EDITORIAL

We would like to thank all Old Scholars for their promptness in sending in their articles, especially as we have had difficulty doing the magazine this year, one of us having a sick child to nurse, and the other decorating and furnishing her new home.

It is with regret that we have to announce the death of James Thorpe who was a greatly admired teacher at Sibford for 18 years. Many of you will remember the first General Meeting after he took over the woodwork classes and the great success of the exhibition, or the science classes which he took over by request and the interest he aroused in all his pupils. Not only was he admired by the academic pupils but by the sportsmen too, for he was a keen cricket and hockey player and took a large share in organizing the annual athletic sports as well. The Sibford film owes much of its success to him.

The thanks of all Old Scholars will undoubtedly go to John Coxon and Louis Wright for their long service as Secretary and Membership Secretary respectively; if John tackles his new post as successfully as he did the Secretaryship, no one will have cause to complain.

We are extremely pleased to have received so many interesting letters from Old Scholars abroad this year; we hope that this has come to stay because the magazine is a medium through which we all hear the news of Old Scholars who may never be able to return to Sibford.

We would like to thank Philip Morris for his excellent line drawings, and to wish him and Rosamund Flinn happiness in their life together.

As you will see, the new houses are being started at the school for which some more money is needed. We hope that with a bit of "Friendly Persuasion" you will be able to help.

It is hoped that some Old Scholars will be able to make a start on the James Harrod Memorial Pavilion in January, weather permitting! We hear that the plans have again been altered since the last reunion, as with the new houses, Old Scholars will have little need to use it, and as we understood from the original appeal that the Pavilion was to serve a purpose for the School and the Old Scholars this seems rather a pity, in view of Mr. Harrod's interest in both organizations.

Your committee has tried to change the programme for the weekend this year in the hope that it might encourage more Old Scholars back to the reunion, as the numbers are gradually diminishing. Only about a quarter of you are attending the Reunions and even less are supporting the Local Branches. What your Committee want to know is WHY IS THIS HAPPENING? Have you lost your interest in Sibford, which seems highly improbable, as you presumably would not continue to pay your subscriptions, is it too expensive, or are the programmes lacking in interest? Please write to us and let us have your views. A few letters and ideas put into the magazine might start the ball rolling and help to strengthen the Old Scholars Reunions and the Association.

We would also draw your attention to the list of Officers to whom to write for changes of address, etc. Some of these letters are going astray because they have to serve so many purposes. The Committee do their job voluntarily, and are not paid servants of the Old Scholars Association. Please give them as much help as you can.

REKINDLING THE SPIRIT OF SIBFORD

We left the great city behind at an ever increasing pace out into the splendid countryside. This particular journey was all the more exciting for our destination was to be Sibford.

The problem uppermost in our minds was whether we would be able to recapture that spirit which is Sibford. As our car passed through the familiar villages and landmarks, we knew then that the spirit was already with us, it just needed a little rekindling.

At last we were entering the "Gower", and on to the "Ferris" and finally "The Hill". As was to be expected there were very few Old Scholars about at this time, and as we knew that it was likely to be a hectic weekend, it was pleasant to reflect upon the peace of the countryside, and the changes that were taking place in and around the school.

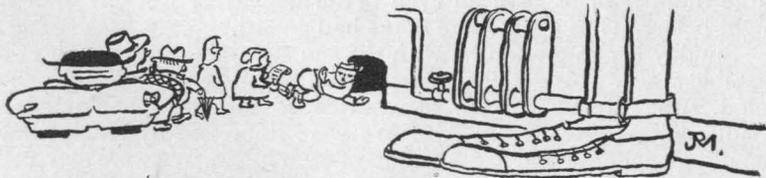

Soon however, we were under way. While refreshments were served the Committee retired in secret to discuss the many outstanding problems that a Committee always seems to be dogged with. Afterwards the few Old Scholars who had arrived replenished their organisms with hot soup for the first symbolic trek to the Elm. The first ritual of the weekend was carried out to perfection despite the small numbers, which was enhanced by the determined efforts of the Treasurer to emulate the top singer of "My Fair Lady".

Saturday dawned bright, clear and invigorating. One Old Scholar remarked that it must be something unusual in the air around Sibford that makes us go to bed so late and rise so early!

Breakfast was signified by the rude clanging of a bell, and with a great stampede to the dining room, the meal was quickly devoured!

On the entry of the President into our midst, there was a deafening uproar of applause, catcalling, etc.! When order was restored Lewis told us that he had "Fed the baby and the pigs" and declared the "Gathering gathered". After breakfast the first major item was the "pedestrians" treasure hunt. Those who competed were given a clue as to the direction they should take, and promptly set out, looking for further clues (no doubt with childhood images of pots of gold!)

The route started off down the familiar lane to Oddies' field; across the field where enormous fun was had, scampering under hedgerows for clues—and on to the next port of call—inevitably the Meeting House. While passing through the "Gower" some Old Scholars tried to hijack Henry Poulton's horse and trap, but he galloped off at a brisk pace declaring he was "having none of that here".

—The Committee retired in secret—

— Trying to find long lost treasure —

Finally we had to negotiate the ever formidable Mannings Hill and then a brisk walk to the Elm, wending our way to the finishing point at the Paddock. The first back were two of the younger old Scholars—David Smith and Peter Rann.

By now, more old Scholars were pouring into Sibford, and very soon many clusters of excited long lost friends were exchanging views on that ageless rostrum of speech—the “Prom”.

After dinner we made our way to the “Hill” where the traditional cricket match was to be played. The beginning was held up by what we now look upon as another tradition—RAIN! However, this did not last long, and soon the sun shone brightly down upon Lewis Poulton and his men, who gave the Village a sound thrashing.

Highlights of the game were the brilliant all round displays of Angus Abercrombie, Martyn Edwards, and Don Ryan, well assisted with a fine unbeaten innings by Alan Roberts. (It was nice to see the President score as well!) Old Scholars won by 52 runs.

Meanwhile the Tennis and Table Tennis Tournament had begun, and those Old Scholars who were not engaged in vigorous pastimes, spent a happy afternoon reminiscing and drinking tea.

After a pleasant supper came the Presidential address. Lewis Poulton gave us a fine and witty address about the history and ties of Sibford village.

The address was followed by a reunion and social organized by the local branches. This was well attended and Old Scholars enjoyed the traditional frivolities that a social evening offers.

After some hectic games, we cooled off with a hot mug of soup (?). After energy had been restored, we made our way to The Elm, there a large number of us gave an even better display of Rockets than the night before. Thus a few more hours had passed.

Sunday began gloriously, with the sun streaming in through every possible crack. This excellent start naturally put us in a good frame of mind. After breakfast a few of us attended the ever popular choral (Sadly empty without “A. J.”). We were impressed by Hugh Maw’s handling of choral, and explanations of each hymn. We were extremely pleased he could take choral at all, for he broke into his holiday to be with us—a noble gesture.

After choral, many walked the old familiar ways, to Meeting for Worship; a place where so many have found inspiration and a rekindling of the spirit of Sibford. This year was no exception; we heard many sincere messages centred around what we might put into Sibford, and not—as present-day standards would have us believe—take out of it.

The afternoon Picnic, held at Swalcliffe Lea, was a great success, with glorious sunshine bathing the scene, and the sight of the fire and boiling water making us feel extremely hot and thirsty!

During the Picnic, Leslie Baily and Hugh Maw told us of recent excavations that had been going on locally, and which had unearthed the foundations of a Roman Villa. After the picnic, we visited this site, and soon many were having enormous fun digging and bustling about the remains of the Roman Empire, trying to find long-lost treasures. (Little success however, except for a small bronze clip.)

We returned to Sibford in time for evening meeting, and an old friend of Sibford, Margaret Baker, gave the evening address.

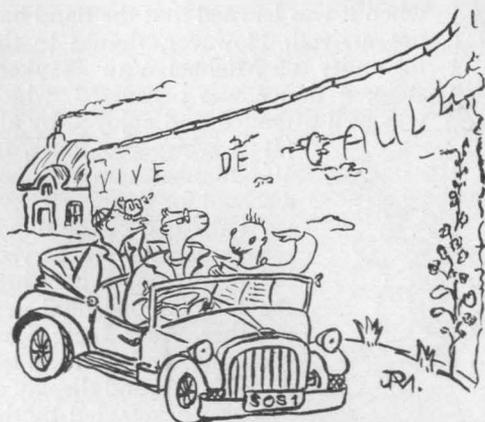

The next item was supper. Afterwards we returned to the "Hill" where we made our way to the Business Meeting. It was encouraging to see the Hall filled—an unusual occurrence for this important event!

