SOSA. Although I have not actually met any OS out here there are several within 600 miles or so and I for one would be happy to join a convoy to say, Salisbury for a two-day gathering.

Should you hear of any OS coming to Kenya my wife and I would be very pleased to do anything we can to help them in or through Nairobi.

* * *

From HERBERT CALCRAFT. I have retired from my position with the Canadian Government, sold my house in West Vancouver and moved here on Vancouver Island to build a house. Everyone is very busy and help is very hard to obtain so it is beginning to look as though I may have to do the job single-handed (with an occasional assistance from my wife). About all I have so far is a hole in the ground where the basement will be. (I didn't have to dig that by hand, thank goodness.)

The Sibford report duly arrived and, as usual, was most welcome and interesting. As the years go on I recognize fewer and fewer of the people mentioned, but that, of course, is the natural result of the passage of time. The School buildings, too, and their surroundings, would by now be entirely strange to me—I haven't seen any of the "New" school at all; perhaps I may manage to do so before too long.

An Old Scholar, a contemporary of mine, lives not too far from here; Harry Simms is City Manager of Courtenay, about eight miles away. His sister, Dorothy (Mrs. Porritt), was also at School with me; she lives at Port Alberni, some 70 miles or so from here. I haven't seen her since moving over here, but did visit briefly last summer. A somewhat odd coincidence is that my wife was quite well acquainted with her husband a number of years ago.

From JENNIFER WILSON. It is four months now since our cabin steward pulled us out of our bunks to look at Fremantle, lying peacefully in the sunrise, and where we are now living it is still very peaceful, and very sunny most of the time. We have a Housing Trust Bungalow, pale green timber board with corrugated iron roof, like many more houses around, but there are many pastel colours used for outside.

We have also a generous piece of garden, and have planted a wide range of trees etc.; almond, apricot, nectarine, peach, fig, vines, quince, lemon, orange, mandarin, grapefruit, passion fruit, and a wattle (not edible!) They will need a lot of watering in the hot dry summer that is promised us, and two garden taps are provided.

A clothes hoist, or circular wire dryer, graces our lawn. It spins round in the wind when loaded.

Adelaide is a very English-looking town, except that in many suburbs shops have a sort of roofing coming over the pavement to protect from the sun, rather like a ranch town in a cowboy film. Buses have three doors, and instead of other notices, have inside "Children must not stand on the seats"! We have a half-hourly service into town, being out near the beautiful Mt. Lofty ranges that lie behind the city.

Every morning at about 5 a.m. the milkman comes, and soon afterwards a plop on the front lawn means the newspaper is waiting for us, too. A motor car dashes past, and these heavy rolled-up papers come flying through the air, wet or fine. Also different from "back home", the letters are popped into little boxes on the fence, and the postboy blows a whistle.

But most things here are very familiar indeed—the women's magazines from England are sold everywhere, and most wellknown brands of food and chocolates, etc. We are getting used to the Australian way of talking now, and its quite funny to be told we have the accent, not them!

Friends in Adelaide Meeting have made us warmly welcome, and altogether our first, superficial impressions are very happy ones.

On the debit side are 6-inch long red shrimpy centipedes in the garden, that's all!