The Meeting itself lasted four and a half hours, (Rumoured as being somewhat of a record!), and was, as most agreed, very exciting and stormy. Tributes were paid to two dearly loved Old Scholars, A. J. and Howard Quinton. We stood in silence for a few moments to their memory. The Meeting finally ended at eleven-forty!

Afterwards a few of us visited the Elm, despite heavy rain which spoils an otherwise perfect day.

Bank Holiday Monday started brightly, and we all had hopes that the sun would stay with us. The major event of the day was the Grand Motor Treasure Hunt, organized once more and very competently by Louis Wright. (It is rumoured that there was somebody painting white lines on the games field in the early hours of the morning.)

This event was well supported and most cars were filled to capacity.

— Searched blank walls for inscriptions —

In the many villages that we passed through, inhabitants looked on in amazement as we searched blank walls for inscriptions, and stood in the middle of the highway counting fir trees! One Old Scholar (name not supplied) while passing through a certain village, shouted after the locals—"It is all right, we are mad." We did not stop for the reply!

Brian Hooper was the winner, having gained the least number of points.

Dinner was heavily bolstered, as always, by the "Day Trippers", and afterwards, both Tennis Tournaments continued.

Out on the field, the big attraction was the organization of a six-a-side cricket competition, between the local villages. Old Scholars entered a team, but we did not fare so well as Saturday's team; still it was exciting while it lasted.

While all the field games were taking place, many found it cooler to join in the fun of the swimming gala. Much fun was had in one particular item, where the idea was to knock the opponent off a bar—spanning the water—with cushions. Some of the contestants ended up in very undignified positions in the water.

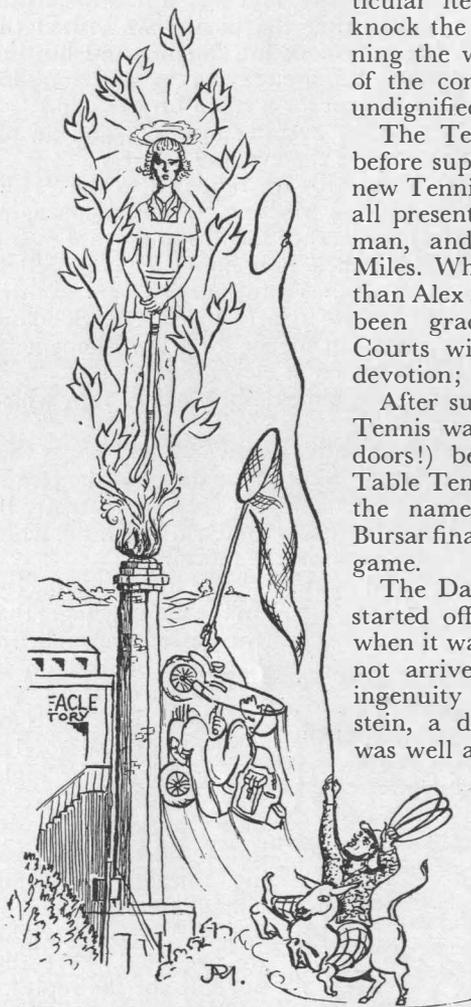

The Tennis finals were played off before supper so that the award of the new Tennis Cup could be witnessed by all present. It was won by Alex Norman, and his young partner Peter Miles. Who more fitting to receive it than Alex after all the years that he has been gracing the Paddock Tennis Courts with his skilful displays and devotion; this indeed is a just reward.

After supper the final of the Table Tennis was played off (behind locked doors!) between the Bursar and the Table Tennis organizer (A stranger by the name of Frank Rollett!). The Bursar finally won an exciting and close game.

The Dance that had been planned started off as a disappointment to us, when it was learned that the Band had not arrived. However, thanks to the ingenuity of Michael Van Blankenstein, a dance was organized, which was well attended and enjoyed by all.

(It is whispered that Mr. Van Blankenstein is to open a school for dancing!)

At the end of the dance refreshments were served, before we trooped back into the hall for our final get-together. Auld Lang Syne was sung, and we rounded off with a grand display of indoor Rockets, led by the evergreen Arnold Kaye. A — Recapture that spirit which is Sibford — few stalwarts advanced once more, on the Elm, for a last display.

Tuesday arrived and that sad departure time. Old Scholars departed on their numerous ways, while just a few remained behind to clear up, efficiently done as always.

Had we Re-kindled the flame? Yes, of course, or else we would not be Sibfordians, with that inward spirit we know can never be lost.

MICHAEL FINCH.

Our President, 1959-60

Vera Robinson Roe was born on March 19th, 1914, and attended a private school prior to going to Sibford in 1926.

Whilst she was an average pupil, academically speaking, her "forte" was more in the field of sport and practical work, being Captain of the Cricket and Hockey, Sports Champion and Captain of her Guild. On leaving Sibford in 1930 she worked on a farm in Wales to gain—as she calls it—experience; this adventure lasted for a year, because in 1931 she returned home to help her mother in her business. About this time she found other interests in the Young Friends, and played hockey for Swarthmore Hockey Club and became match secretary and skipper, she also had the honour to play for her County. She voluntarily helped at the local Carnegie Welfare centre, attending classes in handicrafts, and is a great lover of music.

In 1935 she joined the Aston Unity Club, and it was here that she met Frank. On April 1st (believe it or not) Frank and Vera were married at Bull Street Meeting House, Birmingham.

With the coming of the war Frank volunteered with the R.A.F. and Vera then found herself helping her sister with what was then known as "War Vics", which as the name implies there were mostly old folk who had been forced to leave their homes in East London, and who were cared for at disused Meeting Houses and school rooms. This service later developed into First Aid and Ambulance work in Civil Defence, and working at the Council House for the Public Assistance Committee. An Ackworth Old Scholar and herself also started a girls' club in the Nechells area.

In 1944 Jackie was born and two years later Loraine arrived, both children are now at Sibford.

In 1947 with the war at an end Frank was demobilized and he took over the family business from which, by now, his father had retired. In this, since 1950 Vera has done the clerical work, but is still able to find the time for things that interest her. She is a Member of the Birmingham Council for African Affairs and is called upon frequently to help the Committee for Aston Unity Cricket Club, again helping on the social side. She is a committee member of the U.N.A. and lastly, but by no means least she is Clerk and an Overseer of her own Meeting.

Annual General Meeting

Minutes of the Annual General Meeting held at Sibford on Sunday, August 2nd, 1959.

Present: The President, Lewis Poulton in Chair; John Coxon, Secretary; John Taylor, Treasurer. Approximately 100 Old Scholars present.

1. The President spoke of the great loss to our Association in the passing of Arthur Johnstone and Howard Quinton, also of an old master of the school, James Thorpe, and Old Scholars remembered these friends of the school in silence.

2. The minutes of the last Annual General Meeting printed in the Magazine were taken as read, agreed and signed.

3. John Taylor as Treasurer presented the Accounts for the year ended December 31st, 1958. These showed a deficit of £66 for the year. A profit of £22 5s. 9d. had been made on the 1958 Reunion. It was proposed by Frederick Carlton-Smith, seconded by Arthur Harrison, that the accounts for the year ended December 31st, 1958, be accepted and this was agreed.

4. The President informed the meeting of the desire of the Committee to amend one of the rules, namely Rule 7 dealing with subscriptions, but before this could even be discussed, under Rule 11 a two-thirds majority of the meeting agreeing to the discussion must be obtained. Patrick Flinn proposed, Don Ryan seconded that the matter of subscriptions should be discussed and it was carried. The Treasurer reported that it had, in the opinion of the Committee, become necessary to increase subscriptions and proposed that as from the 1st January, 1960, the minimum annual subscription should be 10s. and Life Membership £10 10s. Louis Wright seconded this proposal. Then followed a lengthy discussion and the Treasurer explained that previous notice could not have been given as the annual accounts were only just available. It was essential to put something back into the reserve fund and to do this subscriptions must be increased. The cost of the magazine alone was about 5s. 6d. per copy so that the present subscription was inadequate. Some Old Scholars felt that the increase should be by a lesser amount and finally three amendments to the Resolution were put to the meeting: Tom Long proposed, John Ward seconded, that Old Scholars under 21 should pay 5s. and those over 21, 10s. Lionel Geering proposed, Janet Manasseh seconded, that the annual subscription should remain unaltered but that the magazine should be paid for. Alfred Holland proposed, Wilfred Pollard seconded that students only should pay at a lower rate. The original Resolution and the amendments were then voted upon and the Resolution that the annual subscription should be 10s. and Life Membership £10 10s. as from January 1st, 1960, was carried.

5. The Headmaster, Hugh Maw, was thanked for returning from holiday to be with us at our Reunion. He then gave a report on the school activities and mentioned in particular the many improvements to the school buildings and gardens and of the proposals for new dormitory houses for boys which should be finished by next year. This would leave the Hill building entirely for teaching. The aim was to have smaller units within the school with the children having their own form and house master or mistress, and thus increase the family feeling. A General Inspection had been made of the school by the authorities, and their suggestions acted upon. (A full report of the School Year will be found elsewhere in this magazine.)

6. The President then read greetings from absent Old Scholars, including Edith Lamb from Australia and Elizabeth Foster-Brown.

7. Alfred Holland gave a report on the Mabel Harrod Fund. There had been three applications during the past year, one had not been proceeded with, one was under discussion and the third was from David Tomlinson who was leading a party of young Friends to Poland. The fund stood at £607 and more applications were required.

8. Louis Wright as Membership Secretary stated he really had nothing to report except his retirement from the office he had held for so long. Michael Van Blankenstein expressed the thanks of all Old Scholars for the great service Louis Wright had given to the Association.

9. Miriam Carter, one of the Association's representatives on the School Committee, reported that the functions of the Committee were changing. There was to be one general purposes Committee to meet twice a term to deal with most matters. The whole Committee would meet once a term. The Committee would like more Old Scholars to take part in school life as teachers or on the staff.

10. John Coxon spoke on the James Harrod Memorial Fund and reported that the proposed design by Jack Lewis for the pavilion had now been accepted by the School Committee. The plans were on view over the week-end. It was hoped that the pavilion would be erected during next summer. It would be of oiled cedar wood. Approximately £1,170 would be spent, of which £1,025 had been collected.

11. John Coxon as Secretary then reported that the dates of future Reunions were still under discussion. Catering at Whitsuntide was still very difficult. The next Reunion would be at Easter week-end 1960. In 1961 the Reunion, we hoped, would be at August, and in 1962 it was hoped that with the new buildings which would then be erected it would be possible to have a Whitsuntide Reunion. He expressed the concern of the Committee at the lack of young Old Scholars. George Hutchinson was to be the new Clerk to the School Committee. It had been decided that as there was now so much more work in the running of the Association the office of Secretary should be split into two parts, General Secretary and Re-union Secretary. As it was known that John did not wish to be re-appointed as Secretary, the thanks of all Old Scholars were expressed for the splendid work he had done for the Association for so many years.

12. As provided by Rule 2 the following officers were elected for three years:

General Secretary: Lilian Ward; Re-union Secretary: Malcolm Rudlin; Treasurer: John Taylor; Editor: Beryl Wright; Membership Secretary: John Coxon; Advertising Manager: Geoffrey Moore; Photographs: Patrick Flinn; Colours Secretary; Michael Finch; Resident Officers: Alfred Holland and Miriam Carter; School Committee Representatives: John Coxon and Louis Wright; Auditor: Martyn

Edwards; Frank Rollett and Michael Van Blankenstein retired at the end of their term of office and Loraine Brown and Derek Gaffee were elected to the Committee for three years.

13. The President, Lewis Poulton, proposed Vera Rollett as President for the year 1959-60 and this was carried with applause.

14. The meeting was closed with a vote of thanks to the Chairman.

The Mabel Harrod Fund

During the year three applications for assistance have been received, all from old scholars.

The Trustees are pleased to be able to report that they have made a grant to David Tomlinson who is leading a party of young Friends to Poland. Later in the year a similar party of Polish young people will be visiting England.

Of the other applicants one is under consideration and one has not been proceeded with.

The Trustees would welcome more applications for assistance from this Fund.

The present balance on the Fund, held by Friends Trusts Limited, amounts to £589 18s. 9d.

A. J. HOLLAND.

Karlsruhe International Working Camp

When Anne, Elizabeth, my sister and I arrived in Karlsruhe we found we were to live in a modern kindergarten belonging to a national organization, the Arbeiterwohlfahrt. We slept in a dormitory with four German girls two of them University students, one a secretary and one still at school. The boys slept in a room below us. There were one French and three German University students, one Italian and two Dutch schoolboys. Our ages ranged from 16-26 years.

For many years the Welfare Office has arranged holiday centres for children aged 6-14 years. The sport and playgrounds are in the Hardt Forest north of the town. The organizing bodies are the Evangelical Church (Vicar—Herr Pfarrer Kappes) and the Workers' Welfare Office of Karlsruhe (represented by Frau Landgraf).

Elizabeth and my sister worked at the Arbeiterwohlfahrt playground run by Frau Landgraf and Anne and I worked at the Evangelical camp run by Herr Kappes, which was farther in the forest.

The Evangelical was called the Gustav Jacob Waldheim after the founder Gustav Jacob. It was situated in a pine-tree-studded glade in the forest and was about a quarter of a mile from the main road. The main buildings consisted of the kitchen, a dining-room for about 250 of the children and the cloakrooms. At the other side of the clearing were two more huts, one for the boys and one for the younger girls. A piece of ground was used for a church and Herr Kappes took morning service each day.

There were approximately 500 children at the Waldheim and they all came from the poorer quarters and the refugee camps. The children were brought to the camp by coaches and taken home again in the evening. The cost per child was 40 marks for the month's duration of the camp. The children were divided into groups of about 15-20, these groups being in charge of students who were in their first year of kindergarten training.

Anne helped with the ten-year-old boys and I helped Tante Gudrun, who was able to speak a little English, with the ten-year-old girls. I was called Tante Erika as the children found Heather impossible to pronounce. Each group had a name, a flag and a song. My group was called "Schnarken", a very appropriate name as it seemed all the midges in the world had congregated in the Karlsruhe woods! The flag was presented to the group by Herr Kappes after the morning service and they then sang their song in front of the assembly. Each group had a special corner in the grounds where they played games, etc.

The general programme for the day at the camp was as follows:—

9 a.m. Breakfast; 9.30 Service; 10-12 Play; 12 p.m. Lunch; 12.30-3 p.m. Rest; 3 p.m. Coffee or tea and bread and jam; 3.30-5.30 Walk in woods; 5.30 Supper; 6 p.m. Home.

The food was very starchy being chiefly bread, potatoes and noodles; not once did the children have any milk, nor did they have meat or fruit, and green vegetables only about once each week. Despite this they all seemed healthy, though many had bad teeth, doubtless due to this diet.

The language was the greatest difficulty, but the children seemed eager to help me and also to learn English themselves. I soon learnt the essential phrases (e.g. "Bleibruhig", "Aufstellen", etc.) and by the end of the three weeks I could manage some simple sentences. It was a case of having to!

The girls in my group seemed younger in outlook than English girls of the same age. They were content to play singing games, whereas I think English girls would rather be doing something creative.

At the weekends there were organized trips into the Black Forest, up the Rhine and to Heidelberg. The first week-end we went to Heidelberg and visited the seventeenth century castle, which had been badly damaged in a war with France. The next Sunday we went to Herrenalb in the Black Forest and then climbed through the pine woods to the Teufelsmuhle, 900 metres high. It was a mill on the summit of a mountain and from the top of the mill could be seen a wonderful view of the surrounding country. The next Saturday all the other Tanten and Onkel from the Arbeiterwolfhart went with us for a sightseeing tour round Karlsruhe. This is the chief city of the governmental district of Nordbaden and is very large and industrial. It was badly bombed during the war, consequently many new and attractive buildings have been erected. We then went for a trip on the Rhine. The surrounding countryside was flat and uninteresting but mountains could be seen in the distance. On the Sunday we all went for a coach trip through the Black Forest, visiting Baden Baden where we saw the Roman Baths and the castle belonging to the Dukes of Baden, we went through the Black Forest stopping at small mountain-side villages for lunch and tea. The country was very lovely.

We were twice invited to the home of Herr Kappes for supper. On the second occasion he showed us lantern slides of Palestine. In the early 1930's he was persecuted by the Nazis and fled to Palestine, where he lived for fourteen years.

Another evening we were invited to an ultra-modern Jugendheim, a Youth Club-cum-Technical School. The Press were also in attendance as it was a unique occasion.

As a parting gift we were all presented with an interesting book about Karlsruhe from the Town Council.

All in all we had a very enjoyable time and it was a very interesting experience.

Birmingham Branch. This has been an extremely disappointing year. We tried to stimulate more interest early on with a Circular, but although 74 were sent out, only 23 were answered. However, a party of us went to Stratford Theatre in November, and we hope to arrange more Social Outings later.

We have introduced a 2s. 6d. yearly subscription so that we can cover ourselves for postage expenses, etc.—MICHAEL FINCH.

Sibford Branch. The activities have not been as well attended as in the past. This is in part due to the very heavy increase in other organized activities in the village which is having a bad effect on the attendances at the longer established organizations. At the annual meeting Arthur Salter was elected chairman, Arthur Harrison treasurer, and Margaret Turner assistant secretary. We held our usual New Year's Eve party and our monthly meetings in the autumn and winter. The only new venture was the "barbecue" and cricket match for the school leavers. This was held on the only wet evening of the summer, but despite this and my having burnt the soup we felt that it was the kind of event that we should repeat. The children seemed to enjoy themselves which was the main thing.—PATRICK FLINN.

London Branch. Unfortunately the London Branch have only managed to meet twice this year. The first gathering was at Campbell Hall in January for the A.G.M. and reunion and although numbers had diminished slightly on the previous year a good time was had by all. In July the annual cricket match was held at Jordans whose team severely beat the OS eleven.—JOHN CANHAM.

CAREERS IN INSURANCE

In this modern age no prudent individual or business organization can afford to ignore the consequences of misfortune or disaster. The whole world has become increasingly conscious of the need for the protection which Insurance provides, and this large and prosperous industry is expanding rapidly.

OPPORTUNITY FOR A CAREER: High in the ranks of the leading Offices stands the FRIENDS' PROVIDENT & CENTURY INSURANCE OFFICES who, in recent years, have met an increasing share of this growing demand for Insurance. The organization continues to develop throughout the world, and there is ample opportunity for ambitious young men to find profitable and worth-while careers on the Staff of the Offices, at home and overseas.

TRAINING: Adequate training facilities are provided to assist in ultimate qualification for the most senior positions. Each man on entry is placed with regard to his particular ability and inclinations, and individual training is given either in London or at Branches in the main provincial cities.

EDUCATIONAL REQUIREMENTS: The minimum standard is at least four passes in G.C.E. (O) or the Scottish Leaving Certificate (English Language, Mathematics and two other subjects), and trainees are recruited from men up to the age of 25 from Grammar and Public Schools and Universities.

PROSPECTS: Trainees receive full remuneration throughout the period of training. There are many fine opportunities for advancement with the Offices, and those who make satisfactory progress can look forward to earning substantial salaries in responsible positions while still comparatively young.

The School Year

A very great deal has happened to Sibford and at Sibford in the past year. One of the most precious features of the Sibford community is its friendliness. During the year we have had Africa and the colour question particularly in our minds. Into our community we received Nathan Luvai, an African friend on a visit from Kenya, and Joseph Kisia while at Woodbrooke. Few will forget the visit of Mr. Mufumba and Mr. Kikira, Education Officers from Uganda at Bristol University. or Tseliso Makhakhe, Basutoland Headmaster. Another memorable visit was from Andrianaly, a Friend Headmaster from Madagascar. All fitted in so easily and naturally. They all expressed amazement at the natural easy friendliness of Sibford children and at the endless questions that have been asked. We have also one coloured girl in the School who speaks with a broad Lancashire accent.

At week-ends we have had a fine succession of speakers, one outstanding Evening Meeting also was conducted entirely by the Prefects on the subject of Prayer.

There is no doubt that we have all found something, some experience from the community, but what have we given to it? In the way of service over seventy boys gave up some of their free time and volunteered to dig out the foundations for the new Recreation Room, and helped to level the new paved playground at the Hill. This was the start of the volunteer Estate gang (in place of any Cadet corps) which has now received a generous gift of £54 from Paul Cadbury to buy the necessary tools so that this work can continue. The younger ones especially have been busy recently constructing paths, removing walls and other jobs about the estate on Wednesday afternoons, and we hope a tradition will grow up.

After the usual G.C.E. exams, School exams, Life Saving Tests and so on, at the end of the Summer Term, the Vth Form paid Industrial visits to Stewart and Lloyds the great steel works at Corby, and more recently to Hams Hall Power Station and Pressed Steel, Oxford, and Banbury Hospital. There were also the usual visits to Stratford-on-Avon and Oxford and to local Historic buildings.

One of the great features for the boys has been the canoe camping holidays on the Wye. Thirty boys went to Switzerland for walking and climbing, and this summer there was an expedition to Italy, Venice and Rome. Tremendous organization also went into the running of a very fine School camp at Llangollen after the end of term. Staff, parents, Old Scholars, and the School Committee generously helped with time, money and equipment to make this a most successful and memorable experience and very valuable training in initiative.

Arthur Harrison took over the maintenance and is an example to everyone of quiet efficient service. The greenhouse has been moved and the garden and orchard replanned up behind the Hill. This has meant a better supply of vegetables. There is no doubt that the diet has improved, again thanks to an Old Scholar Rosamund Flinn.

We have been concerned to maintain high standards of health. Nearly the whole school and some of the Staff have had Polio injections. In common with many other schools up and down the country, we developed "Strep" throats and temperatures and the "bug" kept reappearing and often produced some complications. Sister Eynon Williams, who replaced Matron Cocorda at the new "San" at Holly House, was kept busy, but coped manfully with the assistance of Wendy Stone, another Old Scholar. At weekends Hilda Jenks, an Old Scholar from Birmingham, also helped to give Sister some time off. We have also started a system of regular Medical Inspections and Health Record Cards.

Leslie Baily has helped us again to start the Sunday afternoon walks for Juniors. These were at first compulsory, but with information and variety they became popular and voluntary. They finally linked up with assistance to and great interest in the finds of The Oxford University Archaeological group at Swalcliffe.

In February all the keenness for Music was concentrated in the first Gilbert and Sullivan production of "Trial by Jury". Staff and children combined to make it a memorable and most enjoyable performance.

In athletics our Cross Country team came third in all Oxfordshire and second in North Oxfordshire, as they did also recently in the North Oxfordshire Athletic Sports out of nine teams. One of our girls also represented the School in the all England School Sports gaining a fourth place in sprint events. The much improved swimming bath has been greatly enjoyed.

Much keenness on the Arts and Crafts side has gone into Mr. Rowntree's silver work, and also into the making of canoes. David Keates, when still only 15, walked away with the Sibford Cup at the Banbury Arts and Crafts Exhibition with a beautifully made writing cabinet.

The Vth Form worked hard and there is no doubt that the Prefects helped to create a new tone in the School. There is a considerable increase in self respect, courtesy and service. They will make grand Old Scholars of whom we shall be extremely proud. Great progress has been made but we are all aware that there is still a lot more to be done and of course we need money. Inevitably fees have to go up, and to quote a truism from the Reader's Digest: "Many of our most expensive ideas get nipped in the Budget." It is exciting and encouraging to see what is being achieved. We must all work hard to increase the size of the school and keep it full; to increase the amenities and to carry out the task that is before us. It takes more than bricks and mortar and daily events to make a school and a community and an atmosphere. It is not so much what happens as how it happens, and the spirit of the people in the School. "There is more to the growth of the Christian Community than the thoughts and plans of men. The source lies beyond us: and we shall need to let Him work on us and through us in our prayers. A Christian School is one that is prayed for and prayed in and from these roots, deep and unperceived, the tree and its fruit take their miraculous rise."

School Committee

This year a General Purposes Committee has replaced some of the former Sub-Committees so that urgent matters which may arise may be dealt with at once and then reported to the General Committee which meets once each term. This has been found to expedite business and make for more efficient working of the Committee.

One of the special concerns of the Committee this year has been the School Houses, and it was a proud day for Committee, scholars and friends when in October the Mayor of Banbury, Miss Bastin (who had played hockey against the School in her youth) dug the first sod for the foundations of the first house, and it is hoped to have it ready for occupation by the beginning of the autumn term. Other improvements and repairs to existing buildings (especially at the old school, which is now usually called "The Manor House") occupy much time and thought, and the Committee has constantly in mind not merely the welfare and education of the children, but the amenities for both teaching and domestic staff, and vast improvements have been made in both during recent years with the help of our Bursar.

As this is the last report I shall write, I would like to express my appreciation of the privilege of representing Old Scholars on the Committee. Your choice of John Coxon to take my place is excellent. He will bring to the work not only business experience which will be an asset to the Committee, but a keen interest in all that concerns the School which will also serve the cause of the S.O.S.A.

MIRIAM CARTER.

Friendly Persuasion

We're all middle class now. We've never had it so good. Super Mac says so. And so do the ad-men.

What is Quakerism worth in our telly-society? Is it worth a cheque?

If Sibford is to maintain those deeper values we all say we believe in, it must be able to compete with the State, and with private schools far more richly endowed. There is no alternative.

So this is a preliminary appeal to all Old Scholars to help reconstruct The Hill, and build two dormitory houses for boys. That is the immediate aim. Forty boys will live in each of the two houses, each with a housemaster and his family, and an unmarried assistant master. Each will have a common room and homely dormitories. The accommodation thus released at The Hill will provide more classrooms and better facilities for music, art and metalwork.

All this will cost £50,000. The Edward Cadbury Trust has already given £20,000, and the Barrow Cadbury Fund £10,000. The School has £10,000 in hand or promised. This leaves £10,000. And this is the challenge we have to meet if we believe what we say.

A third dormitory house is envisaged, for the School Committee believes that economics demands up to 250 children. But more of that in the more detailed appeal which is being prepared. Meanwhile we want that £10,000.

A 1960 Rally

Sibford School once again faces a milestone in its history, and has again, as in 1930, to take some momentous decisions.

As you will have seen the School Committee have consented to the erection of the first two of the three Dormitory Houses. This will enable the School eventually to increase to 240 boarders, and to provide extra classrooms and craftrooms at "The Hill", giving wider education and better amenities without having to put up the School fees to an unrealistic figure, and so price themselves out of the market.

This scheme has the support of one or two Quaker Trusts, and much of the money is forthcoming, but there is still a lot more required. Are you prepared to help, or would you rather see Sibford close down? Of course you would not. Well, there are several ways in which you can help:

(1) By praying that those who have accepted this responsibility will not fail in their efforts.

(2) To send as large a donation as you possibly can, or better still, take out a covenant. I have yet to meet the person who likes paying taxes, but all of us like to get some of this back. By signing a covenant for seven years, you can do just this.

(3) By advertising the School to all your friends, especially those who have eligible children. Tell them how much you enjoyed your life at Sibford, and above all point out to them the one great asset that Sibford has over all State Schools. Their children will be taught to be good citizens, to lead a good healthy life, to help each other in times of trouble, to think and act for themselves, to meet all types of people in all walks of life, and have a love of Truth and Christianity, which is sorely needed in the world today.

Hugh Maw in his report to the School Committee said that 75 per cent of last year's fifth form were children who had not taken or passed the 11 plus, yet when they left Sibford, out of 280 subjects taken there were 140 passes and 50 per cent got a good G.C.E. enabling them to qualify for Grammar School courses; this is surely overwhelming proof that Sibford is worth while.

A boarding school such as Sibford, teaching a wide range of subjects in small classes, can no longer be run on the cheap; cost of living, teachers salaries and so on make that quite obvious. Sibford MUST therefore come to be first choice for parents because of its merits—it will be desired because it has good buildings, stimulating teachers, and of course the Oxfordshire countryside, which we all love. Sibford is "off the map" and therefore is not surrounded by factories or suburban development. Put Sibford on the map "in people's minds".

SIBFORD

WELCOMED

Presidential Address

When at the last Gathering you so kindly chose me to be your President, I was told that in doing so the Association wished to show its appreciation of my efforts as your Billeting Officer in years gone by. Now I assure you no such thanks were called for, or expected, I had simply done my best as was my duty, having taken on the job, but it is indeed an honour I very greatly appreciate. Whilst I feel I have never done anything to warrant it I look on it as a token of your thanks, not so much to me personally, as to the people of Sibford, who, over the years, have opened their homes to Old Scholars at the Annual Reunion. And it is for that reason I am prepared to stand here and undergo the ordeal of reading this address!

Those of you who are connected with farming will know that in almost every litter of pigs there is one smaller than the rest which is known as the "Dilling". Having read the list of Past Presidents and glancing at those on the Platform behind me, I realize I shall from now on be the "Dilling" of that imposing company. I should add, however, that the little pig is a great nuisance and often very noisy, upsetting the rest of the litter. That too may be said of Yours Truly and before I have finished you will probably wish you had followed the custom of some farmers who destroy it at birth.

Having got over the excitement of being appointed President I suddenly realized I had to give this address! What should I talk about? I looked at past addresses, they were all so good, I got even more scared; but whilst doing so the thought struck me that, much as we who come back here to more or less every gathering see the School and Village regularly, there are many more Old Scholars who never, or very seldom, get back to this "Green and pleasant land"; and to whom our Magazine must mean even more than it does to us.

So I have decided to talk about the Sibford Village and some of the changes seen or unseen that have taken place from time to time, and how some of us are trying to help to improve the lot of those who live here, in the hope that it will at any rate be of interest to those unfortunate Old Scholars I have mentioned, when they read this.

To start with, let us take a quick look into the past. How old are these villages? Excavations at Swalcliffe recently show there were fortresses hereabouts long before the Romans came, and it is possible that these hilltop villages originated from those times. In William the Conqueror's days his surveyors inscribed in Domesday Book these facts:— that Henry de Ferriers was the chief landowner at Supforde and William, son of Corbucion, held land at Sibeford. A charter of 1216 mentions Thomas de Goher as a land owner here. Thus De Ferriers may have become Ferris and Goher—Gower.

About 1153 the Knights Templars obtained the Manor of Sibford Ferris and a chapel at Sibford Gower. These Templars owned land and a Mill (Temple Mill!), and it is recorded that they quarrelled with Cistercian Monks from Holwell Grange between Sibford and Swalcliffe.

Two hundred years later a priest was saying Mass three times a day at the Chapel in Sibford Gower, but it was in bad repair and all traces have long since disappeared.

The Sibfords were included in the parish of Swalcliffe until 1839 when the building of the present church was commenced and for that reason, unlike many villages, the parish records are not very old.

A cutting from the Oxford Herald of May 1839, recording the laying of the foundation stone of the Church, contains the following paragraph:

"I found the village the peaceful and old fashioned abode of Quakers, whose Meeting House had for ages been the only place of worship in the Townships and here the Gentle Sect seem to have retained a portion of their primitive character, which has been long lost or nearly so, amongst their regenerate sons, who get behind the counters in large towns, and who, in spite of their "queries" which they are obliged to answer have run into the vain ways of this vain world, using the language and almost the gay dress of others, whilst some of them too often mingling in political brawls till they scarcely merit the name of the "Peaceful Sect" any longer. Such are the worst of them, but here I saw them at their best."

The Village School as it now stands was built in 1866, but there was a school on the same site in 1623. In those days education was for the privileged who could afford to pay, yet here at Sibford the School was endowed, so that all the children of Sibford Gower could have a free education. Those from the Ferris had to pay a little. This endowment came, and still does, from "Sibford Gower Town Estate Charity". The present School is a Controlled School taking the children of the Sibfords and Epwell up to the age of eleven, and there are between 80 and 90 pupils on the roll. The buildings are to be completely re-organized and a large addition made so that by the next Gathering, we shall have at a cost of around £15,000 a new and modern School.

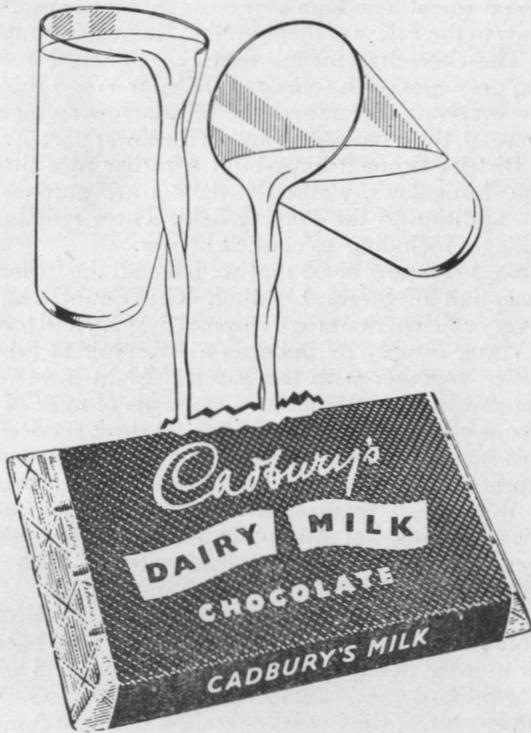

The origin of the Charity is not very clear, but it dates from around 1560 and consists of certain land, the profit from which is divided—one third to the Poor, one third for pious purposes and one third to the School for the maintenance of the School and Schoolmaster.

Under the Enclosure Acts (Sibford Gower is dated 1773 and the Ferris 1789) 206 acres at Sibford Heath was Enclosed and given to the Charity; and from land in the "Open Field" where the poor had gathered fire wood, 10 acres were enclosed and added to the Charity lands to be farmed and the profit used to buy fuel for "such poor people as do now and shall hereafter reside within the Township". This is today given as coal to widows and Old Age Pensioners in need.

For generations residents of these villages lived a life of toil, hardship and, compared with today, seclusion; getting a living from the land and by means of weaving the wool for which the Cotswolds have always been famous. One could find a tailor, baker, butcher, sadler, carpenter, in fact almost everything necessary for their daily needs, and a journey to Banbury was indeed an event long to be remembered. Thus we find the same family names recurring again and again, and no doubt everyone was related in one way or another.

But what of today? I suppose to those of you who come from year to year, things seem much the same. The Old Elm has lost one more branch, some face is missing, otherwise Sibford seems to stand still. If

Taste the cream

There's a glass-and-a-half of full cream milk in every

that is how it appears to you, how mistaken you are. To bring this out you must please forgive me if I quote more figures. First of all Houses—in the last 35 years some 66 new houses have been built, these are there for everyone to see. But there is another change not perhaps quite so evident from the outside; during that time, about a dozen houses have been lost through the joining together of 2 or 3 to make one larger house, this has not to any great extent altered the exterior. A further dozen or so old cottages have either been demolished or have closing orders on them. The high cost of maintenance and difficulty in obtaining straw in these days of the Combine Harvester, coupled with the shortage of Thatchers has meant that the thatched roofs are fast giving way to grey tiles or in some cases, Cedar Wood shingles.

I am sure everyone remembers the tall narrow cottages along the Hook Norton road, these have gone and in the lower part of the Orchard behind, the District Council have built a rather nice little Estate of 20 houses and bungalows, whilst the School are purchasing the top portion as an addition to the Playing field. There remain 220 houses in the two villages including 40 council houses.

We in Sibford can now boast that we have all the "Modern Cons", with the exception of Street Lighting. The Council have recently completed a very efficient Sewerage Disposal System, and have improved the existing Water Supply by building a Reservoir at Sibford Heath. These amenities, together with the Electric Light have resulted in a vast improvement in the internal arrangements of most of the houses, and today about 75 per cent of them have all three services connected. What has this meant? Firstly, owners have been able, many of them with the help of Grants, from the Local Authority, to bring the little cottages up to modern requirements, and thus, not only improve their hygienic standards, but also to lighten the labour of the housewife who no longer has to cart buckets of clean water in, or the dirty water out to empty on the garden or roadside, as in the past.

But, nice as this is, it has had one very pronounced effect on the chances of obtaining a little cottage to rent, for, as they become vacant, they are now in great demand from people from far and wide, and the population of Sibford now contains many new names. It is a fact that over 50 per cent. of the houses contain a different family from the one residing in them at the end of the war in 1945. Today 60 per cent of the houses are owner occupied and many of the remainder, like those owned by the School, are tied to a job.

It is interesting to note that in 1839 when, as I have said, the Church was built, the population was quoted as being—the Gower 507, the Ferris 247, total 754. By 1931 this had dropped to 437, but at the census of 1950 it had risen to 568 and is still rising. I am often asked what the chances are of obtaining a house or building site, by people who desire to come and settle amongst us. So you will see we have taken on a new lease of life. This new influx of personnel, by the way, is one of the reasons your local secretary has difficulty these days in finding beds for you, for they do not understand the meaning of "Old Scholars' Week End" like the old timers did.

There is a very fundamental change in the lives of the population, for they no longer rely on local shops or craftsmen for their needs. All the tradesmen have gone, except Inns the plumber, the Co-op which still functions and Wilfred Green's Grocery business at the Post Office, Sibford Ferris. There has, however, recently been opened a little Wool and Haberdashery shop down below the school near the Hook Norton turn, where I understand all things seen and unseen worn by the ladies of the community are available. Two young girls who had just visited this shop were heard discussing it outside and Number 1 said, "Isn't it smashing!" Whilst the other replied, "Yes, but what are they trying to do? Turn Sibford into a town!"

Our bakers now come from as far afield as Badsey in Worcestershire and Banbury, and the butchers also from Banbury and Hook Norton, whilst all the village jobbing builders have now closed down.

There is another great change and that is in the occupation of the residents. It is a fact that my Grandfather in his day employed more men on his farm than the total of agricultural workers employed on the farms in Sibford today. Excluding farmers and their sons, there are only seven left who work on the village Farms. The Aluminium Factory in Banbury, Ironstone and Cotswold Stone Quarries, and the County Highways Department, with a few working for the School, take most of our manual workers, whilst we have a wide selection of business and professional men living in our midst who like to get a little peace and quiet after a day in more hectic surroundings. Such is the change brought about by modern transport and economics.

The most recent change is evident in the Social life, the building of what I am sure everyone will agree is for a small place like Sibford a wonderful new Village Hall. (This cost just over £5,000 to build and equip and our balance sheet after all had been paid and it had been running for 12 months showed a balance in hand of around £350.) It has proved a great fillip to the existing clubs and new ones have sprung into activity. We have a Choral Group under Mr. Penman, a very popular Country Dance Society, two Badminton Clubs and an energetic Dramatic Society using the hall each week; and the Hall Committee find a great deal of difficulty fitting everyone in who wishes to use it. They themselves have a sub-committee, under the chairmanship of Leslie Baily, charged with arranging Cultural and Entertaining events outside the run of general village activities, and we have among others already had visits from such well-known people as Owen Brannigan, Chris Chataway, Edric Connor and Leslie Woodgate, whilst you who were here at the time will remember the excellent Arts and Crafts exhibition of Whitsun 1958, to which we had over one thousand visitors. Amongst the plans for the future is a proposed Local History Exhibition on similar lines planned for next year.

You will gather from all this that Sibford is moving, is changing, and, I hope, proving an interesting place in which to live, and it is with great pleasure that I am able to tell you that Hugh Maw and the Staff take a more and more active part in the life of the village. I know there is someone on the Committee of all these Societies I have mentioned who hails from the School.

One of the difficulties we find is to get the newcomers to take an interest in all these things, some do and they are worth their weight in gold, but others just use the place as a dormitory.

Not everyone wants to be a Councillor, but I can assure you that it is not the dull uninteresting activity it seems. There is a saying "One half of the world does not know how the other half lives"; if you had been around as I have, visiting applicants for council houses, you would know how true that is, some of the conditions under which children are being brought up, even today, in our Welfare State defy description and there is much to be done before Britain is a place for heroes to live in.

The apathy towards local Government in general is appalling. I wonder how many of you know the name even of your representative on your town, county or district council? Or who know that there is a Royal Commission sitting today, charged with the review of all county boundaries? It is possible that one morning you will wake up and find you are living in another county without having had to call in the removal people at all.

I must here tell you a true story—Chastleton, as you may know, is an Oxfordshire village that sticks like a peninsula into Gloucester. When a previous commission was reviewing boundaries it was suggested it be transferred to that County. A meeting was held in the Village Hall to discuss the matter, and, after much talk the Chairman was about to take a vote, when an old chap at the back took his pipe from his mouth and said—"Mr. Chairman, us don't want to be shued into Glorster, cause us knows the climate be far wuss than it be up here."

Mind you, if you take an active part in local government you must be prepared to be misunderstood, misquoted and, I'm afraid, at times disliked. I remember about 1947 in a debate on in which village the next lot of council houses should be built, I stated that there was nowhere for the young couples at Sibford to live and that they would be leaving; Sibford would become in time a place inhabited almost entirely by elderly people. In fact there was already an Old Age Pensioner living in 70 per cent of the houses. The Sunday Express on the following Sunday carried a short paragraph to the effect that in the village of Sibford Gower, Oxfordshire, 80 per cent of the population were Old Age Pensioners!

So I want to ask you all very earnestly to take an interest in what goes on around you. Find out why a thing is being done, don't just say "It's nothing to do with me". Believe me it is, the only real democratic government in this country today is that of the small local authorities and this appalling and "couldn't care less" attitude of many may, eventually, be the cause of these powers of local administration being usurped by the Central Government, where some little Hitler in an office in Whitehall, who has never even heard of the place he is dealing with, will be making the decisions, having devastating effects on the lives of ordinary people who will know nothing about it until it is too late.

To all Old Scholars I would say this, especially those who have just left School, don't be just content to live somewhere, help to make that place worth living in; join the societies and clubs and help to run them, don't just pay your membership subscription and think your responsibility ends there.

Spare a little of your life helping others and don't live like an oyster. You won't get any pay and often no thanks, but unless you have experienced the pleasure one gets from helping one's fellows over a stile you will never enjoy one of the greatest satisfactions life has to offer.

Those of us who are here this week-end, will know how hard the Officers and Committee work to make the weekend a success; but there are some, you know as well as I do, who come and have a good time, but who leave without putting anything back in the way of help in return. Don't wait to be asked—Volunteer!

LEWIS W. POULTON.

Old Scholars Abroad

From Margaret Smith: It was certainly wonderful to be back this summer, and I have a feeling that the next time I come it will be on a one-way ticket—however, circumstances alter cases, as they say, and one never knows. I remember the O.S. weekend as about the most restful part of my holiday, so you can guess what the rest was like! Mother and I went off to Paris on the Tuesday morning immediately following O.S., and had a wonderful time there, including a visit to the theatre, to see Marcel Marceau and his mime company—very handy for Mother, who speaks no French.

Work is pretty hectic at the moment, and my lunch-hour is nearly over, so I must close. All the best to you, and may the 1960 magazine be as good as all its predecessors.

From Richard Kissack—Unfortunately I shall be unable to be at the Reunion this year, but if my plans work out I hope to be able to make it in 1960.

Life here is very pleasant, though a bit isolated if you like the big cities. There is a club, all manner of sports facilities, two cinemas and a first class Little Theatre in Nkana Kitive, plus the other six towns of the copperbelt. The bush grows right up to the town limits and there is nothing but a few farms between towns.

My greetings to all Old Scholars especially those in the London Group.

From James Grubb. I see that it is a very long time indeed since I wrote to you, but I have not, however, been entirely out of touch with Sibford as I correspond frequently with Ian Ball, and have also written to and had letters from Miss Burgess and Mr. Reg Rowntree.

I hope to be married later this year. At the moment I am busily engaged on Saturdays in building my house. This is not as difficult for me (except financially), as it may sound, as I am a carpenter and building houses is my job. I have been fortunate in obtaining a section (plot) from my employers and have had their full co-operation. Houses over here are not built at all like those in England, For one thing the climate is definitely warmer. Timber is plentiful, and concrete very cheap to make in Christchurch. Houses are usually made with a wooden frame and then sheeted on the outside with either weatherboarding or a single line of bricks known as brick veneer. We are not really in the earthquake zone here, but none the less we do get tremors and all buildings have to be constructed to withstand them.

New Zealand is not like I had imagined. Yes there are great tracts of land, which are quite often unexplored and so far in their natural status. But a lot of New Zealand has been developed mainly into sheep, dairy, wheat and timber country. There are some big industrial undertakings, especially in the North Island. Please impress on everyone that we are not just an island off Australia. Do you know that Tangier, Naples, Warsaw, Helsinki and Reykjavik are closer to Birmingham than Wellington is to Sydney! The cars on the roads are mostly English makes, but there are a great many American vehicles especially in country districts. There are a great many roads which are just rough shingle or worse. Roads that are properly made up are called "tarsealed" roads. The 600 mile Picton-Bluff highway which runs the entire length of the South Island has just been completed. The roads on the whole are much faster, straighter and wider than those in the U.K. The only "super highway" is into Wellington. Import restrictions are now very severe, but there are still many things in the shops which are made in foreign countries. Almost all my tools are "Yankee" ones as these seem to be vastly superior to the British counterparts.

People in Christchurch often try to tell me that it is just like an English city. In some ways I am very glad to say that it is not. No, N.Z. is not like England, but then why should it be? There is a strong American as well as English influence in a great many things. Many of the words would be strange to you, and there is a pronounced "Kiwi" accent on most tongues.

My main hobby is Dramatic Art. This flourishes well all over New Zealand. Christchurch has many groups. The standard of some is very high. Although touring professional theatrical groups are expensive to see, we nevertheless get some quite famous artists. The Royal Ballet will soon be here, but if you want to get a season ticket (which is the only way to see Margot Fonteyne), then you must pay £9 10s. for a single four-performance ticket. This is of course exceptional.

My sister Barbara, who was nurse at Sibford from 1951 to 1953, has completed her training in psychiatric nursing and is now taking a general nursing course in preparation for higher things in the former type of nursing. She came to New Zealand in 1954.

From Vivian Lamb. As many of you know I came out here to New Zealand in 1952, not because I was dissatisfied with any aspect of life in England. In fact, I had a fine job close to home. New Zealand had always appealed to me probably because a friend out there sent me N.Z. stamps and told me of the way of life etc. However in November 1952, I embarked on the Immigrant ship "Captain Cook" at Glasgow and began the five weeks voyage to New Zealand—12,000 miles away. An ocean voyage is a great experience, once seasickness is over; and I thoroughly enjoyed the last four weeks of the trip! Once out here I was, together with others for this district, sent by bus from Wellington up the coast of the North Island to New Plymouth, a seaport with a population of about 20,000. This province of Taranaki centres around Mount Egmont and is one of the richest dairying areas in the world. The moderate climate enables grass to grow all the year round and stock does not have to be wintered and hand fed as in most other dairying countries.

My job is to visit a group of 25 farms each month and to record the milk weights and also test each sample collected for butterfat content. This is the basis upon which the New Zealand farmer is paid except for the Town Milk producers who are paid on gallonage as in England. All the farmers are very friendly and speak of England with affection. Many have visited over home or are intending to do so. British cars have a great market out here. I have an Austin A40 pick-up to carry my 10 cwt. of equipment around with me.

While I was single I used to stay one night at each farm but now that I am married I live in a central position and go home each night. My wife is New Zealand born and hopes to see England one day. We have a 5 month old son, John, who is great company for Hetty as I am away all day. He is well behaved and has just cut his second tooth. We have a nice little house with all mod. con. and there's always plenty to do round the garden when I get free time.

Most mornings I get up at 5 a.m. or soon after. Herds round here are anything up to 200 cows and a herd of 150 is as much as one Herd Recorder can manage on his or her own. I have one of 180 and have to have help to carry the buckets of milk. However it's a good open-air job and well paid, although the hours are tedious.

Before our marriage I visited England by air as I had only 2 months holiday at my disposal. Counting three and a half days each way for travelling I spent six weeks in England and one in Canada. While at home I renewed acquaintances and took my parents for their first flight, across the Irish sea to visit relations near Belfast. In mid-July I left England and crossed the Atlantic overnight. My brother is in Canada and he met me at Toronto airport. He lives 70 miles away, but distances mean nothing with wide roads and powerful cars. Richard and his Canadian born wife and little boy entertained me for a week and I visited many interesting places with them. Roadside tables are a feature of Canadian roads and add greatly to the enjoyment of meals en route as you can imagine.

A week of Canadian summer soon went and I came on via San Francisco and Honolulu to New Zealand it was mid-winter here. The journey was mostly by Super Constellation aircraft, and was very memorable. Air travel can be very exacting however, no doubt because of the great changes of climate within hours. However the service on the main route aircraft leaves nothing to be desired and the journey is made as pleasant as possible.

It is very hard to condense an account of one's doings over six years, but I hope it will be of interest to some of you. Actually, until I saw that you wished for news of OS abroad I had not envisaged writing at such length.

From Gertrude Ostler. I flew out here at the end of May to be Vice-Principal in this Co-educational teachers' training college. There are two women and twelve men on the staff, and a hundred and twenty nine men and fifty-four women students.

The College had been without a Vice-Principal for one term and the Principal was due for leave so I flew out three days after a successful medical examination. Last term I was in charge of the College, the only white person (or European as the Africans call us), in the compound. This term another Englishman has joined us and he and his wife are my neighbours.

It surprised me to find my name in Hugh Maw's notebook. I introduced myself to him as an OS of rather ancient vintage, I hardly expected to find myself as a pioneer! However, I think I am the only woman Vice-Principal of a Co-educational Training College in Ghana, so I may be entitled to the title now. Women teachers here get equal pay, but they are seldom treated as equals by their men colleagues.

I still hear from Freda Scott (née Bax), and at times from Phyllis Farr, who has been on the Committee for Quarterly Meeting.

At the beginning of the year I met Anne Rado (née Taylor) and saw her young son who appeared to be thriving in spite of the climate.

I have spent part of this evening enjoying the magazine. We always like to get news from England.

- DENNIS BUTLER visited the School with his family at Easter for the first time for many years.
- SUSAN SMITH has completed her Orthopaedic training at the Woodlands Hospital Birmingham and the Radcliffe, Oxford. She has decided to give up nursing and is taking training as a telephonist at Oxford.
- JENNIFER SUMPTION has joined Friends and started her course in Occupational Therapy. She has been learning German and is at present helping with a German family in Germany.
- TERRY ROWNTREE is having great success in competitive cycling locally.
- PETER RANN has applied to join the R.A.F.
- 23673618 SIG. FARMER P., Aden Protectorate Levies, Signal Squadron, B.F.P.O. 69, in a lonely outpost and amongst the intense heat, dust and insects would welcome news and letters from other Old Scholars.
- PETER JONES married Thelma Payne, Secretary at Sibford, in August.
- BRIGIT MORIARTY visited the School after her night duty and then had a holiday touring Europe with her parents.
- PATRICK FLINN whose hobby is sailing, together with the local Old Scholars group, successfully organized a barbecue and cricket match for this year's leavers and staff spoilt only by the one day's rain this summer!

ANGELA WALKER is working as a secretary for the Borough Treasurer's Department in Kettering.

SAM MILLWARD has been granted an agricultural award for further training, and R. N. WALL a similar one for Essex.

MARGARET WAGNER, enjoying her training for infants, is spending six weeks at the Royal Free Hospital, Hampstead, in December. She was planning to holiday with JACKY BURSTON training at the Bristol Royal Infirmary.

Reflections on the Norwegian study-work camp

Nedre Sandnes Farm, when completed, will house school-leavers too backward to assume citizenship. Here they will keep hens, two cows and a horse, will learn to weave and continue to study. If the first two years are a success State aid will be available.

Our work was clearing away old timbers and helping to build and paint the school house. We did this in the mornings and then were free to use what energy remained or what we could regain in our short afternoon rest, to study and discuss "Attitudes to Life in a Divided World".

Some of the arranged speakers were unable to attend so the English group, for part of the time, led a series of discussions on Quakerism.

Under the title "Man, War and Peace", we were given by Ulf Christensen a mass of data on the effectiveness of non-violence and the ineffectiveness of violence; with this evidence he hopes to convince the military leaders that it would be expedient for them to disarm and train themselves in psychological warfare.

This view found little support in the following discussions on Quakerism where, undoubtedly, the right way seemed to seek the most ethical means as revealed by conscience, of resolving conflict even if the observed results were apparently ineffective.

Sigrid and Diderich Lund talked of their work with the Indian fishermen under the Norwegian technical development scheme, and about the redistribution of world wealth.

Our camp leaders, Turid and Egil Hovdenak, spoke on race discrimination and relief work in Algeria. It was inspiring to hear how Egil, after working in Algeria with S.C.I., had returned there alone the following year to do medical work in the most squalid communities.

Wilhelm Aarek's lecture showed how modern science and psychology are filling the gap between, religious belief in determining behaviour, and acting as a result of observing facts. This brought us back to Ulf's thesis with greater understanding on both sides.

There arose a strong need among Norwegian Friends to consider our National Conference subject, "What think ye of Christ?", and this proved one of our most valuable sessions.

Meeting Oslo Friends after the camp was the obvious conclusion and I hope will have laid the foundation for a future gathering of Norwegian Young Friends.

We left deeply thankful for this gathering made possible by Norway Yearly Meeting to whom we extend our heartfelt thanks.

PHILIP MORRIS.

Paul McDowell

Paul McDowell, who was at Sibford from 1948-53, was killed in a motor cycle accident, in the early hours of Sunday, 10th January, 1960.

Those of us who knew Paul, or Jack as he was more affectionately known, will, I am quite sure, miss his cheerful approach to life, and his great sense of fun which infected all those who came into contact with him.

MICHAEL ANGERSON.

Robert D. Roy of Streetly, Worcester, who was at Sibford from 1930-35, died last year.

CONSTITUTION OF THE SOSA

The Association shall have for its objects :

- (a) The continuance of the interest of former scholars in Sibford School and its work.
- (b) The cementing of schoolday friendships.
- (c) The provision of assistance to the school whenever possible, and
- (d) The encouragement of a spirit of loyalty among present scholars.

Subject to the rules of the Association membership of the Association shall be open to the following :

- (1) Old Scholars of Sibford School, (2) past and present members of the staff, (3) husbands and wives of Old Scholars, (4) members of the School Committee, (5) other relatives of Old Scholars interested in the school, and (6) honorary members.

RULES OF THE SOSA

(1) There shall be an annual reunion of members held at Sibford at Whitsuntide, or at such other time and place as may be found convenient. During this reunion the Annual General Meeting of the Association shall be held, and the decisions of this meeting shall be duly recorded.

(2) The executive of the Association shall consist of the President, secretary, treasurer, and other necessary officers. The President shall be elected annually at the Annual General Meeting. The secretary, treasurer, and other officers, shall be elected for a three year period at an Annual General Meeting. Should a vacancy occur in any office during that period, the committee shall have power to fill the vacancy, and the person appointed shall hold office until the next triennial election. All nominations for secretary, treasurer and other officers shall be in writing, signed by the proposer, seconder, and by the nominee, and shall be handed to the secretary twelve hours before the Annual General Meeting.

(3) The committee of the Association shall consist of all the officers ex-officio, and six members who shall be elected for three years, with power to co-opt up to six others. Two of the elected members shall retire each year, and shall not be eligible for re-election for the ensuing year. Ten shall form a quorum.

(4) Notice of the annual reunions shall be sent to all members resident in the United Kingdom. The committee shall have full control of all arrangements at these reunions, with power to make such regulations as they may deem to be expedient. For the purpose of arranging accommodation at Sibford for annual reunions, one or more Resident Officers may be appointed.

(5) Wherever the number of members resident in any one locality warrants the course, a local branch may be formed. A Branch Secretary shall be elected at the Annual General Meeting or by a representative meeting of the local group, and shall have power to arrange local reunions, and other events.

(6) A printed magazine entitled Sibford shall be published annually by the Association and sent to all members whose addresses are known. Members with two years' subscriptions in arrears shall have their Magazines despatched COD, and in addition to the charge for the two years' subscriptions in arrears there shall be added such a sum as, in the opinion of the committee, will cover the additional cost of sending the magazine COD. Members whose subscriptions are three years in arrears shall not receive a Magazine until their subscriptions are paid. The Membership Secretary shall send to each such member a notice reminding them of the provisions of this Rule and of Rule 9.

(7) Subscriptions to the Association shall be as follows :

- (a) Scholars leaving school, for the year in which they leave and the following year, no subscription.
- (b) Life membership, £10 10s.
- (c) All other members, a minimum of 10s. per year.

(8) The annual subscription is due on January 1st for the ensuing year. The accounts of the Association shall be made up to December 31st of each year.

(9) Any member whose subscriptions are in arrear for three years, and who after due reminder of the fact shall not make the necessary payment, may have his or her name removed from the list of members. The committee shall also have the power to remove the name of any member whose address is not known, or for any reason which the committee may decide to be good and sufficient, and such membership shall thereupon cease.

(10) When the services of any person to the school or Association have been of material assistance or of any exceptional character, the Annual General Meeting shall have power to appoint such person an honorary life member of the Association.

(11) Notice of any alteration or addition to be proposed in the constitution or rules of the Association shall be given to the secretary at least 14 days before the Annual General Meeting. Nevertheless, the Annual General Meeting shall have full power to deal with any proposition, alteration or suggestion affecting the Association without such notice, or any notice, if the Meeting so decides by a two-thirds majority.
